Search at Sea Legitimate, Search in Port an Absurdity and a Crime—Even Our Diplomats in Europe are Described as Corrupted by the Taint of "Unneutralism." Gerard a Particularly Prominent Offender.

BY HARRY CARR.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 8.—Secretary Lansing's note to Great Britain is only the first gust of a storm. When Congress convenes next month, an outraged protest will be heard from the Southern cotton men and the Chicago meat packers. It looks as though Dr. Wilson were trying to back fire against the political conflagration.

Having seen the British blockade at close range, I know something of its ruthless disregard for neutral rights.

There are several severe indictments that might be brought against it, but the chief one is that the British maintain the right of search in port instead of the admitted right of search at sea. It is absolutely astounding that the neutral nations of the world have stood for this. When I went to the war this summer, I had passage on the Danish steamer Frederick VIII. We were holding a course to the north of the Orkney islands for the purpose of avoiding the dangers of the submarine zone. One day the British steamer Arabella hove in sight and forced our steamer to alter its course for about 250 miles out of its way. We were forced to go right into a zone of waters admittedly frequented by submarines and in which the British stated frankly there were submarines then sailing.

What seemed to me the most outrageous feature of the

COMMENT ON THE SITUATION.

The prediction made in these commentaries that the Wilson-Lansing note of protest against the British blockade and interference with American shipping contained not one grammatical error has been verified. Whatever errors are contained therein are errors of transmission by telegraph operators and of typography by linotype operators. Thus The Times' Pythia is more exact than Madame de Thebes. She predicted the death of the Kaiser a year ago. He is still alive. Otherwise the war is proceeding as usual. There are intimations that Lord Kitchener is en route to pacify India rather than to view the Suez Canal defenses.

Defections from the Villa ranks. Three thousand Zapatistas have surrendered in the south. It begins to look as if the revolutions and insurrections of Mexico have played out.

GERMAN CONSULATE IS RAIDED BY RIOTING VILLA TROOPS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.] (30)

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Nov. 9.—A mob composed of unpaid Villa soldiers, civilians and women, raided the German consulate in Chihuahua, Mexico, burned the market house and looted the headquarters of the confiscation agency Friday, according to a delayed message received here today from Corral, near Chihuahua. A forced loan of $100,000 Mexican gold, was levied on the merchants and wealthy residents in order to obtain money with which to pay the rioting troops, the message stated.

The rioting is said to have started when the soldiers made a demand for their pay upon the officers of the Chihuahua garrison. Having no money the commander attempted to put them off by promising them money later. The soldiers, joined by a mob of men and women, then went to the market house, set fire to it, after taking out quantities of food and proceeded to the German consulate where silver and lead bullion belonging to the Chihuahua Mining Company is said to have been seized.

The confiscation agency then was visited but nothing of value was found there. The forced loan, it is said, raised sufficient money to pay off the troops and the mob then dispersed.

ENGLAND SAYS AMERICANS BUILD NAVY ON WAR PROFITS.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.] (30)

LONDON, Nov. 9 (2:57 a.m.)—The fullest details of the new American naval plan yet published on this side of the ocean are given in the morning's issue of the Daily Telegraph, which in commenting on them says that "among the things the British fleet has done is to convince the people of the United States that their country requires a large navy."

"We have," the Daily Telegraph adds, "the spectacle of the great democracy in the world, although separated from Europe by more than three thousand miles, in such a hurry for more men of war that it has decided not even to wait for the lessons on constructions and armament which the war may teach. Moreover, this decision has been reached by a party which came into power in opposition to the Rooseveltian policy of the "big stick" and pledged itself to economy in armaments.

"The hostilities in Europe have tempered the extreme pacificism of Americans. Although already possessing a navy held by many to be second in the world, they are determined to have a still greater one. The new American ships of the line will cost over £3,500,000 ($17,500,000 each, the largest sum Great Britain ever spent on a single ship is about £2,000,000 ($10,000,000.)

"The time is not far distant when the American outlay on sea power will be high as England's was on the outbreak of the war, but it goes without saying that the Americans can well afford it—in the sense that they are only investing a portion of the profits they are making out of the war."

GREEK QUEEN TURNS TIDE TO KAISER.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.] (30)

LONDON, Nov. 9 (3:25 a.m.)—The Morning Post today publishes a letter from "a well informed correspondent" in Athens calling attention to the recent success of the Greek pro-German party, "thanks to the power of the political influence, radiating from the Queen's entourage."

The correspondent says that already eleven of the sixteen Athens daily newspapers have been won over by the German interests plus at least half of the provincial newspapers.

"The propaganda," the correspondent adds, "thus has succeeded in poisoning a large section of the public opinion, not indeed, in favor of Germany or in favor of the Entente powers, but primarily against the idea of Greece going to war.

PURCHASES BY GERMANS INDICATIVE OF PEACE.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 8.—The presence in Holland of larger numbers of Germans than have been seen for a long time past is causing much curious speculation. The Germans are buying very large quantities of goods, both eatables and other merchandise, but most of such commodities as are not allowed by the Dutch government to be exported. The German buyers seem to show no inclination as hitherto to try to get purchases over the frontier. They instead are making arrangements for the goods to remain in Dutch warehouses for the time being. Many Netherlanders regard these proceedings as indicating the approach of some sort of an armistice during which the export problems might be temporarily removed. Others even suggest the enterprise may mean that peace is looked for and that preparations already are being made to cope with the tremendous rush to buy foodstuffs which would in such an event arise.

In any case, the circumstances are unusual and the Dutch are convinced that something is in the wind. Other and more sinister deductions are possible.

FRENCH ATLANTIC LINER AFIRE IN MID OCEAN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The French line steamship Rochambeau, two days out of New York for Bordeaux, which reported by wireless today that there was a fire in her coal bunkers, presumably was steaming tonight for Halifax, the nearest port. Her exact position was not given in the single wireless message that brought the news of her plight to land, but it was calculated that she would make Halifax some time late tonight or early tomorrow.

Aboard the menaced steamer are approximately 650 persons—421 passengers and a crew of about 230—and a large cargo of war supplies, including 2541 cases of cartridges and 136 bales of cotton.

The fire which turned the vessel from her course toward the northern port of Halifax is deep in the hold, in the bunkers where is placed the reserve supply of coal. Its exact location, according to the wireless message, is amidships. This message said that the vesel was in no danger and from its tone the French line officials inferred that the situation was not a serious one.

"We are not alarmed," said Fauget, general agent of the line. "Bunker fires are not uncommon, nor are they generally very serious, as they are away from the cargo space."

Only one wireless message had been received from the steamer when the French line offices closed at the usual hour tonight. This was from Capt. Juham and reached the offices here about 2.30 p.m. It read:

"Fire in No. 5 reserve coal bunker. Fighting fire and have turned to Halifax. Hope to put it out. No danger at all."

The Rochambeau left New York Saturday afternoon. It was estimated that she had sailed 600 miles when the wireless message was received today. This would still keep her within the ocean lane traveled by the big trans-Atlantic liners and despite the silence over the sea, enforced by admiralty censors, there is reason to believe that at least three ships are within close steaming distance available in emergency.

Lifeboats and life rafts for all aboard and to spare, were on the Rochambeau when she sailed, according to the line's officials. It was estimated that life saving accommodations were aboard for 1500 persons, more than twice as many as sailed. In addition, the steamer is equipped with the usual fire-fighting apparatus required in the case of ocean liners.

The big cargo which weighted the steamer low in the water, consisted chiefly of iron and steel machinery, copper and steel wire, brass rods, empty shells and guns. So far as could be learned tonight, 2541 cases of cartridges were the only explosives aboard.

REFLECTIONS.

Maritime circles wondered today if the accident was another of the long list attributed to the activities of bomb carriers and placers. Within the last few days the steamer Rio la Mere, from New York to Queenstown, with sugar, caught fire at sea and put into Halifax with fire in her hold. Her captain attributed the fire to a bomb hidden in a sugar bag.

The list of steamers sailing from New York to Europe, upon which bombs were found and in some cases explosions occurred, and their sailing dates include the following:

Touraine, March 6; Devon City, April 27; Lord Erne, April 29; Crossington Court, April 29; Samland, May 1; Lord Downshire, May 1; Kirkoswald, May 2; Strathtay, May 8; Bankdale, May 8; Minnehaha, July 9; Craigside, July 24; Athinai, September 8; Sant' Anna, September 13.

FIRST TRAIN ON ALASKAN RAILWAY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SEWARD (Alaska) Nov. 8.—The first train over the government's Alaskan railroad ran through today between Seward and Mile Twenty Nine, carrying passengers, mail and freight destined to the Iditarod. From Mile Twenty Nine the travelers will go into the interior by dog team. The portion of the road placed in operation today was part of the line of the old Alaska Central, taken over by the government and rehabilitated.

FIND NEW WAY INTO RUMANIA.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Nov. 8, 3 p.m.—In a dispatch from Copenhagen, the Exchange Telegraph Company says the Rumanian government has sent a railway commission to Petrograd to discuss the possibility of opening a new route for transportation of supplies from England to Rumania. It is proposed to ship goods by way of Scandinavia and Russia, inasmuch as the usual route through Saloniki and Nish is now unavailable on account of the capture of the railroad by the Germans.

News for Home and Foreign Consumption Doctored in London in an Optimistic Sense, According to Viscount Milner—Nation Confronted with Extreme Peril, Peers are Informed—John Bull as Self-critic.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Nov. 8, 8:30 p.m.—The debate on the conduct of the war and the censorship was resumed in the House of Lords late today. Earl Loreburn, former High Chancellor, brought up the subject, declaring that he took this action owing to his belief that the Marquis of Lansdowne, the Minister without portfolio, had not made adequate reply to the arguments of Viscount Morley.

Earl Loreburn spoke of what he termed "the misadventures" of the Antwerp expedition, the loss of Rear-Admiral Sir Christopher Cradock's squadron, the Dardanelles operations, and the Balkan expedition. The speaker said he had been told two months ago that fifteen million men had been killed or disabled for life and that multitudes had been added to this number since and that if the conflict continued indefinitely "revolution or anarchy" might follow in Europe.

Earl Loreburn, who was one of the Radical stalwarts who criticised the South African war, today found himself supported by Viscount Milner, former High Commissioner for South Africa, who was one of those largely responsible for the South African war.

Viscount Milner, however, largely confined himself to a criticism of the censorship. He declared that the news had been "doctored" in an optimistic sense, and also denounced the government for not going sooner to the assistance of Servia.

Baron Courtney of Penwith, well known as a peace advocate, followed Viscount Milner. He said the government should show itself ready to accept any suggestions which would end the war, concluding, however, that the Germans must agree to evacuate Belgium and France and that no indemnity should be demanded of Great Britain.

Earl Curzon of Kedleston, Lord Privy Seal, who replied for the government, defended both the coalition Cabinet and its Liberal predecessor. He reminded the critics of the government that experts did not always agree. He announced that the government was considering whether arrangements could not be made for creating closer contact between the press and the fighting forces.

Earl Loreburn, in addition to his other utterances, asked whether the landing at Saloniki had been made with the approval of the naval and military authorities of the Entente allies, whether they were satisfied with the supplies of men and money and if the communication had been properly safeguarded. He asked these questions, he said, because there was an uneasy feeling that there had not been sufficient expert supervision. The government, he declared, should resolve not to hold out expectations to a nation which was confronted with extreme peril, unless they were sure they would be able to make good with a timely and sufficient force. In saying that he had been informed that fifteen million already had been killed or disabled in the war, Earl Loreburn added that this was what was meant by a war of attrition and that while the war continued the government should do their best to prevent irreparable mistakes. No scheme should be attempted, he said, without the

GOOD RAIN GENERAL IN NORTHERN CALIFORNIA.

Heavy Downpour is Reported in Many Sections, but in Only a Few Instances is Any Damage Done — Rice and Bean Growers, Ignoring Warnings, Suffer Small Losses in Yuba and Sutter Counties.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 8.—The rainfall came with a swish and a swash in Northern California today. From only one section was there a report of any damage. This was among the rice and bean crops of Yuba county. A Marysville dispatch states that damage amounting to several thousand dollars was caused by the storm. The heaviest sufferers were the rice men who had large quantities of rice stacked ready to be taken to the warehouse when the rain suddenly descended. Most of the beans, on the other hand, had been harvested.

Whatever the extent of the damage was, it is reported that it resulted only in scattered places in Yuba and Sutter counties. Experienced bean growers and rice men declared that it was the growers' own fault if they incurred losses on account of the rain, claiming that they had ample time to harvest.

STARTS AT RED BLUFF.

The rain hit Red Bluff first of the Coast points and kept going longer and was more consistently wet throughout the day. The result was that Red Bluff registered a fall for the twenty-four hours of 1.20 inches. San Francisco's data on the day reads .39 of an inch.

The whole of Northern California had a healthy downpour and a good drenching. The agricultural attitude toward the storm throughout practically all of the sections was expressed in a paen of praise conveyed over the telegraph wires.

From Fresno: Rain began falling at 7:15 tonight in the central section of the State. Rain was badly needed, but does not come too late to benefit the crops, which will now be in good condition.

From Sacramento: The first general rainfall of the season continued in a steady downpour throughout the valley for hours today. Fruit and produce men believe little or no damage can result to crops in the Sacramento Valley, owing to the long dry spell.

From Stockton: The season's first rain came today and will put the ground in condition for fall plowing. Many ranchers had begun to fear that this would be a dry year. With the grape season over, practically no damage resulted.

These three cities are centers of vast districts. And then there was Dobbins, where it snowed. Dobbins, twenty miles north of Marysville in the Sierra foothills, was visited by a snowfall which lasted several hours and covered the town and hillsides for miles around with a white mantle. It was the earliest snowfall ever recorded in the foothills of this county. Dobbins seldom witnesses a snowfall at any season of the year.

How Great Britain Grabs Our Trade—U.S. Officials Showing Some Concer

Note.

DIPLOMATIC BACKING FOR AMERICAN CLAIMS.

Export Cargoes to Germany or Elsewhere Now Held Immune from Detention.

Secretary of State will do All He Can to Satisfy the Shippers Whose Goods are Delayed or Seized by the English—No Danger of War so Long as the Bryan Treaties Remain Operative.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—President Wilson and Secretary Lansing today read American and British press comment on the latest note sent by the United States to Great Britain and awaited the effect of the document upon British treatment of neutral overseas trade.

So far as American shippers are concerned, however, the dispatch of the note marks a turning point of vast importance, for henceforth the United States is to consider the British blockade as ineffective and inoperative and all cargoes of noncontraband goods destined for Germany or through neutral countries to the enemies of Great Britain will be viewed by this government as immune from detention. Claims presented by Americans for detentions or seizures of such goods will be supported by the diplomatic machinery of the United States to the fullest extent.

Speculation in official quarters today as to what Great Britain's course would be was varied. Some officials pointed out that if Great Britain abandoned all pretense of blockade and applied the laws of contraband, the forthcoming American note on the propriety of including various articles in the contraband list would be especially pertinent to the controversy. On the other hand, if the blockade is made legal so far as German coasts are concerned, the American government will continue to insist that legitimate trade with the neutral countries must not be interfered with.

BRITISH GRAB OUR TRADE.

What American officials express particular concern about in connection with the alleged illegal practices of Great Britain is the large trade they claim Great Britain herself is carrying on with neutral ports from which American exporters are barred. It is this feature of the situation which officials regard as most serious and indefensible. They say if Great Britain held her own shippers to a normal trade with neutral countries, the application of rigid measures to American traders might be less offensive, though the aspects of law would not be affected.

In allied diplomatic quarters here the note was not commented upon officially, but uniformity of view was noticeable. The British opinion as reflected in official quarters was that the United States was figuring on technical grounds and failed to take into consideration the altered circumstances of the present war and the enlarged facilities for rapid communication by rail between Dutch and Danish ports, for example, and German cities. French and Russian officials pointed out that their governments were in sympathy with the attitude of their ally, Great Britain, and that while the British Foreign Office was conducting the negotiations, this did not mean their governments were any the less interested.

BRYAN PEACE TREATIES.

Among all of the allied diplomats the view prevailed that the controversy would not become acute, it being pointed out that even if a deadlock was reached in the negotiations, the Bryan peace treaties still were available for a year's investigation of the points in dispute. These pacts have been ratified between the United States and all of the allies.

In German quarters the arguments in the American note were commended as sound and justified by international law. German officials, however, said they were much more interested in what measures the United States would take to obtain acquiescence to its expressed views.

In view of the length of the note, an answer from Great Britain is not expected for at least a month.

Strictures.

"UNCANDID, UNGENEROUS, UNFAIR"—WILSON'S NOTE.

One of England's Best Known Writers in Maritime Law Thinks Very Ill of the Protest Against Alleged Blockade — But then He Also Admits that the Foreign Office has Invited Trouble.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Nov. 8, 7 p.m.—Thomas Gibson Bowles, one of England's best-known writers in maritime law, speaking today with reference to the American note, said that in many respects he regarded it as "uncandid, ungenerous and unfair."

He was equally severe in his strictures on the British Foreign Office, which he declared "had invited and propounded new rules of sea warefare resting on new principles, without warrant either from the recognized law of nations or from international instruments."

The contention of the United States that Great Britain has not established an effective blockade he regarded as just and this contention alone he found worthy of consideration in the note, with the exception of the complaint respecting detained ships subsequently released, as the innocent were forced to bear the expense of detention. This, Mr. Bowles said, was unjust, though he thought the matter a small one as compared with the greater issues involved.

"I do hold," he said, "that in the order in council, especially in the suggestion that it establishes an effective blockade, Sir Edward Grey has gone wrong; that he has undertaken to harass neutrals by methods in a way not sanctioned by the law of nations. So far, I agree with the note. Nevertheless, the note itself is in many respects ungenerous, unfair, uncandid and the United States must remember that we are fighting for our lives and the liberty of the world, and that this is not a time for quibbling."

Relative to the protest against ships being seized and taken into port merely on suspicion, Mr. Bowles argues that it is ridiculous to think that they can be effectively examined at sea, adding:

"The suggestions that vessels should not be stopped on bare suspicion is nonsensible. There can be only bare suspicion when the vessel is met, and only bare suspicion even after she has been visited and her papers, her officers and her crew examined. On no other ground save bare suspicion is a murderer ever arrested; nor is he held guilty until the court has so pronounced.

"To say, as the note does, that during the American Civil War there were no instances when vessels were taken into port prior to prize court proceedings, is to state what is at once untrue and actually impossible. What else was it but conjectural suspicion that, during the Civil War, the Springbok was brought in and the case submitted to a prize court? It is the court and the court alone that hangs a murderer, or confiscates a cargo, or condemns a ship."

SAYS AMERICA IS VERY MILD.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

THE HAGUE (via London) Nov. 8.—Commenting on the American note to Great Britain, the Nieuwe Courant, the leading newspaper of The Hague, says:

"If the extracts of the American note reaching Holland give a correct rendering of the Washington government's intentions, America has taken up in a very mild way the task of acting as the champion of the rights of neutral nations."

Help Needed.

ASK AMERICANS TO AID IN THE BELGIAN RELIEF.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—At the request of Herbert C. Hoover, chairman of the Commission for Relief in Belgium, President Wilson has asked a number of prominent Americans to co-operate in the work of the commission in the United States. Those asked by the President are Otto T. Bannard, S. R. Bertron, Herbert S. Eldridge, A. J. Hamphill, Melville E. Stone, Oscar S. Straus and John Beaver White. In his letter of invitation the President said:

"Mr. Hoover, the chairman of the Commission for Relief in Belgium, has approached me with regard to difficulties which have arisen in the conduct of that great humanitarian work, in which he feels he needs the support of an enlarged committee of gentlemen of large experience to co-operate with him in settling and conducting the administration of the branch of the committee in the United States.

"I am so much impressed with the importance of this institution, on which the lives of so many people are dependent, that I venture to say to you that I would personally be very much gratified if you could see your way clear to join such a committee."

The committee has been informed that the supply of clothing among the poorer classes in Belgium will be exhausted by Christmas. They will shortly make an appeal to the people of the United States for clothing for the destitute in Belgium and Northern France, who now number between 3,000,000 and 4,000,000.

Mr. Hoover will return to Europe tomorrow.

WHITLOCK TO SAIL ON THE RYNDAM.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

THE HAGUE, Nov. 8 (via London.)—Brand Whitlock, American Minister to Belgium, who arrived at The Hague yesterday on his way to the United States on leave of absence, will go to Rotterdam tomorrow whence he will sail for New York on the steamship Ryndam. Mr. Whitlock said his departure from Belgium was in no way connected with his efforts to delay the execution of Miss Edith Cavell or with any political question.

"I was advised by my physician two months ago that rest was imperative," said Mr. Whitlock. "I am now taking a portion of the leave of absence to which I am entitled under the regulations, after fifteen months of unbroken labor.

"I expect to spend a few weeks at my home in America and return to Brussels at the end of December. My journey has no political significance whatever."

Mr. Whitlock, who was accompanied by Mrs. Whitlock, made the trip from Brussels to Rotterdam and The Hague by automobile.

Mr. Whitlock looked tired. He declined to discuss the situation in Belgium or any of the incidents that have occurred there. He paid a visit to Dr. Henry Van Dyke, the American Minister at the legation here, and spent the remainder of the day making calls.

GERMANS ARE FRIENDLY.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Secretary Lansing announced today that the German military authorities in Belgium had expressed to American Minister Brand Whitlock their regrets that published reports should have made it appear that he was leaving Belgium as a result of objections from the German government.

Minister Whitlock was assured that the German authorities regretted his departure.

Secretary Lansing added that no official communications of any sort had passed between the Berlin and Washington governments respecting Mr. Whitlock's status. Mr. Whitlock will sail from Amsterdam on Wednesday of this week for a vacation, due to ill health.

CENTRAL BAPTIST CALLS GOODFIELD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

OTTAWA (Ont.) Nov. 8.—Rev. B. Goodfield, who for the past four years has been the pastor of the First Baptist Church here, has received a call to the Central Baptist Church, Los Angeles. His congregation is very reluctant about letting him go, while Rev. Mr. Goodfield says that he had become so attached to Ottawa since coming here that he would not like leaving.

The charge at Los Angeles, however, offers greater possibilities and a much larger field of work and he may decide to go. Meanwhile special efforts will be made by his congregation to have him remain here. Rev. Mr. Goodfield is most popular with the congregation of the First Baptist Church, as well as the general public of the city. He is a clever speaker and a possessor of good, sane views and his removal from Ottawa would be greatly regretted.

Horrors of War.

ARMENIAN REFUGEES FALL PREY TO CHOLERA.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Cholera has added its terrors to the burdens of Armenian refugees who fled the Tigris and Euphrates valleys to Tabriz, according to meager advices received here today by the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions. One hundred a day is now the average mortality from the scourge in Tabriz alone, the advices state.

Urumiah, the recent fighting ground of Kurds and native Christians, also is afflicted, the board announced. Forty deaths have occurred there. All the deaths, both in Tabriz and Urumiah, have occurred among the natives. The missionaries stationed at both places are relieving the sick as best they can with inadequate facilities.

Tiflis, Russia, is similarly in the grip of an epidemic which has already caused 700 deaths. It is thought likely that these deaths were due to cholera also, although the nature of the disease is not designated in advices.

Germans Capture Krusevac, French Occupy Kosjak.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, Nov. 8, 8:15 p.m.—In a statement to a correspondent of the Temps at the small town of Rachka, in which the Serbian government is ordered temporarily, Premier Pachitch said:

"The hopes and moral forces of the entire Serbian people and army remain undisturbed, notwithstanding the present aspect as a result of the Austro-German and Bulgarian invasions. Our troops, fighting for a month, our enemies have not attained the purpose they are seeking. German success has not yet been marked.

"Army headquarters, the government and the people are persuaded that as soon as allied troops arrive in sufficient numbers and begin action success will be rapid and constant. Moreover, we are convinced that this success will mark the beginning of the end of the general war."

GERMANS IN KRUSEVAC.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

BERLIN, Nov. 8 (via London, 4 p.m.)—The Serbian town of Krusevac, on the railroad about fifty miles northwest of Nish, has been occupied by German troops, according to today's official statement given out by the army headquarters staff.

"Army headquarters staff. The statement dealing with operations in the Balkans says:

"Austro-Hungarian troops reached Ivanjica (twenty-seven miles southeast of Krallevo) and Ljonac, seven kilometers north of Ivan. German troops are attacking on the heights south of Krallevo. Between Krallevo and Krusevac Western Morava has been crossed at several points.

"Krusevac was occupied during the night of November 6. More than 2000 wounded Serbians were made prisoners. More than 1500 wounded were found in the hospitals. The booty so far as ascertained consisted of ten cannon, large quantities of munitions and war materials and important medical supplies.

"In the valley of the southern Morava we have passed through Prasskovce."

A FRENCH SUCCESS.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, Nov. 8, 5 a.m.—French troops have occupied Kosjak and Babuna Heights, which command Pietvar Pass, through which runs the Perlepe-Kavadar road, and are expected to effect a junction soon with the Serbians occupying the northwestern slope of the Babuna range, says a Monastir dispatch to the Matin.

LONDON REVIEW OF OPERATIONS.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, Nov. 8, 10:40 p.m.—The Austro-Germans have succeeded in crossing the Morava River in Serbia and Gen. Von Gallwitz has occupied Krusevac, one of Serbia's largest towns, about thirty miles due northwest of Nish. The fall of Krusevac means that the branch railway line to Ushitze, near the Bosnian frontier, has been broken by the invaders close to the point where it leaves the main Belgrade-Nish-Saloniki line. A large number of prisoners, ten guns and a lot of war material fell into German hands.

The Bulgarians also are advancing from the east, but in the west the Montenegrins claim to have inflicted another defeat on the Austrians. The Austrians are said to be concentrating a force of 120,000 men in Herzegovina for an invasion of Montenegro.

The Russians continue their attacks in Courland, Volhynia and Galicia and while they report some successes, they apparently are not making any attempt to advance. According to Petrograd correspondents, there is no intention of such an attempt, the present object of the attacks being to harass the Austro-Germans and prevent them from preparing positions for the winter.

The Italians captured the Col di Lana, and after a charge through the snow, hoisted the Italian flag on the summit. The Austrian War Office admits that the Col di Lana was taken by the Italians, but declares that counter-attacks by the Austrians resulted in its recapture.

There has been no action of importance on the western front.

Submarines are becoming more active. The British have sunk in the Baltic the German cruiser Undine, which was escorting a German ferry steamer and now all the German ships in that sea are under heavy convoy. In the Mediterranean the Germans have sunk several steamers, including the British boarding steamer Tara.

GERMANS APPLAUD NEW GREEK CHIEF.

[BY WIRELESS AND A. P.]

BERLIN, Nov. 8 (via Sayville, N. Y.)—Berlin newspapers applaud the choice of M. Skouloudis as Prime Minister of Greece. The press points out that the Minister of War in the Zaimis Cabinet retains this post in the new Cabinet and that the only change is the entrance of a minister of public instruction, M. Micheldikis, who formerly was at the head of the Cretar government and is known as an opponent of former Premier Venizelos.

"The newspapers," says the Overseas News Agency, in its summary of the editorial opinion, "quote the words of King Constantine that what Greece needs is a national Greek policy, not a British, a French nor a German policy. Thus they declare, Premier Skouloudis stands apart from party dissension, representing the whole nation and a purely national policy for Greece."

BLAMES GERMANS FOR BLOCKADE.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, Nov. 8.—Comment of the British press on the American note to Great Britain is reproduced at unusual length in French newspapers.

Editorials.

AMERICAN COMMENT ON NOTE TO ENGLA

THE following editorials on the American note to England on the subject of the protest against the British alleged blockade and interference with American shipping have been gathered by the Associated Press from the sources indicated:

TACOMA (WASH.) DAILY NEWS—The high color of the note is due more or less to the proximity of a Presidential campaign. But it goes straight to the core of an offense which should have been handled with firm determination many months ago.

BUTTE (MONT.) POST—The note means that the United States, after much deliberation, has decided that if Great Britain really desires our good will she will forthwith abstain from conduct that gives offense.

NEW YORK EVENING WORLD—The note to Great Britain is as plain as the King's English can make it. We believe that British good sense, to say nothing of British friendship and good will, will dictate none other than a satisfactory reply.

BUFFALO TIMES—The reply of the United States is a strong, temperately stated and wholly comprehensive declaration of the rights of our country as a neutral nation. It is a vigorous, masterly paper.

THE REGISTER (TORRINGTON, CT.)—It nullifies every claim of the hyphenates that the attitude of the American government is not neutral.

DALLAS (TEX.) TIMES-HERALD—The note has the same tone that the English adopted when America was at war or when other nations were in conflict and England was an innocent bystander.

PUEBLO (COLO.) STAR-JOURNAL—President Wilson should not further tolerate the evasive policy pursued by England in regard to our protests concerning treatment of neutral commerce.

COLORADO SPRINGS TELEGRAPH—The United States has taken the proper course in thus demanding that the rights of the nation, as a neutral, to trade with neutrals be respected.

EL PASO (TEX.) HERALD—As a legal brief the note is admirable, laying solid foundations for future claims of money damages.

MILWAUKEE DAILY NEWS—The so-called blockade is a misuse of power most unjustifiable and in point of actual monetary and accumulative losses is unparalleled in any previous dogmatism of England to bulldoze the people of the world.

MILWAUKEE EVENING WISCONSIN—In a dignified manner the note puts the United States on record as in no way sanctioning departures from international law involving rights of neutrals, notwithstanding pleas of expediency or necessity.

MILWAUKEE JOURNAL — The note of our government to the government of Great Britain is a reaffirmation of the position of this country in standing by its own rights under international law.

BOSTON TRAVELER—That it will have the slightest effect on England's methods only the most optimistic will believe. That the administration hopes to change those methods does not seem probable. Fighting for her very life, as admittedly England is, it is too much to expect that she will do anything in response to verbal pressure.

ST. PAUL (MINN.) DISPATCH—The inherent American desire to be exceptionally fair to all the nations of the world, will resent the note of the dignified, but unmistakable, warning which featured the interchange with the German government.

ST. LOUIS STAR—There is one declaration in the note of the United States to Great Britain which puts the whole protest on a high plane. That is the assumption of championship of the cause of weaker nations.

CHICAGO DAILY NEWS—It is an unanswerable indictment that the American Secretary of State brings against the British government.

PHOENIX (ARIZ.) REPUBLICAN—The American note to Great Britain wipes out every vestige of argument in support of the various orders in Council. It remains to be seen whether it will have the support of many newspapers which so heartily indorsed the notes to Germany on the Lusitania and Arabic incidents.

OAKLAND TRIBUNE—The strong insistence that the relations between the United States and Great Britain must not in the future be governed by a policy of expediency seems justified by all circumstances.

The common sense of both nations is a sufficient safeguard against the danger of an open rupture

SEATTLE TIMES—As a presentation of the American viewpoint the document is admirable. The logic—at least from an American viewpoint—is unassailable. It is such a free, honest statement of fact, law and opinion as may well be exchanged between two friendly states.

KANSAS CITY (MO.) STAR—It is not necessary to have expert knowledge of international law to recognize the reasonableness of the administration's contentions.

ST. LOUIS TIMES—Secretary Lansing's language is plain and unequivocal. And the American public will back the stand of our government to the last.

MUSKOGEE TIMES-DEMOCRAT—The note is not only the expression of the Federal government, but the expression of the united people.

SAN ANTONIO (TEX.) LIGHT—The President has taken a stand that is absolutely correct. The United States has an unimpeachable case.

TULSA (OKLA.) DEMOCRAT—The American note may go far [illegible] solving the "freedom of the SACRAMENTO BEE—[illegible] has spoken in no uncertain [illegible] vigorously and clearly [illegible] his rights and those of [illegible] general, and has demanded [illegible] land their proper observance.

PITTSBURGH LEADER—The latest note to the British government uses some plain words, and [illegible] are backed up by plain action, belligerents may be deprived of [illegible] dangerous doctrine that in [illegible] war everything belongs to the [illegible] and peaceful nations have no [illegible] live.

WASHINGTON HERALD—The note ought to satisfy not only [illegible] one in the country who believes in an emphatic protest should be made against interference with our commerce, but the Berlin government as well. Washington, in its [illegible] tions, employs language [illegible] forceful than it used in addressing Germany on the subject of [illegible] American men, women and children.

STOCKTON MAIL—The [illegible] have followed the course of Great Britain with reference to [illegible] merce will appreciate the [illegible] Lansing's words when he says the latest American note, "that [illegible] jesty's government must be met not by a policy of expediency but by the established rules of international law.

PHILADELPHIA EVENING LEDGER—The note is mild in tone, but lacks nothing in [illegible] cause of that. It is firm and strong. It does not threaten [illegible] tains no hint of war, but [illegible] the sentiment and purpose of the administration it speaks also the opinion of the country and in uttering the word carries with it that there is a limit to [illegible] tolerance.

WASHINGTON EVENING STAR—The note carries no drastic [illegible] of warning but it indicates a determination not to submit [illegible] to the British practices of blockade.

NEW YORK EVENING POST—The first impression of the note is that our government has been [illegible] in watching for the infringement of American rights from any quarter and means as zealously to [illegible] them against England as against [illegible]

NEW YORK EVENING SUN—We believe that Secretary Lansing will have an excellent effect, [illegible] hardly likely, however, that the British government will abolish [illegible] essential to its victory.

MILWAUKEE (WIS.) SENTINEL—The Lansing note seems to be the way of a preliminary piece of [illegible] future action for damages and indemnification.

Among the items given out by the Overseas Agency was the following:

"Foreign press stories regarding rebellion in Bulgaria, according to which there have been mutinies among Bulgarian troops and a failing to the conquest of Uskup and Veles by Bulgarians, British and French troops, are officially stigmatized by the Bulgarian War Office as inventions. "The British and French are suffering one failure after another in Macedonia. Uskup and Veles are firmly in Bulgarian hands."

Gaillard Cut.

MAY REOPEN THE CANAL MIDDLE OF DECEMBER.

[BY PACIFIC CABLE.]

PANAMA, Nov. 8.—The progress of the dredging operations in the new channel of the Panama Canal at Gaillard Cut has been so satisfactory that it is now virtually assured that there will be a channel a hundred feet wide by thirty feet deep through the slide area by the middle of December.

The dredges have been removing debris at a rate exceeding 1,000,000 cubic yards a month, an average of 35,000 cubic yards daily. The canal engineers say that one favorable sign is the ability of the dredges to maintain the channel they cut and that the tendency of the canal bottom to bulge upward gradually is ceasing. They point out, however, that there probably is a month of dredging ahead before the waters again meet at the neck of land which is 200 feet wide and forty feet above the water level.

It is stated that while the channel probably will be open by the middle of December, the canal will not be in condition for use much before the first of the year.

SUBMARINES AND TUG BATTLING HEAVY SEAS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

VALLEJO (Cal.) Nov. 8.—The United States submarines of the F group, nine days out from Honolulu, en route to the Mare Island navy yard, are making slow progress, and the naval tug Iroquois, which is towing the three sister ships of the ill-fated F-4, is battling heavy seas, while the coal in her bunkers has grown so low that it is feared she will run entirely out of fuel before port can be made.

Apprehension caused at the navy yard by the receipt of a radio communication from the Iroquois containing this information, resulted in orders today for the collier Nero to be held ready to depart at an hour's notice, should help be called for.

As it would be impossible for the Nero to coal the Iroquois at sea under existing weather conditions, it was thought today that in the event of the Nero being sent out she would make fast to the Iroquois and the submarines and tow them all to the navy yard. At their present rate of progress the submarines would arrive on November 15.

Mine Fields.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—Twelve big merchant steamships, running into a German mine field at the mouth of the Thames, were blown up three weeks ago in a single day, probably with serious loss of life, according to the information brought here today by the master of the Scandinavian-American line steamship Tomsk, arriving from Swedish ports via Newcastle.

The commander of the Tomsk, Capt. Wiborn, received his information from channel pilots. He also said the Great Central Railway station in Leman street was leveled to the ground during one of the Zeppelin raids and he confirmed earlier reports of the capture of German submarines on a large scale.

German mine layers crept up the Thames at night and distributed the mines and the disasters came at daylight, when merchant ships began to pass out not suspecting any danger.

By washing the hair with a tablespoonful of canthrox dissolved in a cup of hot water, afterward rinsing thoroughly with clear water, you find that it dries quickly and evenly, is so fluffy, in fact, that it looks [illegible] streaked, bright, soft and wavy. Unprecedented Harvest, New Records Established.

High Prices Due to the War Swell Total Values.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The national principal farm crops this year will approach about five and a half billion dollars, exceeding by more than half a billion their value in 1914, the previous highest value year in the country's history. There has been an unprecedented harvest, many of the crops exceeding their best records, and the high prices due to the influence of the European war have contributed to swell the total value.

Estimates announced today by the Department of Agriculture in its November crop report base values on average November prices. Corn, for instance, a production of 2,690,509,000 bushels, or 44,000,000 bushels below the record crop—worth $1,913,025,071 is the most valuable corn crop ever grown. It exceeds the former biggest corn crop, that of 1914, by $190,000,000.

Wheat, with the largest production ever known in any country, 1,002,029,000 bushels, or about one-fourth of the world's wheat crop this year, is worth $1,117,185,999, or $54,000,000 more than the record made in 1914.

The oats crop also was a record one, both in point of production and value. The harvest was 1,517,478,000 bushels—almost 100,000,000 bushels more than the record of 1912—and worth $512,599,522, is $33,000,000 more than the record value of the year before.

Barley, rye, sweet potatoes, hay and tobacco were record crops in point of production and tobacco almost equalled the production. The rye and hay crops were records in point of value.

The approximate value of the barley crop is $113,577,682; the rye crop, $22,813,350; buckwheat, $12,354,750; potatoes, $118,425,824; sweet potatoes, $38,850,534; hay, $877,054,890; cotton, $105,002,500; tobacco, $84,330,480; peaches, $60,000,000; and pears, $9,275,634.

This year's harvest the corn crop exceeds the three billion bushel mark for the second time and the wheat crop passed the one billion bushel mark for the first time.

Crop prospects declined nine million bushels during October, the crop now being placed at 359,253,000 bushels. That is 46,000,000 less than last year's crop and the prospective increased supply for winter use is reflected in the sharp advance in farm prices, 46.7 cents a bushel on October 1, to 66.8 cents on November 1. The December price is 8 cents more than that of a year ago. The crop is shortest in the Northern States which grow the surplus of the country. The quality, too, is below average.

In addition showing the size of the principal crops, preliminary estimates in many instances, with figures giving last year's crops and the average of the five years from 1909 to 1913 for comparative purposes, were announced today as follows: (in thousands of units, i.e., 000's omitted):

COTTON REPORT.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Cotton ginned prior to November 1 amounted to 7,334,871 running bales, including 69,204 round bales and 55,358 bales of sea island cotton, the Census Bureau announced today.

Ginnings by States:

Alabama, 727,368; Arkansas, 444,908; Florida, 40,389; Georgia, 1,431,290; Louisiana, 272,379; Mississippi, 584,069; North Carolina, 408,056; Oklahoma, 171,229; South Carolina, 772,481; Tennessee, 146,869; Texas, 2,345,566; all other States, 40,267.

KITCHIN DIFFERS WITH WILSON.

HOUSE LEADER SAYS HE WILL NOT SUPPORT PRESIDENT'S DEFENSE PLAN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Representative Claude Kitchin, Democratic leader of the House, told President Wilson today that he could not support the administration's programme for national defense and that he would oppose the programme in a personal capacity only and not as majority leader.

"All I can say," said Representative Kitchin as he left the White House, "is that I very much regret that I cannot support the President's national defense programme. The plans do not meet with my convictions, particularly with reference to the navy. I shall make a clear exposition of my views as soon as Congress convenes, in a speech in the House."

Mr. Kitchin said he thought it very probable that the majority would favor the defense programme.

Representative Kitchin's definite announcement of his position will make it impossible for him to lead the fight for the administration's programme in the House. The burden of the leadership will devolve probably upon Chairman Hay of the Military Committee, Chairman Padgett of the Naval Committee, Chairman Sherley of the Fortifications Committee and Chairman Fitzgerald of the Appropriations Committee.

THE PAN-AMERICAN CONGRESS.

Secretary Lansing Announces the Delegates to Represent United States at Gathering.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—United States delegates to the Pan-American Scientific Congress in Washington December 27-January 7, next, were announced today by Secretary Lansing as follows:

Dr. Franz Boas, Columbia University, New York; Brig.-Gen. William H. Bixby, U.S.A.; Dr. John A. Brashear, president of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers; John Barrett, director Pan-American Union; William Wallace Campbell, director Lick Observatory; Dr. Philander P. Claxton, United States Commissioner of Education; Dr. Richard C. Cabot, Boston General Hospital; Dr. Henry B. Fine, Princeton University; Maj.-Gen. William C. Gorgas, U.S.A.; Judge George Gray, Wilmington, Del., Henry S. Graves, chief of Forest Service; Charles D. Walcott, secretary and William H. Holmes, head curator, both of the Smithsonian Institution; Hennen Jennings, civil and mining engineer;; William Phillips, Third Assistant Secretary of State; Dr. George Rommel, Bureau of Animal Industry; Dr. Leo S. Rowe, president American Academy of Political and Social Science; Dr. James Brown Scott, secretary Carnegie Endowment for International Peace; Alfred P. Thom, general counsel Southern Railway; Dr. William H. Welch, president of the National Academy of Science; Dr. Robert S. Woodward, president Carnegie Institute of Washington.

Ezekiel.

WILSON QUOTES SCRIPTURE TO JUSTIFY DEFENSE PLAN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—President Wilson finds support in the scriptures for his policy of national defense in a letter to Seth Low, who wrote the President commending his Manhattan Club speech, and quotes verses from the thirty-third chapter of Ezekiel. In the letter made public today at the White House, the President said:

"I am particularly gratified that you should so fully concur in the position taken in my speech to the Manhattan Club. There is a quotation from Ezekiel, which I have had very much in my mind recently in connection with these important matters. It is in the seventh, third, fourth, fifth and sixth verses of chapter thirty-three.

"'(3.) Son of man, speak to the children of thy people, and say unto them, When I bring the sword upon a land, if the people of the land take a man of their coasts, and set him for their watchman:

"'(3.) If when he seeth the sword come upon the land, he blow the trumpet, and warn the people;

"'(4.) Then whosoever heareth the sound of the trumpet, and taketh not warning; if the sword come, and take him away, his blood shall be upon his own head.

"'(5.) He heard the sound of the trumpet, and took not warning; his blood shall be upon him. But he that taketh warning shall deliver his soul.

"'(6.) But if the watchman see the sword come, and blow not the trumpet, and the people be not warned; if the sword come, and take any person from among them, he is taken away in his iniquity; but his blood will I require at the watchman's hand.'"

SOUTH AMERICAN TRADE NOW COMING OUR WAY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Success of the campaign to secure for the United States the trade of South America is indicated by foreign trade figures for September, made public today.

In both imports and exports the United States has about doubled its trade with South American countries during the past year. Imports in September were $20,652,765, compared with $15,858,234 for September, 1914. Exports amounted to $16,288,881 for the same month a year ago.

Today's statement also shows improvement in trade with Mexico. Exports to Mexico showed an increase of about $1,000,000 in September over the same month last year, and imports an increase of nearly $3,000,000.

America's export trade, with almost the entire world, has grown only one country, Japan, showing a slight decrease. Continued increase in shipments to the allied countries is indicated. Although no American goods reached Austria in September, 1914, exports to that country amounting to $60,167 were recorded for September this year, and exports to Germany, which were only $2378 in September, 1914, increased to $96,797.

WINTER STORM BLOWING EAST.

But They are Still Picking Strawberries in Chicago.

Communications Paralyzed by Gale from Saskatchewan.

Superior Shipping Tied Up. Water-front Damage.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WINNIPEG (Man.) Nov. 8.—Sweeping eastward from Alberta and Saskatchewan, one of the worst sleet storms of recent years gripped Manitoba today, paralyzing all wire communication from this city west and seriously hampering local traffic. Many miles of telegraph and telephone poles are down.

SHIPPING TIED UP.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORT ARTHUR (Ont.) Nov. 8.—All shipping at this end of Lake Superior has been tied up for the past twenty-four hours by a forty-mile gale with rain. Several thousand dollars in damage has been done along the water front, but no marine accident of serious consequences has been reported.

STILL PICKING STRAWBERRIES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 8.—C. W. M. Arnold went strawberry picking in his back yard. This makes the third time this year that Arnold has picked strawberries off his plants. The plants are in his yard at No. 3726 North Kedvale avenue, within the city limits of Chicago, and incorporated geographically as a part of the temperate zone. But this doesn't make any difference to the strawberries, which, according to botanical precepts, should be sleeping under a straw mulch in November.

Chicago's "mild spell," which approached midsummer heat yesterday and lingered on today like a balmy day in late spring, has turned the flower and truck garden season topsy turvy. Bulbs planted to appear in the spring are shooting into bloom this month, driving their owners frantic; vegetables not due to appear until March are sticking their heads above the earth and demanding another harvesting. Apple tree owners in the city have reported their trees bursting suddenly into bloom again and pear tree owners have made similar reports. In River Forest, citizens have reported their "first" robins. Hollyhocks, which are July flowers, have also been seen and one or two rose bushes have started to bloom.

"The record for November temperatures has been broken," said Prof. Cox of the Weather Bureau. "Yesterday saw the hottest November day for this part of the country on record in our department. In 1887 the temperature reached 75.2 one day in November. Yesterday's 75.3 broke this by a tenth. Nearly the whole of the country is experiencing mild weather. A cool wave is coming and will be here before midnight. The temperature will go down to about forty to fifty and remain there as far as we can see. There is a great storm in the Lake Superior country but Chicago is too far south to be touched by it."

THE WEATHER BACK EAST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 8.—Effects of the great storm now raging in Western Canada and the Lake Superior region were felt in Chicago this evening, when the temperature dropped from 66 to 50 deg. All lake cities are colder and the Middle West generally shows a drop of several degrees tonight. Eastern States continue warm, but the cold wave will probably reach that region by Tuesday evening. Four Canadian centers have been isolated completely by the blizzard. Other temperatures:

TRY TO POISON WAR HORSES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) Nov. 8.—Ten thousand war horses, assembled here during last week from points in the Middle West, were last night and today forwarded to Elizabeth, N. J., where it was said they would be allowed to recuperate before being shipped to Europe. Hostlers who accompanied the trains declared that reported attempts to poison horses at stock yards in certain western cities had prompted contractors to assemble the horses in Pittsburgh.

London Favors Hyphen.

stoppage was that this steamer—an innocent neutral vessel—was compelled by the prize crew to remove its wireless apparatus, which was the only means of summoning help had an accident occurred. Having been escorted into Kirkwall, the American passengers not only had to present their passports, but they had to state why they were going to Germany. We were held up from Wednesday to Saturday night because there were two different kinds of ink on the naturalization papers of one German-American citizen. That seemed to the British blockade officers a suspicious circumstance.

Every blockading nation admittedly has the right of search at sea; but there was no reason why our ship could not have been searched on the high seas and in safety instead of being deliberately dragged into a dangerous war zone.

BRITISH INCONSIDERATE.

I thought that the blockade officers were often inconsiderate and harsh. When we were leaving England we were all herded into a little room at Falmouth. It was suffocating and some of the women were almost in a fainting condition. I happened to be one of the first persons called to be questioned. I know that, after they were through with the real questioning, they kept me there just gossiping and talking while these women were standing jammed in this other room.

Some of the things they pull off under the defense-of-the-realm act are little short of murder. When I came in at Tilbury I had among my papers a number of reports from the American Chamber of Commerce in Berlin. Under no possible construction could these be regarded as having any military bearing. But the British officers wanted them. So they took my private property and refused to return them. My watch did not happen to attract them. I am glad I had an old watch.

The complaints of the meat packers are based upon the wholesale seizures of meat en route to Sweden and Denmark. In most cases these cargoes are not taken on the ground that those particular cargoes are guilty of anything. England simply contends that Sweden and Denmark are getting more meat than they receive normally, so the British grab the first meat they find bound for these countries.

One of the facts likely to come out when Congress begins its investigation is that Americans of British birth are favored over other Americans in getting goods out of Belgium. I know of instances of this favoritism.

OUR DIPLOMATS CRITICISED.

One of the reasons why England has been allowed to get away with this is the bitter prejudice of our diplomatic corps against everything German. President Wilson is continually demanding of the American people that they maintain an "aggressive neutrality" and take no sides as between the belligerents. He might begin with a little missionary work in this regard among his own ambassadors. I think their behavior during this war has been scandalous. Even Ambassador Gerard in Berlin has been openly and frankly pro-ally.

I hate to hand him this because Gerard is a very likable and charming man. He was specially nice to me, so I don't speak from any personal grudge. But he never should have been chosen as our Ambassador to Berlin. His bias is too great and too frank. During the most trying days when the situation seemed strained almost to the breaking point as between Germany and the United States, Gerard was advising all the Americans to pack up and get out. I have met a number of persons whom he advised to leave Germany as soon as they could jump a train. In Berlin they tell with bitterness a story to the effect that Mrs. Gerard, being invited while at a dinner party in Berlin to attend some social function, replied sweetly that she would be glad to come "if we are here." Asked what she meant by that, she said: "Well, of course, at the embassy we are all packed up ready to go."

As I was not at the dinner I can't vouch for the truth of the story, but it was told to me several times in Berlin and shows at least how the Germans regarded the Gerards.

Gerard is a man of parts, however. He was a rich and distinguished New Yorker. The Gerards moved in the best and most exclusive circles in New York society and Gerard left the Supreme bench to become the Ambassador to Berlin. But no man who feels as he confessedly does and who talks so much about it should be the accredited representative of a country whose relations with the German Empire are so delicate.

Dr. Van Dyke in Holland is frankly and openly a rabid partisan of the allies. I have all kinds of stories to this effect and furthermore I have heard him say so himself.

Although Mr. Page in London is probably strongly pro-ally, he does not make the fact so evident. Anyhow he might be excusable in that he is the representative of an ally country. At the outset of his career he made a bad break in an afternoon speech, in which he said that the United States built the Panama Canal for the benefit of England. But that was mere tactlessness.

HOW THE BRITISH OFFEND.

In its dealings with Americans, the British government offends them by its habits of coolly ignoring the appeals of the blockaded. While in London I heard everywhere complaints from Americans that the government had not answered their letters.

One complaint commonly made by Americans was that when their goods were finally taken into a prize court and released as not being contraband, they were forced to sign a paper absolving the British government from any future claims for damages. This was explained to me, however. The British exact such a release for the reason that the claimant to the cargo might not be the real owner and they wish to be absolved from any litigation as to the actual ownership.

Once this protest against the blockade starts, there will be a terrific clamor. London and Holland are both full of American importers who are trying to get goods out of the United States. Thus far the British have only permitted goods to be brought out under the following conditions: When proof has been given that the goods originated in factories wholly in Belgian hands and financed by Belgians, when the money in payment therefore was deposited in English banks until after the war.

MOUNTING THE TOTTERING FRAME OF H. CARR.

WHITTIER, Nov. 2.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I presume now that Mr. Harry Carr has returned from the German front, the British people of Southern California, thousands of whom are readers of The Times, will be treated to this enthusiastic praise of Germany and all things German, and his ridicule of England and all things English.

In his article of Monday morning he says he spent a week or two in London, and then proceeds to insult the intelligence of thinking people by saying that a nation that has raised, trained and equipped a volunteer army of over 2,000,000 men, inside of a year, and transported a part of them from the four corners of the globe, is asleep. And to prove it he quotes a fashionable clergyman and a variety actress.

I am a Canadian, and my people settled in Canada over a hundred years ago. I have two brothers and many distant relatives fighting in this war, and a dear friend nursing in the Red Cross. I spent three months this last summer in Canada, and know that Mr. Carr is mistaken when he says that the Canadians are not satisfied with England's share in the war. I have every means of knowing that they are satisfied in every way, and intend fighting this thing through.

Mr. Carr heaps praise on Germany for her efficiency (the word has become almost nauseating,) her preparedness, artillery, size of her army, etc., and the question naturally arises, why, when she had everything her own way the first six months of the war, was she beaten at every turn. On the road to Paris by the French. By the English on the road to Calais, and held by the Russians, in spite of a woeful lack of ammunition. The break through Serbia is the last desperate effort.

Germany with her "Gott strafe England," simply exposes to the whole world that it is this same derided England that she considers her most dangerous foe.

I and other British people would be glad to see this letter published. And wish in all fairness that your paper would send an unbiased reporter to the allied front as well as to the German.

BULGAR FLAG IN NISH TO STAY.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

BERLIN, Nov. 8 (via Sayville, N. Y.)—An exchange of telegrams between Gen. J. Ecoff, Bulgarian commander-in-chief, and Premier Radoslavoff of Bulgaria, upon the capture of Nish by the Bulgarians, is recorded by the Overseas News Agency in a dispatch from Sofia, which quotes Gen. Ecoff as telegraphing:

"After fierce and sanguinary fighting the fortress of Nish has been conquered and the Bulgarian flag has been hoisted to remain forever."

Premier Radoslavoff replied:

"The capture of Nish, where the national flag will wave forever in honor of the Emperor and the dynasty and to the glory of our brave Bulgarian soldiers, afforded great joy to me and my colleagues."

King Ferdinand's reply to Gen. Ecoff's telegram announcing the capture of Nish is also quoted as follows:

"I congratulate you most sincerely upon the taking of Nish, the chief stronghold of treachery and untruth. God save our troops."

GIVES WORLD THE GERMAN VIEW

[BY WIRELESS AND A. P.]

BERLIN, Nov. 8 (via Sayville.)—"The object of the Overseas News Agency service is to prevent neutrals from seeing the world only through British eyes," it is declared today in a statement issued by the Overseas News Agency, which furnishes the greater part of the news not subject to the British censorship that comes out of Germany, its reports being transmitted by direct trans-Atlantic wireless from Germany to the United States.

The statement which was brought out by recent British criticism of the news agency's service, which it declares are unjustified, asserts that the agency "several times has had the privilege of correcting misrepresentation of fact" made by British and French wireless systems.

AUSTRIAN LOAN TOTALS BIG SUM.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The Vienna Foreign Department today cabled the Austro-Hungarian Embassy here that subscriptions to the third war loan up to yesterday amounted to 3,300,000,000 crowns in Austria and about 1,500,000,000 crowns in Hungary, the total equalling approximately $960,000,000.

"Discussing the result of this loan, which surmounts all expectations," said the message, "the newspapers set forth that the monarchy has again presented evidence of her unbroken economical strength, manifested even in days when competent English factors admit the seriousness of the financial situation in Great Britain."

SUIT AGAINST COL. McGRAW.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

CHARLESTON (W. Va.) Nov. 8.—Judgments aggregating $150,000 have been filed here, it became known today, against Col. John T. McGraw, Democratic National Committeeman from West Virginia, and a number of his business associates. The suits, it was stated, were the outgrowth of the closing of the Bank of Grafton, of which Col. McGraw was a director.

An Unusual Bank

In 1889 the Security Trust & Savings Bank had $231,000 of resources.

To-day this Bank has resources of over $44,000,000.00.

In 1889 there were 1,053 depositors in the Security.

To-day there are over 92,000 depositors in this Bank.

Small accounts are as welcome to-day at the Security as they were in the beginning.

"Deposits at Any Hour by Mail" is an interesting booklet which tells of a new feature of our service, and may be had for the asking, at Branch or Main Office.

WHAT IS URIC ACID?

THE CAUSE OF BACKACHE, RHEUMATISM, GRAVEL AND SUDDEN DEATH.

Ever since the discovery of uric acid in the blood by Scheele, in 1775, and the bad effect it had upon the body, scientists and physicians have striven to rid the tissues and the blood of this poison. Because of its overabundance in the system it causes backache, pains here and there, rheumatism, gout, gravel, neuralgia and sciatica. It was Dr. Pierce who discovered a new agent, called "An-uric" which will throw out and completely eradicate this uric acid from the system. "An-uric" is 37 times more potent than lithia, and consequently you need no longer fear muscular or articular rheumatism or gout, or many other diseases which are dependent on an accumulation of uric acid within the body. Send to Dr. Pierce, of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., for a pamphlet on "An-uric," and send 10 cents for a trial package of "An-uric" Tablets.

If you feel that tired, worn-out feeling, backache, neuralgia, or if your sleep is disturbed by too frequent urination, go to your best drug store and ask for Dr. Pierce's "An-uric" Tablets.

Doctor Pierce's reputation is back of this medicine and you know that his Pleasant Pellets for the liver and his "Pleasant Prescription" for the ills of women have had a splendid reputation for the past years.—[Adv.

GRANDPA DIDN'T NEED CASCARETS FOR THE BOWELS

Two hours a day sawing wood will keep liver and bowels right.

You who take exercise in an easy chair must take "Cascarets."

Enjoy life—feel bully. Don't stay sick, bilious, headachy, constipated. Remove the liver and bowel poison which is keeping your head dizzy, your tongue coated, your breath offensive, stomach sour and your body full of cold. Why don't you get a 10 or 25-cent box of Cascarets at the drug store and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced. Cascarets work while you sleep. You will wake up feeling fit and fine. Children need this candy cathartic, too.

A Contented Mother.

A quiet, tranquil mother will transmit a more healthful influence than if she is extremely nervous from undue pain. That is why experienced mothers are constantly urging expectant mothers to use the old time remedy, Mother's Friend, a dependable external treatment obtained at any drug store. It relieves undue tension on the cords and ligaments resulting from muscular expansion and gently soothes the network of fine nerve threads. It is the one splendid assistant to ease, comfort and safety.

LITTLE SOP FOR DEMOCRATS.

Kruttschnitt Tells How They Killed Ocean Trade.

Redfield's Alibi is Met with Straightforward Denial.

Seaman's Act Alone Drove Ships from Pacific.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 8.—Julius Kruttschnitt, chairman of the Southern Pacific Railway, has addressed the following to William C. Redfield, Secretary of Commerce, in reply to charges made by Mr. Redfield as to the reasons of the sale of the ships of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company:

My dear sir: I have read your letter to me of November 5.

The reasons why Pacific Mail could not continue to operate its trans-Pacific ships, if the seaman's bill became a law, have been given to committees of Congress in detail with supporting figures, which have never been answered. In a letter to President Wilson July 6, 1914, I summarized the objections to the proposed legislation and gave notice that it would result in the withdrawal of the trans-Pacific ships. The language clause, while one of the most objectionable features of the bill, was only one of several unreasonable and onerous provisions. After a careful review of the subject when the bill was passed, we were unable to find any way to overcome the difficulties with which we were confronted, and with the approval of the shareholders, withdrew from the business and sold the ships.

A MISUNDERSTANDING.

You refer to a reported dinner-table discussion in December, 1913, between the surveyor of customs at San Francisco and Mr. Schwerin (which, however, differs so much from the latter's opinions often expressed to me as to raise grave doubts as to the accuracy of the reporter's memory) and to excerpts from what Mr. Schwerin said before a committee of Congress in 1913, about the Panama Canal Act, and argue that he ascribed the withdrawal of our oriental service to the Panama Canal bill, the provisions of which were not applicable to that line of ships. It clearly appears even from the excerpts, contained in your letter, that Mr. Schwerin meant that the Panama Canal bill would put Pacific Mail out of business, "so far as the Panama route is concerned, by law."

You reiterate that Pacific Mail withdrew from trans-Pacific business because it was unprofitable in years past, but you cannot deny, what everyone knows, that conditions had changed at least a year before the withdrawal and had become profitable and the prospects for the future most favorable.

If Pacific Mail persisted in the service during poor years it would certainly not have abandoned it when a good year had arrived, and others were in sight, except for some compelling reason.

PLACES THE BLAME.

Shall we look for that reason in the Panama Canal Act, which did not interfere with the business in the least, or in the seaman's bill, which imposed upon it most burdensome restrictions. According to the press the same restrictions have been assigned by Mr. Robert Dollar and Mr. J. J. Hill as the cause of withdrawal of their ships from the Pacific. Are these gentlemen knaves or fools, to either conceal or not to know, as you do, that the Panama Canal Act and not the Seamen's Act, was the real cause of withdrawal?

Finally, you again complain because Pacific Mail did not wait to see how you would construe away the noxious provisions of the law.

The law speaks for itself. The men who advocated and the men who made it worded it so as to carry out their intention to effect a change in existing conditions. The Seamen's Union worked strenuously for its passage with that end in view. Let us see what they sought:

In the hearings held before the Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries on December 12, 1911, Mr. McArthur, editor of the Coast Seamen's Journal, says:

WHAT THE SEAMEN'S ACT DID.

"This bill is designed to get rid of these aliens in tongue, color, instinct, and everything else, and to replace them with Americans." P. 31.

"But the purpose of this bill is to prevent the shipment of Chinese crews on American vessels." P. 34.

Andrew Furuseth, president, International Seamen's Union, says:

"A vessel that has that kind of a crew (Chinese) is so utterly unseaworthy that she is not only a danger to herself but to every class of vessel that she meets." P. 95.

Senator Fletcher: "I think . . . that provisions in section 12 of the proposed substitute, requiring that 75 per cent. of the crew in each department understand the orders of the officers, is not so much intended to promote safety at sea as it is to affect wages and prevent employment of Asiatic seamen on the Pacific."

Senator Burton: "The committee thought the adoption of the provision as it stands in the substitute would drive our flag out of the trans-Pacific trade. . . . What would be the result of adoption of this provision? The six boats engaged in business on the Pacific no doubt would be forced to withdraw." P. 58.

LANGUAGE TEST.

Referring to the language test section: The law requires the Collector of Customs, upon the sworn complaint of any reputable citizen that the section is not complied with (which may be made at any time up to six hours before the departure of the vessel) to cause the muster of the crew to determine the fact. You are powerless to change the law or to control the action of members of the seamen's union, who are all "reputable citizens."

It is easy, however, when the lines of the Pacific Ocean have ceased to be to give instructions, which apparently take the teeth out of the law.

Perchance you have not read opinions of William F. McCombs, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, which appeared in the New York Sun of November 4: Thus: "I believe that the Lafollette law should be repealed.

"I have investigated carefully and I believe the bill puts unwarranted burdens upon the shipping interests."

It is pleasant, indeed, Mr. Secretary, to note your satisfaction over the fact that the stockholders have received a good price for their ships. It is due to the accident of the war, however, and not to the seamen's bill, that the abandonment of commerce on the Pacific Ocean to foreign-owned lines of steamships was not accompanied by disastrous financial loss to American corporations and their stockholders. Yours very truly, [Signed.] J. KRUTTSCHNITT, Chairman.

Hon. William C. Redfield, Secretary of Commerce, Washington, D.C.

SANTA CLARA ABANDONED.

Men Authorized to Salve the Ship and the Underwriters also have quit Work on Her.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MARSHFIELD (Or.) Nov. 8.—Dist.-Atty. L. A. Liljequist today declared the wrecked steamship Santa Clara abandoned, as the business men of Coos Bay who were authorized to salve her by the Northern Pacific Steamship Company and the underwriters had quit work. It appeared tonight that nothing would be done relative to requiring beach combers to return property unless the Postoffice Department should step in and claim the parcel post mail which was removed by outsiders.

Many thousand dollars' worth of property was secured by hundreds of people. Among the most valuable of the cargo removed was about 800 sacks of flour practically undamaged, much silverware, 200 fountain pens, jewelry and several tons of bacon. Some of the property was given to its owners after bargains had been made for salvage.

SOMETHING EXTRAORDINARY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) Nov. 8.—An extraordinary session of the Legislature will be called November 22, to restore approximately $2,000,000 in funds of the State, and the city of Chicago, which were tied up by a decision of the State Supreme Court last week. This announcement was made by Gov. Dunne today.

CONCESSIONS TO UTILITIES.

Rules Against Gas and Light Companies are Changed.

Deposits of Consumers to be Kept for Current Bills.

State Board will Settle All Accounts in Dispute.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.—In a decision today the State Railroad Commission modified to some degree its order of August 12, establishing eighteen rules to be followed by gas, water, electric and telephone utilities in the matter of service charges, service conditions and extensions. A principal subject of the original decision was the direction to the utilities to return guarantee deposits to consumers. The new order provides that utilities may apply existing deposits against current bills until the deposits are absorbed.

The original order was effective October 11. The new one is to take effect December 1, next. Previous to October 11, several petitions for rehearing were filed with the commission by the companies involved and the effective date was postponed until these petitions could be acted upon.

THE CHANGES.

The supplemental order today denies these petitions. The principal changes, besides the permission of the utilities to hold existing deposits against current bills, include:

Where average monthly bills are in excess of $2, such consumers may be asked to deposit twice such average accounts.

The rule forbidding a utility to discontinue service for nonpayment of bills, for metered or measured service, already delivered, is changed so that in cases where the bill is disputed the consumer shall deposit with the commission the amount claimed by the utility and the commission will investigate.

The rule permitting telephone companies to let patrons send telegrams and long-distance telephone messages on credit is changed to protect the company so that if such messages are not paid for, after reasonable notice, where the bill is not disputed, this telegraph and long-distance telephone service may be stopped until the patron pays the bill and deposits not over twice his average bills for such service.

The rule construing payments to utilities to secure the construction of an extension, as loans at 6 per cent., is modified so as to omit the payment of interest.

Man Charged with Conspiring to Wreck Chicago Bank Swears Loans were made on Lorimer's Word.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MORRIS (Ill.) Nov. 8.—C. B. Munday, charged with conspiracy in the failure of the La Salle Street Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago, of which he was vice-president, continued his story of the financial affairs of the bank on the stand today.

Munday swore that loans made to Grace Hospital, one of the ventures of William Lorimer, president of the bank, were made on the verbal guarantee of Lorimer that he would make good any shortage.

Of H. W. Huttig, of Muscatine, Iowa, who severed his connection with Munday several months before the bank failure, the witness said that the first time he ever met Mr. Huttig, the Iowan asked for a "loan of $40,000 or $50,000."

In his testimony Munday attributed the bank's failure "to Chicago newspapers, the opposition of Chicago bankers and to bank examiners."

Under cross-examination Munday said he had stepped from a small position as a telegraph operator to his place as a Chicago banker in ten years, when he was worth $580,000, he said.

BURTON OPENS CAMPAIGN FOR G.O.P. NOMINATION.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

COLUMBUS (O.) Nov. 8.—Former United States Senator Theodore E. Burton today actively opened his campaign for the Republican nomination for President, following the withdrawal of Gov. Willis from the field. Willis announced his candidacy for a second term as Governor.

Burton spent most of the day conferring with State officials and party leaders from all sections of the State. Following a conference with Gov. Willis, Burton held a lengthy conference with the two Republican State chairmen, W. L. Parmenter of the Central Committee, and Edwin Johnson of the Executive Committee.

Burton refrained from openly announcing his candidacy for President, however. "I consider this office so dignified that it cannot be sought in the manner other positions are gone after," said Burton. "I confess, however, that my friends here in Ohio and elsewhere have been very warm in their expressions of good will toward me."

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—The local grand opera season was inaugurated tonight by the Boston Grand Opera Compny, Montemezzi's "l' Amore dei Trere" with Luisa Villani in the role of Fiore, was the opening performance. Other singers included Giovanni Zenatello, George Baklanoff and Jose Mardones.

THE PERFECT FOOD
When Doctors Agree, Who Shall Disagree?

Physicians disagree in many things, but they are practically unanimous in their opinion that a combination of good cow's milk and selected malt is the best food-tonic and body-builder in the world today.

These are the principal ingredients of a good Malted Milk, which, when properly prepared, contains in their just proportions the elements that supply and rebuild wastes of tissue and nerve force.

Like practically everything else, however, there are different kinds of Malted Milks, and inferior brands should not be expected to produce satisfactory results.

It will be interesting to note in this connection that "The Grand Prize" (highest possible award) at the San Francisco Exposition was conferred upon the world-famous brand known as "Borden's Malted Milk in the Square Package"—thus proving beyond question the complete superiority of this wonderful brand.

Borden's Malted Milk in the Square Package is benficial to weak and strong alike. A package of it should always be kept in every house. Begin today. Insist upon the square package. At all good druggists.

OIL LAND CASES IN LOS ANGELES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.—Benjamin F. Bledsoe of the United States District Court continued the hearings of oil land frauds against the Southern Pacific Railroad to allow the government to amend four of the six complaints. The action was objected to by the defense.

The amendments proposed are "highly technical ones to the effect that lessees and innocent purchasers shall not be liable for damages in the fraud cases be decided in favor of the government," according to the application.

The cases will be taken up in Los Angeles, five days after notice is given by Judge Bledsoe.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.—Emery Rice of the steamship Mongolia, his chief engineer, Walter [illegible] and the assistant engineer, [illegible] Scott, were placed under bonds of $1000 by government authorities today. If there any time they are called upon to answer in connection with a recent attempt to land eighty-six consignments of Chinese coolies from the Mongolia.

"I expect to have these men here as defendants before the case is finished," said United States Attorney John P. Preston to the court today. He asked that the captain and engineers of the Magnolia be placed under bonds. This was the first information that Capt. Rice and Engineer Scott were in any way discovered or accused of being connected with the alleged attempted smuggling of Chinese into this port.

The Mongolia was due to sail today for Europe, but the demand of the District Attorney delayed the sailing until tomorrow. The bonds for Capt. Rice and Paul were fixed at $5000 each, and that of Scott at $1000.

VILLA'S MEN DESERT HIM

Gen. Obregon Extends Amnesty to Rebel Officers.

Three Thousand Zapatistas Surrender.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) Nov. 8.—Forty soldiers of the Villa garrison at Nogales, Sonora, today left ostensibly to join the ranks of Gen. Calles at Agua Prieta. Nogales tonight is reported quiet.

Gen. Villa is reported en route from Chihuahua to Nogales, Sonora, for the purpose of interviewing Carlos Randall, acting Governor of the State of Sonora. He is said to be accompanied only by a small bodyguard, consisting of no more than 150 men. The remainder of his force is in camp around Villa Verde, where supplies are being received from Naco, Sonora. Naco is now occupied by approximately 1500 Villa troops.

Twenty-five Villa deserters reached Agua Prieta today. R. Gardunio, Mexican Consul here, stated tonight that one of the deserters had informed him that Gen. Villa, while greatly depressed, went to Cananea with the avowed purpose of getting drunk. This report is causing much uneasiness here because of the number of Americans in Cananea.

Gen. Obregon today granted amnesty to twenty-five Villa officers and, he said, would be allowed to return to their homes in Chihuahua. Gen. Obregon has agreed to furnish necessary money for the expenses for the trip.

Two cases of smallpox were discovered in Agua Prieta early today. The patients who have been isolated are two of the Carranza soldiers who came via Laredo to Agua Prieta last week.

While Gen. Obregon and Gen. Calles refuse to disclose plans of a campaign against Gen. Villa, it was learned today that the quartermaster of Gen. Calles's army is buying up many horses in the city and vicinity for the use of artillery and wagon trains when they take the field. Three troops of the Thirteenth United States Cavalry that were brought here last week left today for their station at Columbus, N. M.

ZAPATA ABOUT ALL IN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Zapata's army in Southern Mexico is disintegrating rapidly, according to cable advices received tonight by the Carranza agency here. Gen. Pablo Gonzales, marching through Morelos at the head of a large force, is expected to meet with little resistance.

Three thousand members of Zapata's following surrendered yesterday and were given amnesty," said the message, "and for many days troops of soldiers lately have been bringing in their rifles."

Other dispatches to the agency told of renewed activity in the petroleum country.

State Department advices said relations between Gen. Obregon, the Carranza commander, and George C. Carothers, special agent of the department at Douglas, Ariz., were friendly. It was reported recently from the border that Obregon had protested to Gen. Funston against the activities in Mexico of Carothers, who for a long time was the American representative with Gen. Villa, but no word of such a protest has reached the State or the War Departments.

Twenty-five Villa deserters reached Agua Prieta today. R. Garduno, Mexican Consul here, stated tonight that one of the deserters had informed him that Gen. Villa, while greatly depressed, went to Cananea with the avowed purpose of getting drunk. This report is causing much uneasiness among the friends of the number of Americans in Cananea.

Gen. Obregon today granted permission to twenty-five Villa officers to go, he said, would be allowed to return to their homes in Chihuahua. Gen. Obregon has agreed to furnish transportation money for the expenses for the trip.

Two cases of smallpox were discovered in Agua Prieta early today. The soldiers who have been isolated are members of the Carranza soldiers who came via Laredo to Agua Prieta last week.

While Gen. Obregon and Gen. Calles refuse to disclose plans of a campaign against Gen. Villa, it was learned today that the quartermaster general, Calles's army is buying up many horses in the city and vicinity for the use of artillery and wagon trains when they take the field. Three trains of the Thirteenth United States cavalry that were brought here last night left today for their station at Columbus, N. M.

ZAPATA ABOUT ALL IN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Zapata's power in Southern Mexico is disintegrating rapidly, according to cable advices received tonight by the Carranza agency here. Gen. Pablo Gonzales, marching through Morelos at the head of a large force, is expected to meet with little resistance.

"Three thousand members of Zapata's following surrendered yesterday and were given amnesty," said the message, "and for many days bands of soldiers lately have been bringing in their rifles."

Later dispatches to the agency told of renewed activity in the petroleum fields.

State Department advices said relations between Gen. Obregon, the Carranza commander, and George C. Carothers, special agent of the department at Douglas, Ariz., were friendly. It was reported recently from London that Obregon had protested to Gen. Funston against the presence in Mexico of Carothers, who for a long time was the American representative with Gen. Villa, but because of such a protest has reached the ears of the War Departments.

BANK FAILS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) Nov. 8.—The Lemay Bank, a neighboring institution in the southern part of St. Louis, with deposits of approximately $100,000, did not open its doors today.

The International Fair will soon close. Join The Times excursion leaving on November 11. Assemble with the officials and take part in the events scheduled for "Los Angeles Day." A big fair, special features and a great time is promised. Round trip rate, including all meals and accommodations for the six-day tour, is $12.50. Particulars may be had by the Los Angeles Times Excursion Department.

TOBACCO DEALERS FORM ASSOCIATION

OBJECT IS TO SECURE MORE PROFITABLE METHODS OF DOING BUSINESS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Organization of the Tobacco Merchants' Association of the United States was perfected at a meeting of representatives of the various branches of the tobacco trade held here today.

Jacob Wertheim, formerly president of the United Cigar Manufactures' Company, was elected president of the new organization, which is said to represent through its membership a billion and a half dollars of capital actively engaged in business. One of the main objects of the association, it is stated, will be "to bring about the employment of healthier and more profitable methods of doing business."

Besides the president, other officers were chosen. Charles Dushkind of New York was named as secretary and counsel, and Leon Schinasi of New York was elected treasurer. In addition, five vice-presidents, who also compose the Executive Committee, were named.

Permanent headquarters will be opened in this city and in addition branch offices will be established in Chicago, Denver, San Francisco and other cities.

SILVER FOX FURS PLAIN HOUSE CAT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 8.—A combination of coyote, rabbit and just plain cat skins, beautifully matched, however, and artistically adorned with what was purported to be expensive silver fox tips, would probably have remained the pride and joy of Mrs. Eleanor Hollman, wife of a real estate broker, for an indefinite period had she not ventured forth in the rain today.

Mrs. Hollman did venture forth, however. All the silver tipped rigamajigs commenced to fade away and gradually disappear altogether, and soon you could trace the pedigree of the erstwhile expensive fox skin back to the coyote, rabbit and house cat.

Mrs. Hollman says Riley called at her home last Saturday and offered for sale two furs, which he claimed to be the genuine fox furs, she says. The price was only $62.50, because he, Riley had smuggled them in. Mrs. Hollman snapped at the bargain.

DECLARES CANCER IS INCREASING.

DR. LAKEMAN SAYS DEATHS JUMP FIVE THOUSAND IN ONE YEAR.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DALLAS (Tex.) Nov. 8.—Cancer was the principal topic today at the public health section of the Southern Medical Association's convention, which opens here tomorrow.

Dr. Curtis E. Lakeman, executive secretary for the American Society for the Control of Cancer, said that the deaths in the United States from this disease had risen from approximately 75,000 in 1914, to 80,000 in 1915.

Dr. Lakeman declared that the only hope was in early treatment. Dr. J. C. Bloodgood of Johns Hopkins Medical College, said that if fever blisters on the lips do not get well promptly they should be examined at once, as they could develop into cancer.

Dr. Marvin Lee Graves of the University of Texas, proposed several remedies for the menace to public health of the white race from diseases among negroes. He said negroes in the South are great sufferers from all important diseases, and that uncleanly, diseased negro servants spread infection among many innocent white children.

LOSES INDUSTRIAL INSURANCE.

Supreme Court Decides Patient Once Discharged, Has no Further Claim for Damages.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.—The Supreme Court set aside today an award of the Industrial Accident Commission in the case of Percy McKay of Bakersfield, who recently was paid $13 a week for six weeks after he had broken his arm while cranking an automobile owned by a Bakersfield grocer. At the expiration of that time the bone slipped, had to be rebroken and reset.

McKay again was awarded compensation by the commission but the Supreme Court ruled that he was not entitled to further remuneration.

British Expedient.

ADOPT CZAR'S TACTICS TO KEEP IRISH HOME.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Nov. 8, 4:27 p.m.—Following the example of the Cunard Steamship Company, the White Star line announced today that no further bookings on its steamships of emigrants of military age would be permitted.

At Liverpool today a mass meeting was held to protest against continuance of "scandalous attempts to escape enlistment." The meeting adopted a resolution calling upon the government to issue orders, under the Defense of the Realm Act, that British subjects of military age would not be permitted to leave the United Kingdom during the present crisis without the special permission of the Home Office.

Referring to the refusal of the Cunard Company to permit 900 Irishmen of military age to sail from Liverpool on Saturday, the Manchester Guardian says:

"For a country whose population has been halved by misgovernment, while England's has doubled, the response of Ireland to the call to the colors has been creditable. Many men who on Saturday were taunted at Liverpool, must have had relatives at the front.

"Of 600,000 men of military age, said to be left in Ireland, fully two-thirds were engaged in agriculture, from which enlistment has been discouraged; and when allowance is made for munitions workers and the unfit, the recruitable margin is not great."

The indications are that there will be a greater bar in the near future to the wholesale emigration of Britishers to the United States. Heretofore those who desired to sail only had to satisfy the emigration authorities that they had plausible reasons for leaving the country, but it is anticipated that shortly they will have to produce passports, which will not be issued with too much freedom.

GAFFNEY GETS DECORATION.

[BY WIRELESS AND A. P.]

BERLIN, Nov. 8, (via Sayville, N. Y.)—T. St. John Gaffney, who recently resigned as American Consul-General at Munich, has been decorated by King Ludwig of Bavaria with the medal of honor, which is bestowed on civilians for voluntary services in nursing the sick.

The medal was forwarded to Mr. Gaffney by Count George Von Hertling, Bavarian Premier. At the same time Count Von Hertling sent to Mr. Gaffney a letter thanking him for his work in caring for the wounded. The letter also expresses appreciation for Mr. Gaffney's activities "in fostering excellent relations between Americans and German authorities."

FAY INDICTMENT IS RETURNED.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The Federal grand jury today presented an indictment against Robert Fay, Walter Scholz, Paul Daeche, Engelbert Bronkhorst, Max Breitung and Herbert Kienzle. They are charged with having engaged in a conspiracy to despoil owners of vessels of merchandise cargoes and to destroy vessels to the injury of person who had placed insurance on them.

The indictments, containing two counts each, charge that Fay and his five assistants devised and contrived "a metal box containing springs, coils and other mechanisms and loaded with dynamite, trinitrate of toulol and other explosives," and that the men conspired to attach the box or bomb to steamers sailing from New York, with the intent that when the vessels are at sea the bomb would explode and disable or destroy the vessels.

VORWAERTS SUPPRESSED.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The Evening News publishes a dispatch from The Hague saying the Berlin Vorwaerts has been suppressed temporarily.

BREAKS A COLD IN A FEW HOURS

First dose of "Pape's Cold Compound" relieves all grippe misery.

Don't stay stuffed-up!

Quit blowing and snuffling! A dose of "Pape's Cold Compound" taken every two hours until three doses are taken will end grippe misery and break up a severe cold either in the head, chest, body or limbs.

It promptly opens clogged-up nostrils and air passages; stops nasty discharge or nose running; relieves sick headache, dullness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

"Pape's Cold Compound" is the quickest, surest relief known and costs only 25 cents at drug stores. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, and causes no inconvenience. Don't accept a substitute.

TO SYSTEMATIZE TURKISH RELIEF.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Announcement was made here tonight that the three committees which have been ministering to the wants of war refugees in the Turkish empire had consolidated their energies and would merge into a single organization to continue the work.

The new organization is to be known as the American Committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief and will have its headquarters here.

This committee will embrace the Persian War Relief Committee, the Syria-Palestine Relief Committee and the Armenian Atrocities Committee. James L. Barton of Boston is to be chairman of the new organization, Samuel T. Dutton of this city, secretary, and Charles R. Crane of Chicago, treasurer. The Persian committee has already cabled $70,000 for the relief of refugees.

The Syrian committee, which has been operating largely among the Jews in Syria and Palestine, has transmitted, it was announced, more than $700,000 to Syrians for relief.

PRESENTS RECALL OF DR. DUMBA.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Baron Zwiedinek, charge of the Austro-Hungarian Embassy, delivered to Secretary Lansing today formal notification of the recall of Dr. Constantin T. Dumba, whose withdrawal as Austro-Hungarian Ambassador was requested by the United States on account of his plans for fomenting strikes in American munitions plants.

The notification was in writing and it will be translated and made public tomorrow.

Dr. Dumba returned home more than a month ago, after safe conduct had been obtained from the allies.

BOMB THROWERS ARE DESPERATE.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, Nov. 8.—The official communication issued tonight follows:

"Violent artillery actions continued during the day in several regions along the front, notably in Artois, in the sectors of Loos and the Givenchy Wood, north of the Ayre, in the neighborhood of Andrechy and in the Champagne east of Tahure, as well as north of Massiges.

Classified Liners.

AGATE TYPE ONLY.

Accepted subject to the following rates and rules: Rates: The rate for inserting Want Ads in the Daily Times is 1½c per word each insertion; in the Sunday issue 1½c per word each insertion; minimum charge applicable to a single insertion 25c; for each consecutive insertion, 10c; except under the following classifications, the rate for which is 2c per word daily; 2½c per word Sunday, and for each consecutive insertion, 2c daily, and to each consecutive insertion, 30c daily, Sunday: "Society Meetings," "Personals," "Special Notices," "Church Notices," "Miscellaneous," "Books and Bonds," "Money to Loan, Salary and Chattels," "Physicians," "Medical Detectives," "Dressmaking," "Baths and Massage," and "Lost."

An extra charge of 25 per cent is made for the use of capital letters.

Minimum space for classified advertisements ordered for more than one insertion, 14 words.

White space and dashes are charged for on the basis of seven words to a line.

Ads set solid are counted strictly by the word. Boldfaced or lined-up matter set in caps, or part in caps, counts 8 words to a line. Ads set in type, estimate five (5) average words to the line (or one and eight (8) average words to each inch) charge, in the title of advertising the actual number of words set solid is counted, and eight (8) words added for each unruled line. The Times reserves the right to classify all advertisements under appropriate headings.

The Times cannot guarantee accuracy or assume responsibility for errors of any kind occurring in telephoned advertisements.

The Times will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one time.

Errors not the fault of the advertiser, which greatly lessen the value of an advertisement, will be rectified upon notification, without extra charge, on presentation of receipt, within five days after insertion. No allowance will be made where the error does not materially affect the value of the advertisement.

No adjustment will be made for advertising items not affected by an error or errors which may occur in other items in the same advertisement.

Advertisements will be returned as given by The Times for payment for "liners," as no mistake can be rectified without them.

The Times will not accept phone or verbal orders to discontinue or change "till forbid" advertisements.

Telephoned orders to discontinue advertising in The Times are numbered in the order of their receipt, and in each instance the number of the order is given to the advertiser, who should make a record thereof. In case of dispute no charge for advertising will be refunded unless the "stop" order number is presented to The Times by the advertiser.

Sunday real estate advertisements, to be classified properly, must be in The Times office before 6 o'clock Saturday night. Other classified "Wants," to be inserted in each issue, may be brought or by telephone until 11 p.m. Saturday. Ads received after closing hours for each division will be inserted under heading "Too Late to Classify." Rate 1½ cents per word.

The Sunday circulation of The Times exceeds 100,000 copies and more "liners" are regularly published in The Times than in the five other Los Angeles newspapers combined.

Telephone your want advertisements. Ring up "The Times." Main 8200, Home 10391, any time of day or night, and secure prompt and careful attention.

BE QUICK TO KICK IF THINGS SEEM WRONG, BUT KICK TO US AND MAKE IT STRONG.

THE CITY AND ENVIRONS.

EVENTS BRIEFLY TOLD.

Seeking Her Son.

Inquiry has been started here by the mother of Frank Harrington, a vaudeville actor, to determine his whereabouts. The mother, wife of a clergyman at Pascoag, R. I., last heard from Harrington a year ago, when he was at the Westminster Hotel here, and intended to go to San Diego.

Illinois Society Meeting.

Honorable memberships will be given to the oldest man and woman born in Illinois at the meeting of the Illinois State Society in The Times Assembly Rooms tomorrow evening. There will be music, dancing, cards, ice cream and an hour of good fellowship and jollification.

Novelist to Speak.

Kate Douglas Wiggin will address the members of the City Teachers' Club and the members of the Southern California section of the California Teachers' Association at a luncheon to be given tomorrow noon at the U. S. Grant Hotel, San Diego, in connection with the Teachers' Institute now in progress in the southern city.

Congregational Fellowship Day.

Tomorrow will be observed as fellowship day in the First Congregational Church under the auspices of the Southern California Congregational Conference. A visiting team will hear reports from each department of the church from 4 to 6 o'clock p.m., followed by a discussion around the supper tables. At the evening session Dr. W. F. Fox of Pasadena, Dr. S. I. Meserve of Oneonta Park, Rev. A. E. Rheinschmid and Dr. Day will speak.

To New Quarters.

In the line with the general northward trend of railroad offices the Union Pacific system will move, January 1, it was announced yesterday, from the present ground floor location at No. 120 West Sixth street, to the Alexandria Hotel building adjoining the new offices of the Salt Lake. The Union Pacific will occupy forty feet adjoining the Spring-street entrance to the big hostelry. Between it and the corner will be the handsome new offices of the Salt Lake, which will be moved January 1 from the Hayward Hotel Building.

MORE WITHDRAWAL SUITS.

Government Imitates Three New Actions to Recover Alleged Oil Land in Kern County.

Three more suits were filed by the government yesterday in the United States District Court against various corporations and individuals, involving land in the famous Section Thirty-two, Kern county, oil field.

The prayer of the petitions in all three cases is the same—that all right and title to the land be declared as vested in the United States; that the defendants be adjudged as having no sort of interest in the property; that a receiver be appointed and an accounting had of the sales of oil made by the defendants.

It is also a part of the allegation in all three complaints that the land was withdrawn from all forms of public entry by executive order of President Taft, September 27, 1909, and that there were no discoveries of oil or gas on any of the land previous to the latter part of 1910.

In each case is the affidavit of J. D. Yelverton, who since March 1, 1913, has been chief of the field division of the General Land Office, to the effect that he is acquainted with the land and that all of the allegations of the government in each of the three complaints are true.

The first case is that of the United States against the North American Oil Consolidated, Pioneer Midway Oil Company, Union Oil Company of California, Producers' Transportation Company, Walter P. Frick, John F. Carlston, Clarence J. Berry, Dennis Searles, Walter A. Leimert and Wickham Havens. It involves all of section 2, township 32, south, of range 23, east.

The second case is the United States against St. Helen's Petroleum Company, Ltd., Boston Pacific Oil Company, Standard Oil Company, Union Oil Company of California, J. M. McLeod, Fred O'Brien and F. Westlake. This action involves the southeast quarter of section 32, townsite 31, south, range 24, east.

The third suit is the United States against the General Petroleum Company, Boston Pacific Oil Company, Standard Oil Company, J. M. McLeod, Fred O'Brien and F. Westlake. It involves the southwest quarter of section 32, township 31, south, range 24, east.

Six of what are known as "withdrawal" cases, to which these belong, have already been tried by Judge Bledsoe. A hearing of those in which Judge Bledsoe is disqualified began in Fresno yesterday before Judge Robert S. Bean.

CHARGE ELECTION FRAUDS.

Burbank Farmers Ask but Don't Get Criminal Complaints—Civil Action is Suggested.

Stuffing the ballot box, looking inside each ballot in order to keep tab on the vote, and other dubious methods in getting out the vote on the issuance of $55,000 worth of improvement bonds for Burbank, are a few of the allegations made by minority party leaders who called at the District Attorney's office yesterday seeking complaints against persons connected with the winning side in the election of last Friday.

J. W. Fawkes, speaker for the delegation, declared the Burbank City Trustees repeatedly refused permission t othe antibond party to hold meetings prior to the election, and that when a meeting of this kind was held the authorities endeavored to break it up.

The delegation consisted of farmers in the Burbank district, who stated the community had been taxed heavily enough for bonds when $75,000 was appropriated for a water and lighting system and that the present administration is not capable of the proper spending of additional money.

The allegations of the committee, which in addition to Mr. Fawkes included George Dewey, Christian Kraft and others, were not sufficiently tangible to warrant complaints. Deputy Woolwine suggested the ranchmen file a petition in the Superior Court to have the election set aside. In case of criminality being revealed at such a hearing the District Attorney's office would issue complaints. The country counsel advised similarly. Chairman Fawkes declared they will get their data together and file the petition before the end of this week.

IDENTITY IS MYSTERY.

Alleged Smuggler, Who Pleaded Not Guilty, Believed to be One of the Most Active Operatives.

In the United States District Court yesterday the alleged opium smuggler who insists that his name is John Jones, and is charged with having in his possession twenty-seven five-tael tins of the stuff, pleaded not guilty. "Jones" is one of the most mysterious men recently in the custody of the government. He declares his name is Jones, but Special Agent Johnson is of the opinion he is one of the most active operatives on the Coast, but he can get no information to back his theory.

Peter Madrone and George A. Leeper, charged with selling whisky to Indians in Riverside county, pleaded not guilty.

REVISE PRESCRIPTION LAW.

Duplications Without Special Order of Requisitions for Narcotics Forbidden by Revenue Department.

Collector Carter has received instructions from the Commissioner of Internal Revenue that the practice of physicians in writing prescriptions calling for narcotics within the scope of the Harrison Narcotic Act must be discontinued.

Heretofore, after the original prescription had been written and the physician desired to have it refilled, all it was necessary to do was to make reference to the original prescription and not fill in the quantity and ingredients of drugs called for.

Now it will be necessary in cases of this kind for the physician to write the name and address of the patient, the date and name of all ingredients and quantities, the full name and address of the physician and his registry number.

PERSONALS.

Former Senator W. A. Clark, multimillionaire copper man and president of the Salt Lake, will arrive here within two weeks on his semi-annual inspection of his western properties, according to advice received yesterday at the railroad offices here. Mr. Clark is now in Butte and will come here after seeing the Panama-Pacific International Exposition.

THE WEATHER.
[Official Report.]

LOCAL OFFICE, U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, Nov. 8.—[Reported by Ford A. Carpenter, Local Forecaster.] At 5 o'clock a.m. the barometer registered 30.00; at 5 p.m., 29.96. Thermometer for the corresponding hours showed 53 deg. and 58 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 78 per cent.; 5 p.m., 75 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., northeast, velocity 5 miles; 5 p.m., southwest, velocity 8 miles. Highest temperature, 65 deg.; lowest, 51 deg. Rainfall for season, 1.15 inches; last season, .32 of an inch. Barometer reduced to sea level.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.—The northwestern area of high pressure moved rapidly eastward and is now central over South Dakota. Freezing temperatures accompanied this movement across the northern tier of States. The depression over Lake Superior resulted in heavy precipitation and strong southeasterly winds in Minnesota and neighboring States. Another area of low pressure is making its appearance in the Northwest, and rain occurred in Washington, Oregon and in Northern California. This depression will give Los Angeles and vicinity cloudy and unsettled weather Tuesday.

SPECIAL BULLETIN. — 6 p.m., Nov. 7, 1915. Evening weather conditions: The area of low pressure noted on this morning's weather map moved slowly southerly and is now central over Northern Nevada and Oregon. It gave general rain throughout Oregon and Washington, and heavy rain in Northern California. Rain fell as far south as San Francisco. The further movement or extension of this depression will give Los Angeles and vicinity continued cloudy and threatening weather tonight, and probably showers Tuesday.

LOCAL FORECAST.

For Southern California: Cloudy Tuesday.

ARIZONA FORECAST.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. — Forecast for Arizona: Unsettled and generally cloudy Tuesday and Wednesday; not much change in temperature.

YUMA (Ariz.) Nov. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch from the U. S. Reclamation Service.] Gauge height Colorado River, 15.00 feet; discharge, 6000 second feet.

Acute Articular Rheumatism
Relieved by Anti-Kamnia Tablets

The exact cause of rheumatism is unknown, though it is generally believed to be due to an excess of uric acid in the blood. It may be also said with equal truth that no remedy has been found which is a specific in all cases. In fact the literature of rheumatism shows that there are but few drugs which have not been given a trial. In the hands of one observer we find that a certain drug has been used with the utmost satisfaction; others have found the same remedy to be a great disappointment. All physicians however agree that every method of treatment is aided by the administration of some remedy to relieve the pain and quiet the nervous system and Dr. W. S. Schultz expresses the opinion of thousands of practitioners when he says that Anti-Kamnia Tablets should be given preference over all other remedies for the relief of the pain in all forms of rheumatism. These tablets can be purchased in any quantity. They are also unsurpassed in headaches, neuralgia and all pain. Ask for A-K Tablets.

For Your Health's Sake

CONTAINS no lard, no shortening, no molasses, little sugar, no coloring matter and two-thirds less yeast—the whole of the wheat, including the germ and bran, but less of the starchy part of the grain. Physicians recommend it in cases of stomach, bowel and kidney trouble.

Don't travel so fast—you've got eternity before you! Check up a little and live more normally and naturally.

You crowd yourself—you hurry and waste. You eat the same way. You have even caused the baker to crowd his bread and the result is about like yours—more fuss and fumes and fermentation but less efficiency.

Let's adopt saner methods, part of which is to make and

Eat WHOLE WHEAT HEALTH BREAD

Just as well do it now because if you don't your doctor will be ordering you to, anyway, first thing you know.

It is just as good for well people as for those who have been forced to it. It is the natural, nourishing whole substance, taste and life of the wheat berry. It has less of other ingredients because they are not needed. You will find healthfulness, taste and even appearance are all there in a high degree of perfection.

INSURANCE ON GUESTS IN DEATH-TRAP HOTEL.

Indemnity Policy Issued to Landlady Charged with Arson Attempt.

Writer of Verses and Epigrams of Sentiment, Alleged Author of Horrifying Scheme, is Believed Mentally Deranged and User of Drugs—Purchase and Disposal of Distillate in Building Traced.

MRS. HARRIET A. CANFIELD, sentimental poetess and writer of epigrams of love, is suspected by the police of having contemplated a crime of horrifying ingenuity in her alleged attempt to destroy her apartment hotel, No. 840 South Flower street, late Sunday night, after all the roomers had retired. She is now in the City Jail, charged with attempted arson.

A $10,000 insurance policy, protecting against liability for death or accident to her guests, was issued to her Saturday. She applied for this policy, effective from that date. Sunday police and firemen found ninety-five gallons of distillate, a most inflammable liquid, stored in the upper floor of the building, together with ten gallons of gasoline.

Transactions about this policy were related last night by J. Leroy Hole, a well-known insurance broker, at his home in Bellflower. The policy, he made out, was left in his hands as he was to have delivered it yesterday morning to Mrs. Canfield. When informed of her arrest he turned it back to the original agents and it was cancelled.

"This hotel is costing me a whole lot of money," said Mrs. Canfield last Monday, when Mr. Hole called upon her in a private hospital. "I do not want life insurance; I don't need it," she said. "But I want something to protect me in case my guests should meet with accident and die."

Mrs. Canfield on my list as a prospect for life insurance for some time," said Mr. Hole. "Last Thursday morning I was in the vicinity and dropped in on her. She asked me to look up liability insurance for her. This was out of my line, but I told her I would take care of it and went to Aronson & Gale and got the rates.

"I called on her the following day, and gave her the rates and explained that the policy was for $5000 in case of an accident and $10,000 in case of a death.

INTEREST IN ELEVATORS.

"Does that protect me for elevator accidents?" she asked. I looked this up and found that to include elevator accidents the rate would be four times as great. 'Oh! My elevators are safe enough, I guess," she answered.

"I then told her she would save money by getting a policy for three years, as this would be given on a much lower rate, but she thought one year would be enough.

"She signed the application Friday, and the agreement the policy was to take effect that day. She asked for a few days to make the payment and I granted her.

"Saturday morning I got the policy from Aronson & Gale and telephoned to the apartments. The girl who answered told me Mrs. Canfield was ill and lying down, and I told her I would deliver the policy Monday morning. Then yesterday morning I read in The Times of the arrest of Mrs. Canfield, and still having the policy, I returned it to Aronson & Gale. It was from the Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland.

"At no time in my dealings with Mrs. Canfield was there anything that would arouse suspicions against her of any sort. Several months ago, while looking up another client, I noticed in the city directory the name of Mrs. Harriet Canfield as proprietor of the Canfield Hotel, and jotted it down as a prospect for life insurance.'

SANITY QUESTIONED.

The late developments yesterday convinced the police they are dealing with an unbalanced woman, if not a maniac. Her sanity has never been officially questioned. In the records of the juvenile department, she is branded a user of drugs. Many roomers in the Canfield Hotel have gone to the police with strange stories of her acts.

They tell of times when she ran through the corridors of the hotel late at night, scantily clad and screaming someone was attempting to take her life. Again she was found standing in the rain outside the hotel, protected only by her nightrobe, shouting so she alarmed the neighborhood, and when the lodgers came to her protection, she is alleged to have exposed her legs, and delivered a long description of her suffering from various ailments. Her dealings with her tenants are described as having been unusually stormy, and she had been accused of having a mania for money.

Today she will be arraigned before Justice Hanby on a complaint issued yesterday by the District Attorney's office, formally charging her with attempted arson. An effort will be made by her attorney, it is understood, to have her placed in the psychopathic ward of the County Hospital, until the time of her preliminary examination, at least.

Yesterday she lay in bed in a cell in the women's ward in the City Jail, alert, grim and cautious, having repeated conferences with her attorney, but close-mouthed regarding either the present or the past.

POETRY HER HOBBY.

Her delight is to talk of poetry, which she will quote to the end of all patience. It is her own poetry she quotes, rambling sentences of sentimentalism. Particularly she repeats verses eulogizing motherhood and the word "mother." And she has composed a grist of epigrams, all of the same subject, which she has compiled in book form and hopes to have issued by a local publisher. Her sentimentalism is almost a rapture, and she wishes to impress on the hearer that she loves mankind, and would do no person wrong. But no mention

Accused of Amazing Incendiary Plot.

Impressive.

NEW PLEDGE TO SPREAD GOSPEL IN ALL LANDS.

Daughters of three distinguished bishops,

Here with their fathers for the national religious gatherings of the Methodist Episcopal Church. From left to right they are Miss Ethel Luccock, daughter of Bishop Napthali Luccock of Helena, Mont.; Miss Allie Gayle Quayle, daughter of Bishop William A. Quayle, St. Paul; Miss Marion Moore, daughter of Bishop David Hastings Moore, Athens, O. The young ladies are honored guests of Los Angeles society.

SELDOM in the history of the First Methodist Church have laymen taken part in more impressive services than were held yesterday afternoon during a reception to student volunteers, given by the General Committee of Foreign Mission of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Men and women of the audience—many with tears of joy in their eyes—lined the chancel rail and pledged themselves to give for the spreading of the gospel in foreign missionary fields.

While a dozen young men and women, students at the University of Southern California, offered brief prayers from the pulpit, parents in the audience came forward, knelt at the rail and promised that their children should be encouraged to take up the work among the heathen. Many who were childless joined the throng and each promised to contribute to the education and support of a native missionary.

A reception is tendered annually by the General Committee to student volunteers of the city, in which the annual meeting is held. There are several thousand volunteer students attending about 450 universities and colleges throughout the country.

Yesterday's session of the committee was busy. Commencing at 10 o'clock with a business session, services were held throughout the day. Last night mass meetings were held in the principal Methodist churches here and in Pasadena, Hollywood and Long Beach. Visiting bishops, members of the General Committee, addressed large audiences at each meeting.

PEACE THANKSGIVING.

Bishop Berry presided at the morning session, at which were submitted various reports. Appropriations for work in foreign fields were made and several resolutions presented. Among the latter was one to set a date to be observed as "self-denial" week throughout the nation, as an expression of thanksgiving that this country has been spared in the world turmoil. A special committee was appointed to work out details of the plan and submit them to the board for action tomorrow.

The appropriations slightly exceed those of last year. Southern Asia, including India and the Philippine Islands, received $261,892; Eastern Asia, including China and Japan, $267,556; Africa, $55,269; Europe, $174,339, and

The Dynamite Trial.

SCHMIDT JURY IS COMPLETED.

Defense Checkmated; State Bar Admits Noel.

Evidence to Begin Probably Thursday Morning.

The twelfth juror in the trial of M. A. Schmidt, charged with the murder of Charles A. Haggerty, one of the twenty victims in the dynamiting of the original Times Building, was sworn to try the case at 3:20 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The twelve men who will sit as jurors are:

W. W. Imbler, street railway conductor, No. 921 East Twentieth street, aged 43.

E. W. Lawrence, lemon grower, Puente, aged 38.

Joseph E. Moore, teamster, Bell, aged 43.

W. J. Hawkins, laborer, Azusa, aged 53.

C. D. Daniels, fruit grower, Lancaster, aged 45.

Sanford Woodbury, retired, No. 399 South Los Robles avenue, Pasadena, aged 58.

J. B. Hunter, carpenter, Whittier, aged 43.

H. H. Haywood, groceryman, Pasadena, aged 56.

Charles J. West, farmer, Artesia, aged 64.

Judge Willis decided that there shall be one alternate juror to sit through the case, because of its unusual length, so that he may take the place of any other juror who might become ill or incapacitated. The major portion of yesterday afternoon was taken up with the attempts to qualify this alternate juror, but at the close of court last evening the panel present had been exhausted and the place was still unfilled.

The State has one peremptory challenge and the defense two in the selection of this alternate juror. So far all of the men examined have been excused for cause, so that none of these peremptory challenges have been used.

ATTORNEY NOEL ADMITTED.

The trial yesterday proceeded without the presence of either Dist.-Atty. Woolwine or Special Counsel Noel. In view of the contention raised by the defense counsel last week that Counsel Noel was disqualified to act as associate counsel in the prosecution, and its appeal to the court for a decision on the various points raised—which matter is now held under consideration by Judge Willis—Messrs. Woolwine and Noel went to Sacramento Saturday night, and yesterday presented the application of Mr. Noel to be admitted to practice in the courts of California. This was made before the Court of Appeal, and Mr. Noel was admitted. It is probable that he will resume his labors in the trial this morning.

When court convened yesterday morning there was one place yet vacant in the list of the twelve jurymen. Charles J. West, a farmer of Artesia, who has lived in Los Angeles county for twelve years, qualified over the challenge of the defense and was sworn.

The talesmen examined and excused during the day included Fred Bluemle, No. 4512 Budlong avenue; George E. Caldwell, No. 2423 Romeo street; J. A. Euber, Los Angeles; Clinton Johnson, No. 1812 Lenox avenue; F. C. Harvey, Rivera, upon whom the defense used its last peremptory chal-

CITY DAY AT EXHIBIT.

Many Invited to See New Industries Display at Chamber of Commerce. Organ Recital.

Today is Los Angeles City Day at the new industries exhibit in the Chamber of Commerce Building. Invitations to attend have been extended the Mayor, members of the City Council and other city officials and employees, as well as members of the Los Angeles County Pioneers' Association and Native Sons and Daughters.

Beginning today, Prof. Arthur Blakeley, through the courtesy of the California Organ Company of Van Nuys, will give three concerts daily on the big pipe organ. The hours for the concerts are 10 to 10:30 a.m., 12:30 to 1:30 p.m., and 4 to 5 p.m. The exhibit itself will be open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily the remainder of the week.

Increased crowds yesterday showed the interest the exhibit has incited in all walks of life. There were also many reports of the beneficial results of the home products exhibits in store windows.

Tomorrow will be Los Angeles County Day at the exhibit, while Thursday will be National and State Day, Friday, Business Men's Day and Saturday, High School and College Day.

FRUIT STANDARD IS UNCHANGED.

SIGNIFICANCE OF DECISION IS TOLD BY EXCHANGE.

Sweated Oranges Must Meet Eight-to-one Test as Heretofore, Though Green, Unsweated Goods may be Sold, According to Definition of Term "Adulteration."

"It simply means that fruit that is sweated must contain not less than eight parts of soluble solids to one part of acid," said General Manager Powell of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange yesterday, regarding the decision of the Bureau of Chemistry, Department of Agriculture, redefining the use of the term "adulteration" in connection with citrus fruits.

"The regulations concerning our Sunkist and Red Ball brands," said a notice which the exchange mailed yesterday to shippers and agents, "prohibit the packing under these labels of any fruit that does not reach the eight-to-one test. This will be rigidly adhered to, our agents can assure their trade; and we wish they would notify all of them that they can depend upon Sunkist being a standard of quality in this, as well as in all other respects.

"As heretofore advised you," the notice continues, "the department has

CENSOR BOARD UNDER FIRE.

Secretary's Resignation is Now Handed In.

President Tugwell is Also Ordered to Quit.

Charges of Graft Supported by Affidavits.

Charges of graft filed against A. P. Tugwell, president of the Board of Motion Picture Censors yesterday, resulted in a demand for his immediate resignation yesterday and E. T. Jorgensen, secretary of the board, handed in his resignation when an affidavit was filed that he had accepted money from J. A. Quinn, a motion picture exhibitor. Secretary Jorgensen informed Acting Mayor Betkouski and members of the Council that the payment of $75 in question had been made for press agent work for Mr. Quinn, but that inasmuch as Mr. Quinn had asserted that he intended that the payment should be to induce Mr. Jorgensen to change his vote in the matter of issuing a permit to exhibit a certain picture, his resignation would come immediately. President Tugwell refused the demand of Mr. Betkouski for his resignation and was informed that unless he resigns before the Council meets today his removal will be effected immediately.

In all there are about ten affidavits against Mr. Tugwell which charge him with demanding and receiving special rates and favors from film distributing exchanges because of his influence on the Board of Censors. These affidavits were placed in the hands of President Betkouski, acting Mayor, and Councilwoman Lindsey, and President Tugwell and Secretary Jorgensen were asked to meet Mr. Betkouski and other members of the Council yesterday afternoon. Mr. Jorgensen issued a statement accompanying his resignation in which he said he received checks aggregating $75 last March from Mr. Quinn and that the money was payment for services in writing press material for use in papers other than the one on which Mr. Jorgensen is employed. Mr. Tugwell flatly refused to resign yesterday and demanded to see the affidavits. He was told to make up his mind before 9 o'clock this morning.

SPECIFIC CHARGES.

The specific charges against Mr. Tugwell are that he has solicited and received special favors from the va-

CLUBWOMEN OPPOSING MILITARY TRAINING.

LED by the club president, Mrs. Seward A. Simons, the directorates of the Friday Morning Club, as well as representative members of the Parent-Teacher Association, the District Federation of Women's Clubs, and other like organizations, attended last night's meeting of the Board of Education prepared to combat vigorously any attempt to adopt the resolution presented last week by Maj. Copp relative to a compulsory military training system in the high schools.

Because Maj. Copp had been absent from the meeting of the Teachers and Schools Committee last Friday, Mrs. Waters, chairman, requested the matter be postponed, as her committee was not ready to make a report to the board. The resolution will be argued by the committee now considering it next Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the board rooms. The clubwomen present last night were invited to attend this meeting to advance their arguments.

Mrs. Simons stated last night she is emphatically against making the school children into a militaristic machine, giving as her reasons that it is undemocratic, useless and futile.

On the other hand, a communication was received from F. J. Zeehandelaar, secretary of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, expressing the hearty indorsement of the direcorate of that powerful organization for Maj. Copp's resolution. An exciting time is promised for Friday's meeting. Mrs. Waters, the chairman, has gone on record as against the resolution. Maj. Copp and ex-Judge York, the other members of the committee, favor it. Superintendent of Schools Francis dislikes the compulsory clause, but as he will be in San Diego when the argument comes up Mrs. Waters will not have his assistance. However, the club women promised last night to be on hand in force.

President Bordwell of the board announced he had received offers from local brokers pertaining to the sale of the remaining $800,000 worth of elementary school bonds of 1914, with a promise of immediate sale for half this amount. He was unanimously given power to act for the board and expects to immediately complete negotiations with the bonding houses.

Members of the board were inclined to believe last night that no trouble will be experienced in selling any municipal bonds in the future, as they have been assured by business houses that the long held back cash of the East and Middle West is at last seeking investment. As Los Angeles bonds are considered an excellent investment throughout the country, they are expected to go fast.

The resignation of Fred S. Thomas as foreman of the supply department of the board was tendered and accepted. No successor has been appointed.

Citizens from Sierra Park appeared to threaten legal action if steps are not taken at once to alleviate the danger to the fifty children of that locality who have to cross four railroad tracks and two boulevards to attend the nearest school in Bairdstown. They demand either a separate school for their children or a foot bridge across the dangerous points. The board decided to build the bridge.

Kranich & Bach

Small Grand Pianos

Especially designed for the apartment, the bungalow and the drawing-room of the modern home. The Kranich & Bach small grand possesses all the power and beauty of tone that heretofore was thought possible in only the larger upright and grand pianos.

All Kranich & Bach Grand Pianos are equipped with the exclusive and most ingenious device of modern piano construction—the Isotonic Pedal. By the use of this pedal a tone can be diminished gradually to the softest pianissimo and yet at the same time there is preserved the natural tone of three strings. The Isotonic Pedal is only one of many patented improvements. The superiority of the Kranich & Bach Piano is easily demonstrated. Will you investigate?

EAST ENTHUSES OVER THE FAIR.

Prosperity Provides Many for Vacation.

With Europe Closed Throngs will Come Here.

"There is unbounded enthusiasm in the East over the proposition to keep the San Diego exposition open another year," said General Passenger Agent Peck of the Salt Lake, yesterday, on his return from a six weeks' tour of the more important cities of the country.

"Because of the upward tendency of business," he continued, "there will really be more people to travel the coming year than this year. On all hands I heard people say that they were coming to California to see the exposition. They are the people that didn't see the expositions this year because of the business depression or the general scramble for war orders.

"Everywhere in the East business is now booming, while in the war order belt the plants are working day and night. You can see this return of prosperity in the crowds in the dry goods stores. I was in many stores from New York to Kansas City and every one of them was crowded.

"Inquiries among merchants also brought forth the uniform reply that things were looking up. Among the freight traffic men the report is of a more general disposition than for some years past to buy in anticipation of a rising demand for goods.

"Personally, I firmly believe that the San Diego exposition will be a howling success. The people are coming here this winter and all through next year, for the reason that they have the money to travel, and can't go to Europe. Southern California has started a good thing in this project of continuing the Panama-California Exposition."

Additional subscriptions reported yesterday by the San Diego Exposition Committee raised the total of contributions to $117,004.50, of which $74,754.50 is to the cash fund and $42,240 to the guarantee fund.

A meeting of the committee to discuss further details of the campaign, which will be brought to a close Saturday, will be held at the Chamber of Commerce at noon today. Reports on a number of prospective large subscriptions will be made at that time.

Stating that he had been overlooked in the canvass, P. H. Tracey telephoned in a subscription of $100 to the guarantee fund yesterday. He explained that, though he had no business interests that will benefit from the exposition, he did not wish to be left out on a proposition of such great public benefit.

Another subscription of $100 to the guarantee fund was received from J. B. Alexander, manager of the Sprecklels Brothers Commercial Company. In making this subscription, Mr. Alexander stated that the $25 shown in the committee's reports as from the Commercial Company should be credited to the Sprecklels warehouses, the company itself having given many thousands of dollars to the San Diego fund through its head offices in that city.

LIMIT LAND CONTESTS.

Interior Department Issues Edict that Frivolous Cases Will Not Hereafter be Permitted.

The Interior Department, through Assistant Secretary Sweeney, has established the principle of law relating before the local Land Office that hereafter frivolous contests will not be allowed or countenanced by the General Land Office.

It is ruled that if a contestant files a claim against an entry made either under the homestead or the desert land laws he must present his evidence and fight his case in regular order; that he cannot allow the contest to die and then institute a second action against the same land and same entryman, on the same grounds that he alleged in his initial contest.

This will put an end to a great deal of expensive and useless litigation.

Register Roche and Receiver Mitchell received yesterday an opinion that dismisses the contest against 240 acres of land near Palmdale entered by Olive Keyes, whose right was being contested by Edward A. Neiber, and the Keyes entry remains intact. The decision comes after Mrs. Keyes had appealed from the judgment of the Local Land officers allowing Neiber to file a second contest when he had failed to prosecute the first.

MAN AND GOLD GONE.

Police Asked to Find Russian with Two Thousand Dollars and no Knowledge of English.

Ivan Antuchoff, a Russian unable to speak English, and carrying $2000 in gold on his person, has disappeared, and the Russian colony has appealed to the police to investigate his whereabouts. Siff Kaimukoff, No. 153 South Clarence street, made the report to the police yesterday.

"My friend could not speak a word of English," he said, "and he didn't know his way around the city. Last Saturday he walked away, and nothing has been heard from him since. He intended to make his home here and was looking around for some business in which he could invest. I believe he has met with foul play."

The police have notified the authorities in all beach towns to be on the alert for Antuchoff.

OFF THE BREATH TRAIL.

Winery Man "Blind Pigger" Pleads Guilty and Good Citizens Need Not Testify.

The reputations for sobriety of numerous Lankershim citizens were saved yesterday when Harry Berchold, owner of the Toluca Winery, appeared before Justice E. W. Hart at San Dimas and pleaded "guilty" to the charge of maintaining a "blind pig" on his property. This made it unnecessary to call any witnesses whose names appeared as creditors on the captured liquor account book of the defendant.

Capt. Hunter offered the beer, whisky and other liquors in evidence, and Justice Hart fined Berchold $400 and gave him in addition, a sentence of six months imprisonment, which was suspended pending future behavior. The winery man was apprehended through the fact that Lankershim women discovered the breaths of their husbands were heavy with the odor of liquor even at prayer meetings.

MARS CUTS HOLE IN OUR PURSE.

CUSTOMS RECEIPTS FALLING LOWER THAN EVER.

Now but Four Countries on Our Export List and Imports from Nations at War Microscopic in Comparison with Past—Mexico Tops Both Trade Columns.

The report of the Collector of Customs for October shows Mexico leading all other nations in the amount of imports with the grand total of $189,600. She is also at the head of the column of exports with $103,702. There are but three other countries in the export column—Canada with $7151, Guatemala with $625 and Peru with $4200.

Coming next to Mexico in imports are Japan with $62,670; China, $43,840; Canada, $30,219, and Brazil, $11,732. The imports from France, Germany, Italy, England, Scotland and Ireland, nations engaged in the war, are negligible. The total amount of imports were $374,123; of exports, $116,676—a further reduction from last month.

The total collections for October were $30,875.50, of which Los Angeles furnished $28,567.15; San Diego, $4,877.67; Calexico, $277.49; Tia Juana, $121.49; Tecate, $29.50; Andrade, $2.21. Of the imports, Los Angeles furnished $207,211; of the exports, $59,097. Calexico led the other points in the district with imports of $137,971 and exports of $26,693.

The principal imported articles were as follows: Cattle, coffee, cotton unmanufactured, hides, tea, lumber, seeds, fish and fish products, leather, nut oil, cocoanut oil. The amount free of duty was $235,357; dutiable, $58,776.

Principal imports from various countries: France, cheese, bulbs and silk wearing apparel; Germany, gloves; Italy, precious stones; United Kingdom, cotton manufactures, linen fabrics and carpets; Canada, art works, household effects, cleaned rice and flour; Mexico, cattle, unmanufactured cotton, fish, hides and leather; China, tea and nut oil; Japan, tea, lumber, cotton manufactured, peanuts and sake.

The principal exports were agricultural implements, hogs, wheat flour, cotton goods, cartridges, bags, men's shoes, milk, gasoline, stationery, soap, malt liquors, sugar, manufactures of tin, lumber, oranges and harness.

The shipments through the Panama Canal to the Atlantic ports aggregated in value $469,284, divided as follows: Boston, $15,401; Charleston, $74,620; New York, $348,963; Norfolk, $50,400.

Just what effect the war has had on the imports and exports at the local port is indicated in the following table for October, 1913, when the trouble had just broken out, and the same month of 1915, when the war was at its height:

RECALLS GRAFT CASES.

Man Once Convicted as Bunco Worker is Sought on a Charge of Battery.

J. P. Burns, notorious through his conviction as a bunco man at the time of the Lee Rial graft cases, is wanted by the police on a charge of battery. A complaint was issued yesterday by Assistant City Prosecutor Morton.

The complaining witness is W. F. Mills, chauffeur of a stage running between San Fernando and the city. It is alleged Burns was a passenger in the stage several weeks ago and had his dog with him. While Burns was shopping in a country store on the road to his ranch near Van Nuys, the dog disappeared.

Burns, the complaint recites, accused Mills of being responsible for the dog's departure. Disputes and quarrels followed, resulting in a meeting yesterday in a garage at Roscoe. Mills charges Burns struck him.

Fruit Standard.

stated that food inspection decision No. 138 is still in effect. This decision, in brief, stated that immature oranges that were sweated would be considered adulterated, as inferiority was concealed. It was under this decision that the fruit was seized in Chicago in 1912. After this condemnation a request was made to the department to define maturity or immaturity.

"After considerable investigation the department suggested that California oranges would be considered immature if they did not reach the standard of the eight-to-one test. On this basis, oranges that did analyze eight to one would be considered mature, and if mature oranges are sweated, no inferiority is concealed, as they are not inferior. Consequently, there is no change in the situation that fruit that reaches the eight-to-one test may be sweated, and that sweated fruit that is immature, i. e., below eight to one, is adulterated, and hence subject to seizure.

"The only thing that might be considered new in the situation is the information that the growers around Sacramento have from their representative in Washington that oranges that are not sweated will not be interfered with, even though they do not analyze up to the eight-to-one standard; in other words, that green, unsweated oranges may be sold as such, the same as if you sold wooden nutmegs or gold bricks with the purchaser knowing what he was buying. This may lead some shippers to send out green fruit before it reaches the eight-to-one standard, but we do not believe, where there is the desire, that there will be much of this kind of a merchantable color.

"The trade papers report that the government men are investigating the billing instructions of cars of immature grapefruit shipped from Florida, evidently with the idea that green fruits in cars billed vents closed, when there is no danger of freezing, would be considered sweated. The government men have also been securing samples of fruits from the jobbers in Chicago on arrival of cars, and later calling for the same brands, to see if the fruit has been sweated after unloading.

"Our information from Tulare county is that the shippers will undoubtedly continue the organization formed last year, which made the eight-to-one test a standard of the industry there, and that a general meeting of growers has been called for this week to reaffirm their stand that no fruit should be shipped until it reaches the eight-to-one test."

WHOSE ROAD COST?

Supervisors Seek to Learn what State Should Pay for Improvement of Highway Link.

What the State should pay for improvements to a county road, if that road is to be taken over as a link of a State highway and supervised by the State Highway Commission, is the question the Board of Supervisors will try to have answered in connection with the proposed change of management for the Whittier road.

Supervisor Norton expressed the opinion that where a road has been paved or otherwise improved at heavy expense, the State, from its good road funds, should reimburse the county which has expended the money, at least for part of the total sum.

The Whittier road is about ten miles long and the State Highway Commission has asked that it be considered a part of the State highway system. Under the new State act, the State will be expected to maintain this portion of the county highway system without assistance from the county.

Supervisor Pridham was appointed a committee of one to definitely determine all facts regarding the matter and report next wek, particularly as to the phase of maintenance with State funds.

rious film exchanges in the way of special rates for films which are exhibited at Mr. Tugwell's motion picture theater in Central avenue, and that he has collected $2 a week from each of about forty film exchanges for collecting the films to be viewed by the Board of Censors and delivering them to the board's exhibition-rooms. Formerly, the affidavits say, the films were collected by a boy who was paid $2 a week for the service. This messenger became ill and Mr. Tugwell went around with his automobile and collected the rolls each week. Then, when the messenger recovered and resumed collecting them, the affidavits state that Mr. Tugwell informed the film exchange managers that the Board of Censors would not have the messenger around its offices, and Mr. Tugwell continued to drive around in his automobile and collect the films with his chauffeur and he also collected the $2 each week for his "service."

A. M. Strong, attorney for a local theater manager, makes affidavit that he called on Mr. Jorgensen at his home one evening last week and endeavored to induce him to reverse his vote and permit exhibition of a certain film. He says Mr. Jorgensen denied ever having received any favors from Mr. Quinn and refused to change his attitude with reference to the picture in question.

NECESSARY INFLUENCE.

H. J. A. Quinn, in one of his affidavits, says he is personally acquainted with a certain film exchange manager. On several occasions, Mr. Quinn says in his affidavit, he talked with this man concerning A. P. Tugwell, president of the Board of Censors, and particularly with respect to the activity of Mr. Tugwell on the board. Mr. Quinn swears he talked with Mr. Loper "particularly with respect to the activity of the said Tugwell on said board, and as to the medium of influence necessary to cause favorable action to be taken by said Tugwell with respect to various pictures which came before said board for censorship."

During his conversation with the manager, the affidavit says, after a permit had been refused for a certain picture recently by the Board of Censors, "said he asked the affiant what it would be worth to affiant to have a permit granted by the Board of Censors for the showing of said picture; that he could successfully arrange for the securing of the permit for said picture from said Board of Censors, through the influence of Judge Tugwell, as he had secured many favors from Judge Tugwell therefor by reason of his having favored said Tugwell in the price made to Tugwell for pictures to be shown in his theater, to wit, the Globe Theater on South Central avenue in the city of Los Angeles, on the part of the service of the Eclectic Film Company, as aforesaid, of which he is local manager."

The affidavit says the manager was reluctant to make affidavit because it might hurt his business, because he had to look to the board of which Tugwell is president in order to get permits for his pictures.

Affidavit made November 8.

SHAKE-UP PROMISED.

In addition to receiving either President Tugwell's resignation or an order for his removal from the Board of Censors this morning, the Council will consider a report from the Public Welfare Committee recommending a new ordinance governing the Board of Censors and providing that no person directly or indirectly interested in the motion-picture business shall be a member of the board. This ordinance will also affect J. W. Brooks, another member of the board, who is interested in a local motion-picture theater. Members of the Council who have been prosecuting the investigation of the board said yesterday that, aside from the president and former secretary, no members of the board are involved in the charges or in any evidence that has been procured or presented to the members of the Council.

In view of the affidavit filed by J. A. Quinn stating that he tendered $75 to the former secretary of the board to influence his vote in favor of permitting the exhibition of a certain film, Councilman Wheeler asked Mr. Quinn if he had not made affidavit to at least attempt to bribe a city official. This charge Mr. Quinn denied, but Councilman Wheeler said that the affidavit will be held pending further investigation.

Councilwoman Lindsey, who has been especially active in investigating charges and rumors of misconduct on the part of President Tugwell of the board, said last night that the campaign has simply been prompted by a desire for a square deal and the elimination of all petty graft in city affairs, wherever it may be found.

Mayor Sebastian, who is taking a few days' vacation, was informed some time ago that the affairs of the board were not being conducted as they should be, and it was said yesterday that the appointment of Mrs. Earl Rogers was made two months ago in an effort to gain definite information from a source in close touch with the new administration.

LOTTERY CASES POSTPONED.

H. J. Shobe of St. Louis, one of the lottery case defendants, appealed through his attorney to Federal Judge Van Fleet yesterday for an immediate trial. He was told that by reason of the crowded condition of the calendar there will be no hearing of his case until the early part of next year. The attorney of Pearl Fawcett, the Whittier man, who is accused of being one of the proprietors of the Louisiana Lottery Company, also asked for an early trial, but he, too, will be compelled to wait. Louis Fitzpatrick, a San Francisco operator, indicted on a similar charge, had his case put over until January, to be set.

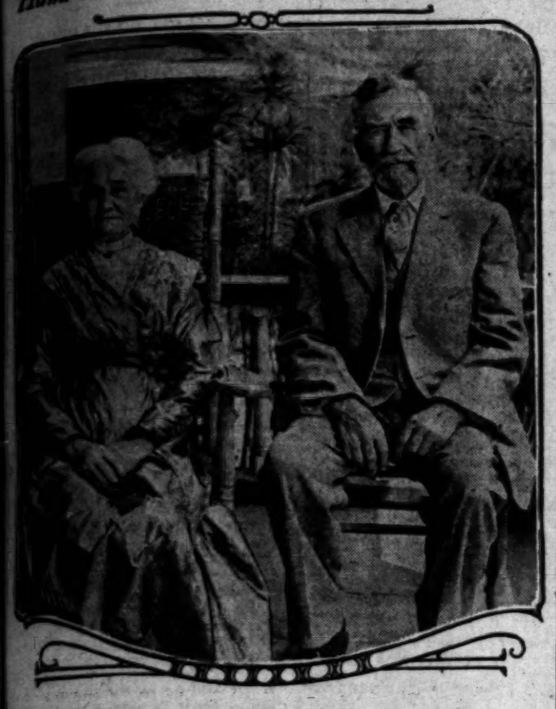
Hand in Hand Into the Bright Evening



Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Brown,

The sixtieth anniversary of whose wedding was fittingly celebrated in this city Saturday. They have lived in Pasadena and Los Angeles for thirty-two years.

Sixty Years Married.

DIAMOND WEDDING OF PIONEERS CELEBRATED.

ROUGH it was raining, 150 friends of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Brown, No. 1224 Algoma avenue, gathered there Saturday to take part in the celebration of the diamond wedding anniversary of the pioneer couple, who have lived in Los Angeles and its vicinity for the past thirty-two years.

A number of handsome presents were received by the old couple and flowers and ferns enough to fill a small conservatory were sent by many friends. As fast as these arrived they were added to the already elaborate floral decorations, so that by the end of the afternoon the residence was a veritable bower of fragrant blossoms and greenery.

In addition to the felicitations tendered in person by the invited guests, many congratulatory messages were received from friends who were unable to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown were married in West Lyden, N. Y., November 6, 1855, when he was 22 and she 18. They resided in New York State until 1883, when they removed to California and were among the early residents of Pasadena. They lived in the Crown City for eighteen years and for the last fourteen have been residing in Los Angeles.

They have two daughters and one son living, having lost four other children by death. Those living are Mrs. J. A. Cubberly of Plainfield, N. J.; Miss Lou S. Brown of this city, and Grant A. Brown of El Monte. There are eleven grand-children and one great-grandchild. Mr. Brown is now 82 years of age and his wife 78. Their health is excellent and they expect to live to celebrate their seventy-fifth wedding anniversary.

Time and Love.

BABY UPON HIS KNEE NOW TO BE HIS BRIDE.

A ROMANCE of over half a century will culminate this morning, when Anton Westerhowen, 77 years old, and Mrs. Gertrude Engelskirchen, 53 years old, are married at St. Joseph's Church, Twelfth and Los Angeles streets.

The remarkable love story began in Germany, when the bride-to-be, a 3-year-old Gertrude Welsing, decided that the stalwart youth, who was her father's friend, was her brother. While sitting on his knee she would listen wide-eyed to his tales of adventures in foreign lands, and would shudder when he spoke of going for a still farther country. So grew the girl's love for Mr. Westerhowen grew. Then one day he left for America, the new land. For years she pined for him, but outgrew the affection in the exuberance of youth, she soon remembered him only as an old friend. When he returned to Germany and married she was glad because he was happy. Later she herself married.

For years the two heard from each other only occasionally and then through mutual friends. Mr. Westerhowen and his wife lived in America, while Mrs. Engelskirchen and her husband remained in Germany. Then Mr. Engelskirchen died and the widow decided to come to the United States. At that time she did not know where Mr. Westerhowen was.

He had settled in Kenosha, Wis., and had become a prosperous farmer. His wife died and he turned over his estates to his son and started to travel. It was during a trip to Los Angeles last year that he discovered the little girl, now a woman well along in years, living at No. 1285 Santee street.

The old affection had never become entirely extinguished and the meeting caused it to flare again. Mr. Westerhowen returned to Wisconsin, but stated he would be back soon.

The couple will take a honeymoon trip to San Diego and San Francisco and will then purchase a bungalow in the city for their winter home. Their summers they expect to pass in Kenosha.

Their Romance Comes in Later Years.

To be married this morning.

had been made of the insurance policy at that time.

She is a slender woman in her forties, with an emaciated body and a sunken face, which is a somber, almost grim setting for two bright brown eyes, set far apart and glistening with a vitality that is feverish, and almost painful. She seems achingly alert, as sensitive as a pulsing tooth, and during all her expressions of sentiment, and her pleadings that the name of her son be not mentioned, there is not an evidence of softness or expressed compassion. She is like a chipped, yellow diamond, glittering, but not attractive.

Her lease on the Canfield Hotel has been in operation several years. Her husband is dead, and her son is now in the public schools. It was her relations with her son that attracted the attention of the juvenile officers, and resulted in a record that she was addicted to the use of drugs. At present she disclaims she ever used drugs of any kind, but she is extremely nervous and yields to hysteria at intervals.

MORE EVIDENCE.

Yesterday's investigations by Detectives McMahan and Cherry presented further evidence apparently bearing on the alleged arson plans. The agent for an oil company who sold Mrs. Canfield a quantity of distillate reported his transaction to the police. He said he delivered the material in five-gallon cans. The reason she gave for the purchase, he said, was that she wanted it for fuel.

A negro maid admitted having taken the distillate to the rooms on the upper floors. She said Mrs. Canfield explained it was to be used for a disinfectant, and that the reason she wanted it stored in different rooms was that by doing so she could avoid violation of the city ordinance regulating the care of explosives.

The cans used for the fuel have been confiscated by the police and are now at the City Jail, to be used as evidence.

During her hysterical moments, Mrs. Canfield told an excited tale of being blackmailed, and laid the responsibility for the fire preparations on her enemies. She was unable to name persons she suspected, and the police place no credence in her remarks.

The telephone girl in the apartment-house said she knew of no person hostile to Mrs. Canfield, and she had heard no rumor that anyone was attacking her employer in any way. But she did say she had heard Mrs. Canfield discuss the firing of her apartment-house. She will be a witness.

READY FOR CRACKING.

County Rock Quarry Near Claremont Opened—Two Hundred Men, Mostly Mexicans, on Hand.

The rock quarry which is to help in the solution of the hobo and unemployed problem over the winter months was opened yesterday near Claremont under the supervision of the County Charities Commission. More than 200 men, nearly all Mexicans, were on hand to apply for a place when the office of the commission, on Temple street near Franklin, was opened for registration.

Superintendent of County Charities Martin has worked out a plan which provides the men with ample shelter, good food, fair wages and a possible permanent job with the county on the good roads or other construction work. Preference is given married men with families to support.

It is expected that the workers will be able to crush rock by hand almost as economically as it could be done with machinery. The crushed rock will be purchased by the county at regular rates for use on the roads and the difference in the cost of producing will be charged against the charities at the end of the winter.

NEUTRALITY CASE OVER.

Postponement Means it may not be Heard Until Next Spring or Summer, if at All.

United States District Judge Van Fleet yesterday made an order continuing for the term the case of the government against Balthzar Aviles, Geronimo Sandoval, Charles Guzman, Francisco Ayon, W. K. Boker, Harry Chandler and B. J. Viljoen, charged with conspiring to violate the neutrality laws. The action was taken by the consent of the United States District Attorney and the defendants. The case was originally set for the 23rd inst.

It appears that the defendants are desirous of securing certain evidence from the republic of Mexico that so far they have been unable to get, and in addition Oscar Lawler, attorney for two of them, is engaged in the trial of the oil "withdrawal" suits at Fresno, and Assistant United States District Attorney Gallaher, who has charge of the suit on behalf of the government, will be engaged in the second trial of the American Brokerage Company case, early in December.

The action taken yesterday means that the case will be set in January and that the hearing will begin some time in the spring or summer, previous to July—if it is heard at all.

Dr. Osler on Tuberculosis

Sir William Osler, Regius Professor of Medicine at Oxford, says in his "Practice of Medicine" (1892), on page 249: "The healing of pulmonary tuberculosis is shown clinically by the recovery of patients in whose sputa elastic tissue and bacilli have been found. . . . In the granulation products and associated pneumonia a scar tissue is formed, while the smaller caseous areas become impregnated with lime salts. To such conditions alone should the term healing be applied."

The success of Eckman's Alterative in tuberculosis may be due partly to its content of a lime salt in such combination with other valuable ingredients as to be easily assimilated.

It is worth a trial, unless other treatment already is succeeding. We make no promises concerning it any more than do reputable physicians with their prescriptions, but since it contains no opiates, narcotics or habit-forming drugs, it is safe.

Efficiency in Educational Advertising

THIS Bank publishes regularly articles intended not alone to call attention to the facilities of the institution, but also to render immediate service through the educational information presented.

This is only one of the many indications of this bank's spirit and purpose. Our service is not complete when deposits are carefully safeguarded, interest paid on accounts, or even when utmost efficiency is reached in conducting transactions.

We consider it both our duty and privilege to take our patrons into complete confidence, explaining methods used, and giving all financial information and counsel desired, which may be of assistance.

Our advertising may often suggest points which the depositor would like to discuss in further detail. Our officers are always easy of access during banking hours, and will gladly enter into further explanation of any question pertaining either to the customer's relations with the bank, or to other problems arising in business practice and activities.

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.

CHIEF EVENTS OF YESTERDAY.

(At Home:) One of those rare days when the public takes a rest and allows the professional element to fill up to its capacity, found prices of most all stocks, bonds and other securities marked lower. There was no especial reason, except the lethargy of the general public in seeking new commitments. Reports from many railroad centers indicated a good increase in tonnage; the final crop report of the government shows the yield never before equalled in tonnage or price, and war orders of huge proportions are coming in.

(Abroad:) London was a seller of Canadian holdings in American markets.

CLUB RATES NEEDED.

Always ready with suggestions that may help in the face of the high cost of living, it occurs to us that hospitals should begin to make family rates with persons owning automobiles and allowing the children to drive.

READY FOR THE FLOODS.

The railroad companies with rights of way along the Los Angeles River are throwing great boulders and huge chunks of granite down the embankments to hold the high water in place from the floods which come from the rains. This is a step of wisdom.

CHRISTMAS SECRETS.

With the coming of the holly the air is filled with secrets. Red holly berries and Christmas gifts always go together and both are delightful. The joy of clandestine shopping and the pleasure one has in hiding packages until the great day makes late November and all of December an exciting period.

HUMAN NATURE AT CHURCH.

In one of our neighbor towns a blind pig was suspected and finally uncovered through a peculiar agency. Some wives at prayer meeting noticed a peculiar odor in the air and this led to an inspection of the breath of some of the men who were attending services. Prayer meeting is a funny place for a discovery of this nature, but you never can tell where humanity will break out.

MISSING A CHANCE.

Maybe, if Mexico hurries up with the restoration, the owners of copper properties down there, and especially the camp of Cananea, will share some of the metal demand of the present war abroad. Mexico has been very unwise in this respect. The minute somebody else began to fight she should have come to terms with herself in order to sell copper and food to the other warring nations.

NOT PROPITIOUS.

England would do well to go slow in its boundary dispute with China. Japan, although an ally of England, is certain to resent the slightest imposition upon the Chinese or the acquisition of a single foot of Chinese territory, feeling much as the United States would feel about the concession of any part of Mexico to a foreign power. This is not a very good time for any one of the countries at war to start a boundary controversy.

BUTTERMILK.

Whether it be due to a reputation gained in Bulgaria or to our American aptitude for acquiring tastes, buttermilk becomes ever more popular here as an assuager of thirst. Some people no doubt are spending spare nickels on the delectable drink that hardly cheers and certainly doesn't inebriate because they firmly believe that it contains the microbe of longevity. Others find it wholesome and good for men's livers and women's complexions. Some discover in it a substitute for beer and cultivate the taste against the coming days of general prohibition. And a few really like it.

CIVILIZATION OUTRAGED.

Villa's brother caused the execution of fifty men at Juarez on Sunday because they were suspected of Carranza sympathies. This savagery was within a stone's throw of the United States border. In view of the fact that morally and diplomatically the civilized countries of the western hemisphere have recognized Carranza as President of Mexico no war now exists in that country, but only outlawry and rebellion without purpose. Wholesale murders in Mexico should no longer be permitted. If necessary, the United States and the Latin republics should control every city and state in Mexico until peace is restored and Carranza has the nation under authority and the restoration of his country has begun.

ECONOMIZE OR FIGHT—OR BOTH.

The public men of England continue to urge the people of England to economize in their living expenses in order to save their money and then loan it to the government. Speaking at Alnwick at a meeting held under the auspices of the Parliamentary War Savings Committee, James Parker, M.P. for Halifax, said that before the war the national debt stood at over $3,500,000,000. Now it is $8,500,000,000 and in another year will probably be $12,500,000,000. To pay the interest on this vast sum and meet the expenses of government in time of peace would require a yearly contribution of $100 from every adult male in the United Kingdom, and the only way they could obtain the money to make the payment was to work harder and save more. A pleasant prospect for working men, especially Irishmen!

AN UGLY SITUATION.

Mr. Lloyd George, Mr. McKenna and Mr. Asquith have jointly and severally reiterated in the House of Commons that Great Britain will not permit the transportation on the high seas of goods that originated in Germany or goods whose ultimate destination is Germany, and to this end she will stop and search neutral vessels on the high seas, take their cargoes into British ports and throw upon the ship owner the burden of proof that his eastward-bound cargo did not originate in Germany or that his westward-bound cargo is not ultimately designed for Germany.

But the rights of neutrals are as absolute in war as they are in peace, and they are not dependent upon the fortunes or the necessities of combatants. Because Germany torpedoes English ships or ill treats English prisoners of war does not justify Great Britain in seizing cargoes of meat on American ships sailing from New York and bound for Copenhagen. Still less does it justify her in seizing a cargo of beet seed and toys on an American ship sailing from Rotterdam and bound for New York on the ground that the cargo "originated" in Germany.

It is an elementary principle of international law, agreed to repeatedly by Great Britain, that "the neutral flag covers enemy's goods with the exception of contraband of war" (Wharton's Int. Law, Sec. 342.) In the case of a vessel loaded with beet seed and toys sailing from Rotterdam for New York the goods would not be "enemy's goods," for the consignor would be a Hollander and the consignee an American; neither could beet seed and dolls be held by any construction to be "contraband of war."

In the case of $15,000,000 worth of beef and pork consigned by the Armours to their agents at Copenhagen and Stockholm and seized by British cruisers from American vessels, even if the meat was conditional contraband of war—a matter of itself doubtful—it was certainly not "enemy's goods," for it was owned and shipped by the Armours on an American ship and consigned by them to their Scandinavian agents.

There might be a suspicion entertained by English officials that the meat would ultimately be sold for consumption in Germany, and there might be a suspicion entertained by German officials that the beef would find a lodgment in English stomachs, and it might be that the Scandinavian agent of the Armours would sell the cargo to either a British or a German agent, or part of it to one and part to another, neither knowing nor caring where it went to after he received pay for it.

Great Britain defends her blockade of the open seas and her detention of food supplies on American ships owned by American citizens and consigned to their agent in a Scandinavian port on the ground that, although her action is violative of the law of nations, it is justifiable as a "retaliatory" measure against Germany.

The claim of Great Britain that she can "retaliate" on the United States for acts of Germany with which the United States had nothing to do is manifestly and utterly illogical and absurd, and Secretary Lansing, in his note of protest to Great Britain, which was published in The Times of yesterday, meets the issue clearly and fearlessly when he says: "The United States cannot with complacence suffer further subordination of its rights and interests to the plea that the exceptional position of the enemies of Great Britain require or justify oppressive and illegal practices. It must insist that the relations between it and His Majesty's government be governed, not by a policy of expediency, but by those established rules of international conduct upon which Great Britain in the past has held the United States to account when the latter nation was a belligerent engaged in a struggle for national existence. This task of championing the integrity of neutral rights, which have received the sanction of the civilized world, against the lawless conduct of belligerents arising out of the bitterness of the great conflict which is now wasting the countries of Europe, the United States unhesitatingly assumes."

After diplomacy has exhausted its vocabulary of both curt and courteous phrases there arises the practical and serious question, "What are we going to do about it?" The advocates of peace at any price say, and say truthfully, that all the meat and all the beet seed and all the toys afloat on the ocean are not equal in value to one thousandth part the cost of preparation for war with Great Britain, or one-tenth the cost of a week of such war.

On the other hand, it may be said with equal truth and with more of patriotism, that national honor is not to be measured by dollars, nor yet with the sacrifice of life that may be necessary to maintain it, and that our action in 1915 should be what it was in 1776 and again in 1812, "Millions for defense, but not one cent for tribute."

A FEW OF OUR RIDICULOUS LAWS.

California has eighty-nine labor laws—organic and statutory—some of them wise and some otherwise. Of these eighteen were enacted by the Legislature of 1913.

Some of these eighty-nine laws have been dead-letter statutes for years, and many of them "died a bornin'." One of these is the provision in the Constitution which prohibits the employment of Chinese on public works. There are Chinese cooks and dishwashers, however, employed in road-building camps, it probably being considered that frying beefsteaks and cleaning plates is not a "public work."

Section 18 of the Constitution, which provides that no person shall, on account of sex, be disqualified from entering upon or pursuing any lawful business, vocation or profession, is an exceedingly unnecessary section. If a woman is determined to practice law or medicine or to plow or to chop wood, no mere man could stop her; and if a man should devote his energies to hemstitching handkerchiefs or, armed with a nursing bottle, administer lacteal nourishment to twins or triplets, nobody would seek to prevent him.

Section 1212 of the Political Code gives every workman the right to leave his job for two hours on election day for the purpose of voting, and prohibits his employer from deducting anything from his wages on account of his absence. It is all right, of course, to provide facilities for the workers' attendance at the polls, but why should this be at the cost of his employer? Why compel an employer to vote at his own expense and allow an employee to vote at his employer's expense? And suppose the employee does not vote, but, instead of going to the polls, goes to a baseball match or a movie show or a prayer meeting, ought the employer to pay for that two hours, anyhow?

Section 955 of the Civil Code makes an assignment of wages made by a married man invalid unless his wife joins in the assignment, but the sauce given to the goose is not given to the gander, for a married woman's assignment of her wages is valid without the signature of her husband. In the event of a divorce suit being brought the lady has the advantage for the fifteen months or more that ensue between the filing of the complaint and the entry of a final decree.

Section 1997 provides that an employment is terminated by the death of the employee. Is not that superfluous legislation? Could a man be expected to continue laying brick or driving a wagon after he was cremated?

Every lumberjack is entitled to one hour in which to eat his midday meal, and any manager who deprives him of it will have to pay from $100 to $200 fine.

The Legislature of 1913 excelled all its predecessors in experimental and what the Progressive statesmen call "constructive" legislation. One of the instances of "constructive statesmanship" is the "wiping-rag" law, to be found in chapter 81. This statute prohibits the making of wiping rags from discarded clothing or from sheets, pillow cases or shirts without first making these articles into flat pieces and then boiling them for forty minutes in a solution containing 5 per cent. of caustic soda. No person may pursue the business of sterilizing rags and then offering them for sale without first obtaining a permit from the Board of Supervisors or health officer and without a certificate that each rag so sterilized has been inspected. The officer who issues a permit must keep a register of the names and places of business of persons to whom permits are issued.

Before these wiping rags are offered for sale they must be marked with the number of the permit, the name of the officer issuing it and the name and location of the laundry in which they were sterilized. Six months' imprisonment may be inflicted for a violation of this section.

It is to be regretted that the Legislature did not require each wiping rag to be labeled with an account of its origin. Then we might peruse advertisements reading as follows: "Wiping rags for souvenirs for sale at the Emporium. Socks worn by Gov. Johnson when he kicked the Southern Pacific out of politics. Four-sided coat of four-sided Eshleman. Breeches of Tobias Earl treated with an extra dose of caustic soda and marked down 99 per cent. since the last election."

Section 182 provides that if a mining company or a logging company or a hop grower employing five men or more furnishes a bunkhouse for his hands and does not provide fresh air enough or fails to have the bunks or beds made of iron, canvas or other sanitary material, or constructs them so that they are uncomfortable, or fails to keep the bunkhouse free from dirt, filth, garbage and other deleterious material, then the villain of an employer will be subject to $200 fine or sixty days' imprisonment, or both.

Section 186 provides for compelling men to abstain from wearisome labor. It decrees that if either an employer or an employee violates the law, by the latter working nine hours, both may be fined from $50 to $300 or imprisoned not more than three months, or both.

Section 198 provides that if a workman engaged in "seasonal labor" drinks or gambles and gives the saloon-keeper or the faro dealer an order on his employer for the amount of his imbibations or his losses, and the employer, not knowing for what the order was given, pays it, and the workman applies to the commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, that officer, or an examiner appointed by him, must be present on pay day and prevent the employer from deducting from the pay of the employee the amount of orders he gave for gin rickeys or as a result of unsuccessful efforts to make a bobtail flush conquer three deuces.

The crowning glory of the Legislature of 1913 was the creation of the Industrial Welfare Commission. Gov. Johnson was authorized to appoint five commissioners at $10 per diem each while engaged in the performance of their official duties (which may be for 300 days in the year) and a secretary, with a job lot of expert and clerical assistants, and "reasonable" office expenses and "necessary" traveling expenses for the entire outfit.

It was made the duty of this commission to ascertain the wages paid, the hours and conditions of labor and employment in the various occupations, trades and industries in which women and minors are employed in the State of California, and to make investigations into the comfort, health, safety and welfare of such women and minors.

Enlightened by the report of the wage board the commission shall have power to fix "a minimum wage to be paid to women and minors engaged in any occupation, trade or industry in this State, which must not be less than a wage adequate to supply to such women and minors the necessary cost of proper living and to maintain the health and welfare of such women and minors."

In order to determine the necessary cost of "proper living" it is requisite for the commissioners to agree as to what "proper living" is. How many shirt waists per annum, what kind of an Easter bonnet, what number of visits to movies, and how many joy rides are included in or excluded from the "cost of proper living."

An employer who pays less than the minimum fixed may be fined by not less than $50 or imprisoned for not less than thirty days, or both, and the employee may recover by suit the difference between the wages she has received and the minimum wage, notwithstanding her agreement to work for such lesser wage.

The Legislature neglected in enacting the minimum wage law, to prohibit an employer from closing his establishment and chasing himself out of the State. It might have required him to continue until his capital was exhausted.

AN ANALYSIS OF SUCCESS.

Miss Anna List, the famous syndicated lady psychologist, has at last completed her great life work—a delicately wrought analysis of success. For years the unsuccessful portion of humanity, comprising in all somewhat over 99 per cent. of the population of the globe, has waited impatiently for some authoritative information in regard to the chimerical composition of this irresistible force in business, political and religious circles. Hence it is with no little pride that Judge here lays the result of Dr. List's painstaking labor before the public.

SUCCESS:

With this heretofore carefully concealed information now in the hands of Tom, Dick and Harry a great injustice will soon be dissipated. Instead of a favored few being blessed with a lion's share of Success, Success will be equally divided among all, and nobody will have any to speak of.

Very Well, Thank You.

WESTERN SONNETS.

BY HARRY BOWLING.

I.

I dream no more of spirit worlds sublime
Beyond the rim of this encircling blue;
I am content to be a child of time,
Nor dull to doubt nor clever to construe
The fretful creeds, through which some souls may find
A recompense for what they missed on earth;
But I—I cannot clog a happy mind
With tangled thoughts of some diviner birth.
What is to come must wait the passing hence,

II.

For I have seen, ere grudgingly the bleak,
Reluctant night his curtain has withdrawn,
The chilly snow on San Antonio's peak
Blush rosy pink beneath the kiss of dawn;
Have watched, what time the sun has sunk to rest,
Dimming in purple clouds his golden light,
The blood still pulsing on the ocean's breast
From the fierce fervor of that swift good-night.
These I have seen, while still on earth I go;
What greater miracle has heaven to show?

III.

And I have wandered through an amber maze,
Where the wild mustard, riotous, distills
The sunbeams caught from long past summer days
Spring freshened o'er the California hills;
From Wilson's trail at night have startled seen
A dark world gemmed in glittering tracery,
Cities like diamond clusters hung between
The velvet mountains and the silver sea.
Not all the stars, wide circling through the skies,
Could light more wondrous streets in paradise.

IV.

And I have loved the years, have followed them
From spring to fall, in sun and dust and dew,
Where nestling close upon one parent stem,
Summer and winter like two roses grew;
So that no blithe bird slackens in his song,
No passing month but leaves some flower in bloom,
And I—who to this lotus land belong—
Will share with bird and flower their joy, their doom;
For if eternal bliss is not for these,
Let me, too, vanish like a vagrant breeze.

V.

Land of the sunrise on the mountain crest,
Land of the sunset in the western sea,
Richly endowed by nature, doubly blest
That man has crowned his mightiest works in thee,
Dearer than those imagined realms of light
Beyond the gates of time, I have thee now,
Revealed in majesty to human sight,
No broken dream. Thou, California, thou
Art book and sermon, anthem, choir and creed,
The all on earth, the all of heaven I need.

The Cause of Baldness.

[St. Louis Globe-Democrat:] It's the men's hats that make them bald, they say; and it must have been the haloes that did the same for the hallowed patriarchs of old. They wore naught else on their heads.

Come On.

[St. Louis Globe-Democrat:] Sleeping out of doors all the year round may be an acquired habit, but we should go to Southern California if we were determined to acquire the habit.

He's No Party Now.

[Washington Star:] If his idea of abolishing political parties as they now exist had been adopted by California Gov. Johnson would come pretty near looking like a whole political party unto himself.

French Politeness.

[Youth's Companion:] As a truly polite nation the French undoubtedly lead the world, thinks a contributor to a British weekly. The other day a Paris dentist's servant opened the door to a woebegone patient.

"And who, monsieur," he queried in a tender tone, "shall I have the misery of announcing?"

A Sad Case.

[Youth's Companion:] The worried countenance of the bridegroom disturbed the best man. Tiptoeing up the aisle, he whispered:

"What's the matter, Jock? Hae ye lost the ring?"

MARRIED PEOPLE.

Young Rollo and Alice got married last year, and then in a palace began their career. From goldsmiths and cutlers they'd laid in a store; they'd footmen and butlers and servants galore. They'd dachshunds and poodles, apparel the best, and autos and Boodle's the family crest. They had every blessing that mortals pursue, but—this is distressing—they'd nothing to do! Alas, for the bridal of people like these! For folks who are idle no fortune can please. So Alice and Rollo—a matter of course; such things often follow—indulged in divorce. Oh, Reuben and Bridget got married last May; their roll was a midget—he worked by the day. They rented a cottage of tumbledown sort, their fodder was pottage at ten cents a quart. He's earning his wages along with a gang; she's canning green gages in that cheap shebang. And neither will fidget for things out of reach; for Reuben loves Bridget, she thinks he's a peach. And indolence raises no cloud in their view; they're busy as blazes, with plenty to do. WALT MASON.

Longevity in Japan.

[London Chronicle:] Japan, like Bulgaria, has a reputation for longevity, and when a body called the Society of Centenarians was founded in Tokio two years ago it secured many adherents. In reality persons of 80 years and over are eligible for membership, so Count Okuma, the octogenarian statesman, was able to accept the presidency. The first meeting of the society mustered about 500 members, the oldest person present being a woman of 113, who traveled a long distance to meet her fellow-centenarians.

Then two men, one with a red mask and the other with a black mask, came into the room. They had revolvers. One of them was big and fat, just the shape of the Mexican I had seen earlier.

"They demanded all the money and valuables in the house. I told them they couldn't have anything, and they beat me over the head with their hands. One of them put a saturated rag against my nose and held it there. That is all I remember until I woke up about half an hour later.

"They had ransacked the place and had thrown everything over the floor. My brother had some money in a coat in the closet. They took this, and also my house money. But they missed my jewel case.

"They must have given the dog some meat to keep him quiet. Some time ago my brother was held up as he was going to work, but he hit the man who wanted his money, and the bandit ran."

Neighbors of the Kanders have complained to the police because of insufficient police protection in that locality. Detectives will continue to patrol the vicinity in hope of catching the daylight burglars.

Lady Gregory told how these people talk of what is unseen and outside the world bordering on the spiritual—for as she said, "the veil between things visible and things invisible has scarcely thickened since the angels fought in the air for the souls of the dead and Columcille joined in the fight, or since those yet earlier heroic ages when the sons of God mated with the daughters of men. These people have found that the dead come back, and their simple beliefs take away the fear of death. We are going back to intuition as in the early time of the world; reason has gone as far as it can. Intuition has come back to rule again."

Lady Gregory intimated that America is as rich in legends as is her own country—"just as much to gather and quite as reliable." And apropos to the remark she spoke of George Washington and the cherry tree!

She read from a history she had written (though she remarked not one word of it is her own) choosing a chapter on Henry VIII, and a humorous bit on King Solomon. Throughout the lecture she brought a realism, an atmosphere of the peasant characters quite as much as she has succeeded in injecting it into her plays.

Following the programme a reception was held, and many had the pleasure of meeting the gifted writer.

With Pasadena Clubwomen.

On the 2nd inst., at 11 a.m., preceding the regular business meeting of the club, a band of earnest, thoughtful women—all members of the Shakespeare Club of Pasadena—gathered for their first meeting in parliamentary law under the leadership of Mrs. J. A. Osgood. The ladies appreciate that in this age of clubs, public and business affairs, charities, etc., for which women are largely responsible, a thorough knowledge of parliamentary law is a necessity, and so enjoyable was the hour, so enthusiastic the members, that at the close of the lesson a strong plea was made for at least twelve lessons; instead of six as had been originally planned.

Another call was made for books for the George Junior Republic, in which the club has long been interested. The members also voted to again assist the Sunday peace concerts in La Pintoresco Park, to indorse George H. Maxwell's plan for national defense and conservation, and to give a year's scholarship in the Stickney Memorial Art School. The afternoon closed with a pleasant social hour in the tearoom.

Glendora Woman's Club.

L. E. Behymer, through whose efforts California has been able to hear the best-known musical celebrities, addressed the Glendora Woman's Club Tuesday afternoon. Most humorously did the speaker relate some of the difficulties encountered during his experience as an impresario on the Pacific Coast, and paid a tribute to the part women's clubs have taken in bettering conditions. A quartette of club members sang and Miss Oliver of Monrovia gave a group of three songs.

Eagle Rock Club.

The Twentieth Century Club of Eagle Rock will hold its next meeting Thursday at 2:30 o'clock. The subject, "Glimpses of the San Diego and San Francisco Expositions," will be treated in five-minute talks by club members. At the club luncheon preceding the meeting, at 1 o'clock, Miss Mary Richardson will give a review of "The Art of the Exposition," by Eugene Neuhaus.

Parent-Teachers Federation.

At a meeting of the Parent-Teachers Federation, held in The Times Assembly Rooms, a resolution, unanimously passed, expressed "approval of the valuable features of the public school system," and a copy was ordered sent to the Board of Education. The resolution was apropos a rumor that the board would possibly cut off some "side lines" of the present system.

Addresses were made by Miss Grace Fullmer, assistant Superintendent of Schools, and Miss Jassamine Britton, head of the juvenile department of the Public Library.

Miss Fullmer spoke on "The Value of Co-operation of Home and School" and announced that the first week in December the Kindergarten Association will open an exhibit at the Olive-street school.

Miss Britton talked of better books for boys and girls and of the movement, inaugurated by the Boy Scouts, for a "better book week," the first of December. That week the Public Library will maintain an exhibit of the best books for children.

The Girls' Glee Club of Polytechnic High School sang and Miss Siegfried played violin solos. Mrs. Frank Stephens talked on "Peace." Mrs. J. D. Taylor, the president, was in charge in the morning, and Mrs. H. C. Terrill, chairman of education, in the afternoon.

County Nurses.

The second meeting for the year 1915-16 of the Los Angeles County Nurses' Association was held last Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. in The Times Building, Room A. Dr. Mary Stone gave an interesting account of medical work in China; Mrs. A. C. Jaumie discussed "Two Years' Administration of the Nurses' Registration Act." One hundred and three members were present.

Glendale Tuesday Club.

Mrs. E. W. Kinney, curator of the music section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club of Glendale, will present Mme. Norma Rockhold Robbins, contralto, in a programme of comparative songs this afternoon at the Masonic Temple, Glendale.

Mme. Robbins is vocal instructor at the colleges of music, University of Southern California. In the first group of the programme she has chosen a very antique classic of Salvatore Rosa, "Star Vicino," and in contrast with it Leoncavallo's very modern matinata.

The next group contrasts the lullaby of the oriental Indian with our western Indian lullaby — Harriet Wares's "Hindu Slumber Song" and Nevin's "Blackfoot Indian Lullaby." Another group is two versions of "Musetta's Song," one from Leoncavallo's "La Boheme" and the other better-known Puccini aria from the opera of the same name.

Mrs. Robbins is also preparing a Brahms programme to be given at Cumnock School early in December.

SAN FRANCISCO LICENSES.

Edward C. McAlees and Clara Schultz, both of Los Angeles, got a marriage license in San Francisco yesterday; also Frank J. Brown, Los Angeles, and Ruth E. Gibson, San Diego.

The World's Fair closes three weeks from Saturday. Secure your ticket—$42.50—which includes every necessary expense for six-day tour with side trip to Giant Redwood trees—from The Times Excursion Department.

PROXIMO CLUB AFFAIRS.

The following Proximo Club programme has been arranged for the month:

Tonight, 7:30 o'clock, an evening at the Polytechnic High Night School. This will be an interesting evening. Ladies and friends invited.

Friday, the 12th, noon, Westminster Hotel, Hon. William A. Cheney will speak on Maeterlinck's, "The Unknown Guest."

Tuesday evening, the 16th, Los Angeles High School. Members and their friends will be guests of the Astronomy Club. William A. Spaulding, president of the Proximo Club, will clear up some points on electricity by giving Oersted's experiment, "What is Electricity." Prof. William H. Knight will preside. Ladies and friends invited.

Friday, the 19th, noon. Westminster Hotel. Ladies' day. Jesse F. Millspaugh, president of the State Normal School will be the guest and speaker. "What the Normal School Means to Los Angeles." Lunch 50 cents.

Tuesday, the 23rd, 2 p.m., Exposition Park. History, science and art building, museum of gigantic extinct animals. Ladies and friends invited.

Friday, the 26th, noon, open date.

Friday, December 3, noon. Westminster Hotel. Mark Keppel, county superintendent of schools will be the guest and speaker, and will tell something of the big things that are done in a big county in schools.

Friday, December 10, noon, Westminster Hotel. Paul Shoup, president of the Pacific Electric Railway will be the guest and speaker, and will tell of the "Big Problems of Transportation for Los Angeles County and Southern California."

T. L. O'Brien, secretary of the club arranged these affairs.

FURNITURE MAN BROKE.

A. F. Peckio, a furniture merchant of Corona, filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States District Court yesterday. He gives his debts at $4158.19 and his assets at $6771.91. In the last schedule he includes $1500 as the value of his stock in trade and $3000 life insurance that is exempt.

See the World's Fair! Participate in the "Los Angeles Day" events with The Times party. Ticket, $42.50. includes every necessary expense of six-day trip. Inquire at The Times Excursion Department.

MOVEMENTS IN SOCIETY.

MRS. OWEN HUMPHREYS CHURCHILL is entertaining an interesting house guest and cousin, Mrs. William G. Wilson of Sharpsville, N. Y.

Many social courtesies are soon to be shown the visitor, her hostess having several in the planning. Mrs. Wilson has been viewing the two expositions, and means to stay in the City of the Angels four or five weeks.

Pleasurably anticipated is the dancing party, with Mr. and Mrs. William J. Pearson hosts, tonight at their home, No. 1338 South Van Ness avenue. Elaborate decorations are to mark the affair, which is to be attended by about fifty guests.

Mrs. Richard A. Dunnigan will preside over a handsomely appointed luncheon in pink today, at the Los Angeles Athletic Club, with covers for twenty-five ladies. The 23rd inst., this same hostess is to give the second of a series of autumn affairs, at her home, No. 144 South Hobart boulevard, for the younger matrons.

Back from Exposition.

Mrs. Bertha G. Way, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Gish of Oneonta Park, has just returned from San Francisco, where she spent a fortnight visiting the Jewel City and other points of interest adjacent to the bay.

Here from Nashville.

A daughter of Mrs. Helen Grumbacher of No. 1134 West Tenth street, Mrs. Joseph La Pat, is the house guest of the former, having come from her home in Nashville, Tenn., several days ago.

Of Interest to Many.

One of the really notable events in Hollywood society was the wedding of Pauline Louise, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John O. Hodgin, No. 1533 Alexandria avenue, to William Gray MacDonald, which was solemnized at the bungalow home of the bride's parents, at 8 o'clock the evening of the 1st inst.

Rev. Albert Hatcher Smith, pastor of Hollywood Baptist Church, was officiant, reading the service in a bower of roses and chrysanthemums. Preceding the entry of the bridal party came Master Frederick MacDonald, nephew of the groom, bearing the ring snuggled deeply in the petaled bed of a large white rose, and dainty little Mary Jane Haskin, who scattered rose leaves. The bride, richly attired in white satin charmeuse inset with real lace, and wearing a tulle veil caught in the coiffure with a wreath of orange blossoms, entered with her father. Under a wedding bell of smilax and white roses, which hung from an arbor of greenery erected in the parlor, the couple pledged their troth, the beautiful ring service being used. The Lohengrin wedding chorus announced their coming.

The bride's going-away costume was of blue gaberdine trimmed in fur, with chic hat to match. Showered by the usual good luck emblems, the couple departed for San Francisco. They will make their home in Hollywood.

Phi Omega Dinner.

The Phi Omega Fraternity will entertain friends with a dinner at Christopher's next Saturday. The color scheme will be pink and yellow. Covers will be laid for forty.

Among those present will be Miss Dorothy Grahm of Salt Lake City, who is visiting friends here while on her way to the fairs; Miss Helen McFadden of Hollywood, Miss Beatrice Sparks, Miss Bessie Hill, Miss Inoe Bittman, Miss Marcella Cox, Miss Gertrude Braun, Miss Jessie Pettit and Miss Mildred Cowan.

After dinner there will be dancing till midnight. Those who are arranging the affair include George Simkins, Hugh Dixon, Armin Will, Collins Butler, Paul McKinney, Russell Klaseman and Fred Dunlap.

Visitors from the East.

Dr. Robert Francis Coyle of the Westlake Presbyterian Church and Mrs. Coyle have been entertaining at their Fullerton ranch Mr. and Mrs. Francis Percival Haviland of St. Charles, Ill., and Dr. Campbell Coyle, a well-known divine of Pittsburgh. The latter is a brother of the Los Angeles clergyman and occupied the Westlake pulpit Sunday morning. He left yesterday for the East, though the Havilands are to remain indefinitely.

To Wed in December.

Mrs. Orelia Boyer Rector announces her engagement to William Nelson Hamaker. The marriage is to be solemnized December 25.

Miss Wilson on Tour.

Miss Molly Byerly Wilson, dramatic contralto, No. 1217 Arapahoe street, left for Chicago last Thursday for an absence of four or five months on a concert tour. Miss Wilson will remain a week in Chicago, the guest of friends, where she will be busy with the final arrangements for her tour, which will open next Monday.

Prior to leaving Miss Wilson, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Alietta E. Wilson, and her sister, Mrs. Georgia W. Ober, spent three days with friends in Santa Paula, where Miss Wilson appeared in a recital programme, October 29.

Home Wedding.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin D. Howell, No. 1338 Kellam avenue, their youngest daughter, Margaret Wilmarth, was married to Herbert Burton Andrews, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Childs Andrews, at 4:30 o'clock last Saturday afternoon.

The bride wore white crepe de chine trimmed with old lace, an heirloom in the family for more than a century, and a dainty cap of gold net trimmed with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and orchids.

Miss Annie Stockton Howell, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. She was attired in pink crepe de chine and lace, with cap to match and carried pink rosebuds. Frank D. Howell, Jr., of Santa Barbara, was best man.

The bride, who was given away by her father, is a descendant of Richard Stockton, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, and a great-grand-daughter of Commodore Robert Field Stockton, first military Governor of California.

Rev. Benjamin Darneille officiated and Mrs. Darneille played the wedding march. The room in which the ceremony was conducted was decorated with ferns and yellow chrysanthemums, while pink and white carnations adorned the dining-room, in which a buffet lunch was served. The wedding guests were the two immediate families and relatives only.

Married in this City.

The wedding of Miss Grace Shephard, a pianist of Seattle, and Hill Newman of Los Angeles, was solemnized at high noon last Saturday at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Davis, No. 2625 Kenwood avenue—lifelong friends of the bride. The service was read by Rev. Stanley Ross Fischer.

The bride, who was unattended, wore a stunning gown of white Georgette crepe embroidered in pearls, and carried the conventional shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Ruth Morgan sang "At Dawning" (Cadman) and "Bird of Love Divine" (Wood.) Miss Florence Moran accompanied.

Exquisite bride's roses and white chrysanthemums were used in profusion in the drawing-room—where the happy pair stood—and in the dining-room white and pink predominated. Only Mr. Newman's sisters, Miss Nettie Newman of Santa Cruz and Miss Selma Newman of this city, and the bride's most intimate friends witnessed the ceremony.

View the Trousseau.

Miss Ramona Richards was hostess October 29 at tea at her home, No. 826 South St. Andrews place, when about sixty of her friends were invited to peep at the elaborate trousseau of the bride-to-be. The tea table was daintily arranged with Cecile Brunner rosebuds and maidenhair fronds in the center of an exquisite lace cloth, while the reception-room, den, living-room and sunroom were radiant with shaggy chrysanthemums. Those assisting Miss Richards and her mother were Mrs. Lawrence Hobart of Oakland, Miss Henrietta Hunt, Miss Margaret Smith, Miss Anna Alexander and Miss Esther Love.

Entertains Classmates.

Gorgeous yellow chrysanthemums adorned the home of Miss Irma Weber, No. 512 East Forty-ninth street, who last Saturday afternoon entertained a number of classmates from the Los Angeles Junior College. Cards were played, the hostess being assisted by Miss Louise Hamilton, Miss Louise Glika, Miss Helen Watts, Miss M. Kelley and Miss Helen Ferguson. The personnel numbered thirty.

Home Again.

Mrs. E. S. Packard and Mrs. L. S. Brown, who have been in the East for three months, are being welcomed to their home, No. 1756 Crenshaw boulevard, by their many friends.

Away Until New Year.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Dwight Brigden, who spent last week in San Francisco at the Jewel City, are now en route east for a two-month visit in New York City and Washington. They will spend the holiday season at Mrs. Brigden's old home in Indianapolis, and some time in January will return to Los Angeles.

With the Juveniles.

Master Noel J. Bradley entertained the Boys' Juvenile Matinee Dancing Club at his home, No. 1411 Harvard boulevard, Saturday, luncheon being served at 1 o'clock, with dancing between the courses and until 5. Present were Irene Roseberry, Marguerite Wright, June and Helen Annable, Portia Miner, Eleanor Lamb and Harry Briggs, Mayo Wright, Harold and Lawrence Acres, Robert Donham and the host. The mothers of the boys also attended. Yellow and white dominated the decorations, which were especially effective. Masters Harold and Lawrence Acres have invited the same young folks to their home on West Thirty-seventh street for the afternoon of the 20th inst.

Honoring Visitors.

Thursday evening at their home, No. 224 West Nineteenth street, Tropico, Mr. and Mrs. Asbury Wade were hosts at a merry party given in compliment to their cousin, Miss Ruth Chambers of Indianapolis, and friend, Miss Hanna Carr. Music, cards and refreshments passed the time all too quickly. Yellow and white chrysanthemums were used decoratively. Bidden were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fuller and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Heliman, the latter of Tropico.

A Charming Afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Talbert entertained a coterie of friends Sunday at their pretty home, No. 221 East Avenue 28, and during the afternoon their guests visited William Wendt, the well-known landscape artist, at his studio, No. 2814 North Sichel street. Then after a delightful dinner the guests were again entertained at the Wendt studio by Julia Bracken Wendt, the sculptress.

The party numbered Mrs. Ida Brown, Miss Ada Brown, Miss Margaret Harvey, Mrs. Ira Purl Fleming of Atascadero—who, by the way, is soon to take up a residence here and plans an active winter season—and Grove E. Brown. Among other guests at the Wendt studio were Mrs. Wallace and Messrs. Wells and Copeland. Miss Margaret Harvey, an alluring contralto, entertained at the studio.

POOR OLD COW EXPENSIVE.

Chung Wong learned yesterday afternoon that keeping an old and decrepit cow can become very expensive. He was charged with cruelty to animals but claimed that he actually believed he was doing a kind act in keeping the cow, which was so ancient she could not stand, instead of having her killed. Justice Hanby failed to see it in this light and fined Wong $100 or the alternative of 100 days in the County Jail, to which place the Chinaman went until able to secure the necessary money from friends.

Miss Laura Gysin,

ONE-MAN POWER FOR WATER BOARD

FREEHOLDERS STAND PAT ON SINGLE HEAD FOR DEPARTMENT.

The Board of Freeholders listened last night to protests from members of the Board of Public Service Commissioners against the proposed plan for putting the public service department under a single head and doing away with the commission in the proposed charter. Statistics were presented showing that of the cities of the United States whose water department revenues are in excess of $800,000 a year, only three cities have commissions to run their water departments. Moreover, only two of these three exceptions have public works boards under commissions.

The Freeholders adopted a provision for an efficiency bureau, which is to be under control of the Committee of Estimate; the chief of the bureau to be appointed by the Mayor. The duties of the bureau include investigation of the organization, administration and procedure of the various departments and offices of the city and to recommend to the Mayor, Council and heads of departments measures for the promotion of economy and efficiency.

An urgent plea for a return to the old system of party nominations for all city offices was made to the Board of Freeholders by Attorney Gesner Williams, who cited the last election and the decisive defeat of the non-partisan measure as an indication that the people want party participation in local elections. "It is high time that we returned to the old system," said Mr. Williams. "The idea of nonpartisanship in city and county government was advanced some years ago when it was necessary to smash the old Southern Pacific machine. That political machine has been put out of business effectively now and the reason for nonpartisanship has passed. We find in our affairs now that there is a need to be able to fix responsibility for the acts and policies of officials and the sentiment in favor of returning to the old party system is growing."

The board amended the City Prosecutor section to provide that this officer may not engage in private practice and also that in appeal cases the City Attorney is to be associated with the Prosecutor.

FOR GOOD OF SERVICE.

Harbor Construction Superintendent is Discharged by Assistant Engineer, who Says He has Reasons.

E. H. Sleeper, superintendent of construction work on municipal dock No. 1, was summarily discharged yesterday morning by Assistant Harbor Engineer Jubb.

"The discharge was made for the good of the service," said Mr. Jubb last night, "and if an appeal is made to the Civil Service Commission we have some specific reasons for the dismissal that will satisfy the commission, I think."

Mr. Sleeper came from Pomona, where he was formerly employed as city engineer. He was advanced to his late position a few months ago when there was a shake-up in the engineering force and Assistant Harbor Engineer Vincent was let out. Mr. Sleeper is understood to be closely affiliated with labor union bosses who have been back of an effort to discredit the engineering force on municipal work at the harbor.

MEETING IN BEREAN HALL.

The Los Angeles Graded Union of Sunday-school Workers will meet in Berean Hall, Auditorium Building, tomorrow morning at 9:45 o'clock. Special attention is called to the course for intermediate workers which is under the direction of Miss Inga Petterson. Lessons for the following Sunday will be taught in all grades. At 11 a.m., a Bible lecture will be given by Mrs. A. L. Dennis. All Sunday-school workers are invited.

O.E.S. BAZAAR.

Daylight Chapter No. 265, O.E.S., will hold its annual bazaar at Masonic Temple, Pico and Figueroa streets, tomorrow afternoon and evening. All kinds of aprons, fancy work and Christmas articles for sale. Luncheon served 12 to 2 p.m., 35 cents; dinner, 6 to 8 p.m., 35 cents.

LONG SHOW AND A GOOD ONE.

Triangle Pictures Prove up to Predictions.

Opening Night Indications Promise Much.

Orpheum Bill Brings Many Rounds of Laughs.

BY HENRY CHRISTEEN WARNACK

When you go to the Triangle show at Clune's Auditorium this week make no mistake about the time. If you go at night you should be in your seat by 7:30, and if you go in the afternoon remember that the matinees begin sharp at 2 o'clock. This means that the programme is long, a fact you would never guess until you looked at your watch on the way home.

In the beginning I had an idea that it would be impossible to witness two stories of five reels each and an additional comedy of two reels, without weariness of eyesight and heaviness of spirit. On the contrary, three hours and a half of screen entertainment, providing it is of the right sort, is nothing of a strain, but leaves one refreshed—and the audience quits in high spirits.

Few larger houses have ever assembled for a dramatic event of any character than that which celebrated the dedication of Clune's Auditorium to Triangle purposes last night. Los Angeles is certainly not financially embarrassed and money is anything but tight when 3000 persons have the cash for top-price drama of the film variety. With performances six days a week this means twelve times 3000 at $1 for the bottom floor, 50 cents for the balcony and 25 cents for the gallery.

One peculiar feature of the photoplay business must always be reckoned with by the public. They may get a picture now and then over which they may not enthuse, yet they know perfectly well that they can trust the big producers for a high average and for standard work. If the producer of the spoken drama chooses an unfortunate vehicle he is sometimes undone for the season and a fortune goes with it, but a picture is offered only for a week and then a new photoplay takes its place. The supply is almost as current and as inexhaustible as the issue of a daily newspaper.

This is not by way of apology for the Triangle's opening bill. All three of the contributing producers have done better work than this and they will do so again and again, yet their offering of the present week is of splendid worth.

The programme opens with a comedy entitled "My Valet," in which Mack Sennett presents Raymond Hitchcock as an American gentleman. Most Americans are gentlemen, yet a majority of American gentlemen do not have valets and none of those who do sport such a luxury have one that is anything like the creation of Mack Sennett. The story is the old one of substituting servant for master with the usual ludicrous resultant complications. It is designed to be the photoplay parallel of slap stick comedy and burlesque for which there is always a wide audience, and it seemed acceptable to many in the vast assembly at Clune's last night.

In smart contrast with the Sennett feature was the high-class comedy-drama offered by D. W. Griffith, who presents Douglas Fairbanks in a droll little improbability of the most polite fiction, called "The Lamb."

This picture is in such fine taste that one does not in the least mind seeing scores of Yaqui Indians mowed down by a gattling gun operated exclusively by a civilian and his sweetheart, and the whole audience might be under the suspicion of the Humane Society for the may they overlook the killing of the birdman.

The fact is that life gets speedier and more sordid for a majority of people every day so that the airier and fairier their fairy stories can be made, the better they like them.

A COMPANION.

There is another fact to be kept in mind with regard to pictures, which is that a melodrama which would never do on the stage is plausible when presented on the screen and facts that would be repulsive when put into words are within the range of good taste and reason in the photoplay.

This is capitally illustrated by "The Iron Strain," in which Thomas H. Ince presents Dustin Farnum.

Now "The Iron Strain" is cave-man stuff, and, if told in bare words, the naked truth would make it appear that we were paying top prices for highway robbery in love and for seeing an atrocious example set for husbands in the gentle art of first kidnaping their wives and of afterward making them jealous by conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman. This play when reduced to the version of the film seems not at all improbable, and features that would repel, when accompanied by words, are only piquant when seen upon the screen. One learns much from this film about the possibilities of the big, new, picture art. The cloud effects are as lovely as fog drift beneath the moon, and the settings, in Topango Canyon and at the studio at Inceville, are as rugged and galvanic in their vital beauty as if taken in the Land of the Midnight Sun.

However one may feel about the story, its interest cannot be denied, nor can the supreme art of its photography be questioned.

Another feature of the Triangle shows is the superb incidental music. The orchestra at Clune's Auditorium is worth the money charged for the whole entertainment and is one of the elements which makes an extraordinarily long evening seem unusually short.

People thought that the dollar house was too ambitious, but if a first-night demonstration is any indication of future business, then a dollar for the best seats just about strikes the motion-picture gait.

Pantages.

Sol Berns is either the lonesomest or the happiest man on the Pantages bill this week. He has no girl in his act. But Sol's Hebrew humor needs the aid of no pretty face to put it over. With one bit of clever monologue and a raft of popular parodies, he gets a hand that draws him back time and time again.

The rest of the show is Girl. There is a strong-arm girl, a muscle-dancer girl, a flock of Parisian girls, some musical girls, a girl quartette and a circus girl.

The four Rennee girls give a pretty dancing review with the settings laid in five different countries.

The four Gillespie girls, "Harmony Queens," contribute their share of melody to the entertainment. And last, but not—you know—come Holland and Dockerill with their splendid equestrian circus ring act.

Besides, there is some more of "Neal of the Navy" in pictures to complete the bill.

The Orpheum bill this week is a jag of joy. It is also about as quiet as a piano-tuner's convention; so if you're looking for a show enacted in a low, refined tone of voice, don't visit the Orpheum. But if you want to laugh, go.

The first bunch of laughs is put over by Brooks and Bowen, two near-colored lads, who corral a hit with their kidding, singing and dancing. One of them (don't know whether it's Shelton or Clarence) also tickles the ivories a-la ragtime in a way to command delighted admiration. "Can ah play the piano?" he demands of his partner. "Why, man, ah can just naturally whip it to death!" The partner also uses some falsetto notes in his songs that are sure-fire laughs. Shelton Brooks wrote his own songs, which are very good.

Walter C. Kelly, the Virginia judge, at the end of his act, leaves you laughing, and half his cases unheard to go fishing. He is a humorous magazine plus personality, and his characterization of the Virginia judge with a sense of humor, who listens to a crowd of criminals from the pugilistic Irishman to the perennially "stewed" negro, is worthy a place in the comic classics. Among other decisions, he tells the "stewed" negro, who dreamt he died and went to heaven and slid down again on a rainbow, that he can have ten days in jail to pick out the slivers, and he refuses a woman a divorce who says she wants it "because she's done lost her taste for her husband."

Long Tack Sam and his company are a whole vaudeville show in themselves. They juggle, perform tricks of magic, have a contortion act, present a cute almond-eyed daughter of their nation in two vocal selections, the inevitable "Tipperary" and "Chinatown," and Long Tack Sam contributes some real thrills by jumping through a hoop studded on the inside with venemous-looking knife blades. Two other members do acrobatics while hanging from their pigtails. Sam's humor, while whimsical and original, doesn't seem to get over very well.

Pat Rooney and Marion Bent are always welcome as flowers in spring. Pat delivers his dances in a costume that's a cross between a bellboy's uniform and an English "Tommy's," but his steps are just as varied and full of "pep" as ever. They drop the curtain in front of his newstand, and he asks, "who put him out of business," after which follows some of his best steps, and a hilarious line of comedy with a stage hand as the goat.

Emily Francis Hooper and Ellsworth Cook were given the chance they asked for on the programme, and made good in their very pleasing dancing numbers, especially the cake-walk stuff.

Hippodrome.

The Seven Frolicsome Friars leads the long list of offerings at the Hippodrome this week, and their charming spectacular singing and their Friar Tuck costumes create an atmosphere that tends to make their act one of the best in the city this week.

OREGON MAKES 34 POINTS IN THE SECOND HALF.

OREGON CLASS WAS TOO MUCH.

Northerners Punch Line in Second Half.

Also Throw Forward Pass with Success.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Prexy Bovard's well-known football park out university way was the scene of considerable football yesterday, the same being played mainly by a strong, vigorous, robust, sturdy, athletic, sinewy, muscular, stalwart, Herculean, able-bodied, hardy, stout, lusty, powerful, hale, sound, firm, solid, healthy, tough, able, efficient, mighty, potent, compact, impregnable, energetic, violent, impetuous, vehement, forcible, tenacious, cohesive, resisting, strenuous, stanch, compact, puissant bunch of meat-fed athletes from the rival State of Oregon.

UNNECESSARY.

Said foregoing extended remark is perpetrated mainly to demonstrate that it is not absolutely necessary to employ the word "husky" or "huskies" in giving a word picture of a regular football team. "Husky," a good strong word a few years back, has grown feeble and emaciated from overwork. It is entitled to a few hours in which to recuperate.

The U.S.C. team was also present, the affair technically speaking, being a game between U.S.C. and the University of Oregon, but the local talent, sorrowful to relate, did not partake largely of the festivities. However, from this, it should not be inferred that the U.S.C. athletes did not play a part in the general scheme of things. They added to the scenery, which was a role of some importance, the visitors from Oregon having been surrounded by redwoods and other scenery of a very high order since childhood. Without scenery they would have been abashed and ill at ease.

PESSIMIST.

For days and days before the game, Coach Ralph Glaze gave vent to vast volumes of pessimism. Ralph said that U.S.C. didn't have a chance. Many thought that Ralph was kidding. But he wasn't. He had the right dope. The fact that U.S.C. was skunked, 34 to 0, fully justifies his pessimism. Ralph's pessimism was timely and to the point. It has been vindicated.

It is refreshing to meet a man of Mr. Glaze's candor. We herewith hold him up as an illuminating example for our baseball managers and magnates.

Anyway, it was half a football game, and that is worth a dollar of any man's money any old time, in case he happens to have that much money.

GOOD SCRAP.

The U.S.C. athletes put up a stern fight for thirty minutes. They played the visitors to a standstill in the first half, and in so doing covered themselves with considerable glory and large quantities of dirt. During that time neither side was able to seriously endanger the goal of the other, and those unpatriotic citizens, who had made a gentlemanly wager to the effect that Oregon would win the game by a majority of not less than ten points, looked haggard and worn and in need of medical attention at the end of the first half.

At that time it looked like anybody's or nobody's game, neither side having evinced any decided superiority.

However, during the intermission a great change came over the Oregon boys. What passed, the vulgar public never will know, nobody being permitted behind the scenes. Suffice it to say, that Coach Hugo Bezdek barred the door to the gymnasium and held speech with his football team. He is believed to be a convincing talker.

DIFFERENT.

Anyway, when his athletes appeared for the second half each had a strange wild light in his eye and a battle chant on his lips.

And immediately, these people from the State of Oregon began greasing the landscape with our own people. They tore the home team to shreds, seeming to regard it in the light of so much breakfast food. Eight minutes after the judicial whistle screeched for the resumption of hostilities they had drilled their way almost the full length of the field so close to the U.S.C. line that the Oregon captain could spit over the goal posts. However, instead of spitting, he crossed the U.S.C. defenders with a forward pass to Tegart who wrapped his arms around the ball and fell on his face for a touchdown and six points. Bro Huntington then kicked goal from a difficult angle with the accuracy of a guy shooting at a ten cent piece.

THERE YOU ARE.

Prior to this, the Oregonians had tried the forward pass only to have it smeared. With the U.S.C. team at bay between its own goal posts, Beckett resorted to the unexpected and got away with it. It was identical with the play which Bogue of Whittier, tried against Occidental and failed. Wherefore, Mr. Bogue as likened to a bum, while Mr. Beckett was hailed as a great statesman. Such is football.

That was the beginning of the lopsidedness. The affair, which had been a contest up to that point, promptly became a procession and flourished as such until kindly night settled down and obscured the unhappy scene. A

OREGONIANS VERY HAPPY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE (Or.) Nov. 8.—Varsity students and Eugene people were sent wild with jubilation when the final result of the Oregon-University of Southern California game was made known and Bezdek declared a winner by a big margin.

There was little cause to shout as the "tickers" informed those interested of a no-score play for two quarters; wise ones were dubious and shook their heads with misgivings. The finals though, were much appreciated, and now all attention is centered to O.A.C. Assistant Coach Mitchell watched the Aggies drive Idaho all over the lot last Saturday.

"It is the best team I ever saw," said Mitchell.

Aha!

DUNDEE WINS FROM RIVERS.

Rivals Engage in Terrific Engagement.

Mexican Puts up Remarkable Exhibition.

Half Knockdown Loses it for Him.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MILWAUKEE (Wis.) Nov. 8.—The prettiest boxing show Milwaukee has been treated to since Mr. Hedding was kind enough to pass a boxing bill, took place here tonight, when Johnny Dundee and Joe Rivers clashed. It was a corking battle with never an idle minute, but at the end the Scotch-wop had piled up a lead that even a last-chance rally by the Mexican in the tenth round could not overcome.

EXCITING.

For simon-pure excitement it never had its equal. They forgot they were humans and performed like a pair of wildcats, the New Yorker in particular uncovering along with his famous hopping jabs a knockout punch that almost spelled defeat for Rivers in the eighth round, and it was a sliding knockout scored by the Wop in this period that officially clinched the contest for him.

Rivers showed that he isn't a has-been, far be it from such, for no fighter could perform in more brilliant style than did this same Mexican tonight. He was trained to the minute, was fast throughout and despite the killing pace set by his opponent was there at the finish, swapping blow for blow and rush for rush.

REAL EDGE.

There was no question about the edge given Dundee. No lightweight in the world could have beaten him in the thirty minutes of action tonight, in fact, it is doubtful whether there are more than one or two 133-pounders who could have gotten away as easily as did Rivers. He never gave up hope of landing his K. O., and now and then during the melee he beat the Wop at his own game, jabbing.

At the start of the entertainment everything pointed to Dundee. He ran away with three rounds before his rival could get started, but the fourth brought a change. In that round Joe got his left hook into action, catching Johnny once or twice and putting a quietus, for the time being, on his grasshopper tactics. Along about this time the crowd, too, got warmed up to the brilliance of the entertainment, and despite the pleadings of a half score of blue coats, they stood on their chairs and rocked the building with cheers.

THRILLING.

Going into the fifth round, it was a thriller. Dundee was peeved because Rivers had put in several smacks the session before and he rushed across the ring, meeting the Coast performer before he could get his guard up. He lagded three mighty wallops before Joe began swinging his arms in windmill fashion and rushed Johnny around the ring.

As Joe tired, the New Yorker opened up his aerial line of attacks, and he resembled a Chinese puzzle for Rivers. By the time the round was ended so many points had been scored that it was a good hunch to call it even.

EVEN UP.

For the next two rounds the same condition existed, first one boy and then the other getting a lead. The sixth went to Johnny and the seventh to Joe, but the eighth proved the turning point. It was Rivers's turn in this round to start the action with a rush across the ring. He caught Johnny with a smashing body attack and then they started long-distance fighting, with the shade to Dundee.

Here Rivers lost his head and rushed in wide open. This was what Dundee was looking for and before Joe could recover, the Wop put through a left and right to the jaw that shot Rivers across the ring and finally to his hands and knees. He didn't take a count, but the damage was done.

CUB MANAGERS LOOK 'EM OVER.

GOING SOUTH TO PICK SITE FOR A TRAINING CAMP.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—President Thomas and Manager Bresnahan of the Cubs left this afternoon for Florida to inspect sites for a training camp, and to book training games.

When Oregon was beating U.S.C.

Above, Montieth is ploughing along with a wake of would-be tacklers behind him and Oregon men making interference for him. The hard-looking party below is Huntingdon, the individual star of the game. Below him is Tegart reposing behind the U.S.C. line after making the first touchdown of the game on a forward pass. At the bottom of the page, Left End Werner of U.S.C. is seen slipping while trying to dodge an Oregon tackler. Tackles Bartlett and Beckett of Oregon are rushing over to grab him.

Oregon Interference Great.

Revelation.

INTERFERENCE WON THE GAME.

Oregon Protected the Man with the Ball.

Showed All Round Margin of Superiority.

Murray, Jones and Curry in Trojan Calcium.

BY WILLIAM M. HENRY.

The Oregon men bucked better than the Trojans, ran the ends better, had a better use of the forward pass, ran better interference and had a better defense.

VARIED ATTACK.

It was not straight bucking that won for Oregon, it was a varied attack in which the Oregonians proved themselves masters of every style of play, offensive and defensive.

Keeping Huntington, the star quarter-back, out of the game for almost the entire first half until he knew every weak spot in the Trojan defense, headek shot him into the game the last minute of the first half, his head jammed with orders.

HAMMERING.

When U.S.C. kicked off to Oregon in the second half, the men from the north commenced a steady hammering march through and off tackle to the two-yard line where they were held for three downs. Then Huntington crossed the Trojans with a neat forward pass over the line for a score.

The Oregon team didn't go on the field twenty pounds heavier to the man than U.S.C. If their margin was five pounds, it didn't look it. But they were faster than the Trojans and in better condition.

GREEN.

"We beat U.S.C.," said Bill Hayward, trainer of the Oregon team, "because they didn't know football. They couldn't block in the line of run interferences and their tackling was bad. Their forward pass was good when it worked, but wasn't covered against interception. They also had no defense against the forward pass."

All of which seems to sum up the situation very fully.

However, it falls to give U.S.C. credit for a fine battle put up in the first half when the Trojans held the northerners to a dead heat and played sensational football. The short forward pass was working fine and the Trojan defense was exceedingly strong.

JONES GOOD.

Jones and Curry on the right side of the line played a fine game throughout, although Jonesy fot wobbly towards the end and spent most of his time in argument. The U.S.C. back field couldn't get started.

Jeffy Craig was a big disappointment. He punted fairly well and forward-passed in a manner never before seen on a local field, but his accuracy hardly was equal to his steam and most of his long forward passes went wild.

The real sensation of the game was Murray, the U.S.C. quarter. What he has been doing on the sidelines nobody knows. It was the unanimous opinion of the Oregon players that Murray was the best Trojan on the field.

DEFENSIVE.

Murray's defensive work was perfect, his hard tackling saving several scores, or at least staving them off for the time being. He is not as flashy a runner as Mallette, but the latter runs three or four yards side ways for every one he goes ahead. Murray also showed that he had something above his neck besides a headgear.

Capt. Livernash shot through inckle on several occasions for good gains but the Oregon linemen were sifting through the Trojan forwards so speedily that he seldom had a chance to get started.

Capt. Beckett of Oregon played a smashing game on the defensive and pulled off several fine runs from punt formation. Hisley at center played a wonderful defensive game. Huntington proved himself to be one of the greatest smashing runners seen here in a long time.

INTERFERENCE.

Where Oregon won was in her interference. There were half a dozen men in front of the runner all the time and Trojans were tumbling in all directions from the force of their hard running.

The Oregon linemen opened holes in the U.S.C. forward defense and then three or four backs lunged through the opening ahead of the men with the ball. Small wonder that Oregon was able to win.

CONN AND ASSISTANTS TRAMP OVER SANTA ANA.

Two Touchdowns and Two Drop Kicks for Seay's Aggregation Wipe Out the Championship Aspirations of the Pestilanders — Trago of Santa Ana Arrives After the Game Starts.

PASADENA HIGH literally stamped the football championship aspirations of Santa Ana under yesterday afternoon on the Pasadena gridiron, when the champions were handed a 19 to 0 beating.

Conn not only played a fast and clever game, but his large gains against Santa Ana surpassed by far any of his playing so far this year. His consistent speed demon was responsible for a big majority of the gains made by his team while on the offensive. Tully was not satisfied with making scores work alone, but smeared every move started by Santa Ana before it could have started by Santa Ana behind their own line.

Conn showed marked improvement over his drop kicking in the Pasadena-Los Angeles High contest by booting over two beautiful drops in as many tries.

After winning their game from Santa Ana yesterday, Pasadena practically clinched the championship in the league. They have as yet to play the Long Beach squad, but Pasadena is expected to be easier for Conn than the Santa Ana game, as Santa Ana downed the Long Beach team last week by a 6-to-0 score. Should Long Beach win over the Pasadena championship aspirants by a fluke of luck, itw ould leave Pasadena and Santa Ana still tied for championship.

Although the Santa Ana line outplayed the Pasadena forwards nearly 20 pounds to the man and was proved to be the best in the Prep league of the south, Pasadena had no trouble in finding the holes and getting a man through for large gains. However, the big gains for Pasadena were made by long end runs.

The big scares were thrown into the Santa Ana rooters when the game had barely started. Trago, their star quarter-back, was responsible for the first of the many worries handed the fans by not showing up until a few minutes after the game had started. He was rushed into his suit and out on the field in an attempt to save the team from being scored upon in the first minute of play. Trago got his team out of apparent danger when he punted to Pasadena's 20-yard line as soon as he got the ball. Tully Conn came into prominence by receiving the ball and went through and swerving through Trago and the rest of the Santa Ana players for a touchdown. However, the play was not allowed by Referee Abbott, as Conn had gone out of bounds on a scant few inches and the ball was brought back to the middle of the field.

After they had gained a 10-to-1 lead in the first half, the Pasadena players opened up in the third quarter and tried a number of forward passes and made several substantial gains by this method. Santa Ana took a brace in the third and pulled off one of the cleanest Rugby passes seen this season when Brown made a long Rugby pass to Trago for a 25-yard gain.

Pasadena started in with their scoring by Conn shoving over a drop kick from the 15-yard line within the first few minutes of play. Again in the second quarter Pasadena rushed the ball to Santa Ana's 30-yard line. Conn, on the fourth down with 7 yards to go, Lavagino shot a forward pass to Conn, who received it on the 5-yard line and ran the rest of the way to a touchdown. Horrell kicked the goal, giving Pasadena a 13-0 lead at the end of the first half.

Conn in the third quarter the individual star proved to be a drop-kicker by booting over one from the 25-yard line. The last score came in the third quarter when Conn intercepted a forward pass on Santa Ana's own 5-yard line and was not downed until he reached the 5-yard line. Two plays sent Gard over for the second touchdown. Horrell failed to kick the goal, making the final score 19 to 0.

Although the game was a fight from start to finish, both teams put up a clean game. During the whole game only one change was necessary in the original line-up. Coach Conn removed Moore from the game during the latter part of the game, as he had been sick for a week and was not in good shape. Harrison, playing right guard for Santa Ana, was the only player in the game enough to necessitate a change of time.

Trago, after making a long kick, got the ball on his 30-yard line. He made the first down by a run of 10 yards by Conn brought the ball to the middle of the field. Trago then punted over a drop kick for the extra point. Here the defense of Pasadena and Conn showed up to good advantage, as Trago's punt went only to the 50-yard line, giving Pasadena possession of the ball for the second time in the game. Conn and Lavagino made an exchange of punts and then, after the ball had been passed to Conn, and Conn had been downed in his tracks by Brown, Conn gave Irvine an easy chance at a drop kick from the 25-yard line, but Irvine failed to make good. Upon receiving the ball on the 20-yard line, Pasadena carried the ball to Santa Ana's 5-yard line, by virtue of the wonderful runs of Conn and Gard, who carried the ball first down and to the 5-yard line. Conn failed to gain and Gard over for the last score. Horrell failed to kick goal. Score: Pasadena, 19; Santa Ana, 0. The third quarter ended with Santa Ana in possession of the ball on their own 40-yard line.

During the last quarter both teams tried many forward passes and punts. Conn and Trago each intercepted a forward pass, Conn getting away for a few yards before he was downed in his tracks. Just before the game ended, Trago punted to Conn, who fumbled the ball on his own 5-yard line, but Conn recovered the ball and passed to Trago, who was in Pasadena's 20-yard line. Just before the game ended, Lavagino intercepted a forward pass on his 10-yard line.

Besides Conn, Gard and Lavagino both played an excellent game and deserve much credit for their victory. Trago and Stewart, captain, were the shining lights of the defeated squad.

Following is the line-up:

ELECT OFFICERS AT VICTORIA CLUB.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 8. — The old board of directors of the Victoria Club has been re-elected for another year, with Dr. A. D. Cameron as president; J. C. O'Dell as vice-president; and W. A. Publow, P. T. Evans, Robin Skelley, Arthur Childs and Frank D. Hudson as the other members.

Standing committees are named as follows:

Hnadicapping Committee — Dr. C. W. Girdlestone, Arthur Childs.

With an active and interested membership of more than 200, the club was never stronger, and a busy and interesting season of golf is planned. Club handicap tournaments will be played each week-end, and the Victoria team will participate in the interclub matches of the Southern California Association. The ladies of the club are also planning a busy season.

COMPTON WINS FROM REDONDO.

BEACH TEAM SWAMPED UNDER AN AVALANCHE OF POINTS.

The Compton High School football team continued its free and untrammeled career by handing out a 46-to-0 defeat to Redondo yesterday.

The all-around play of the winners was fine and there were so many features that it is hard to pick out a star. Booth, however, for the winners, made several long runs, as did Harms.

Compton meets Venice High Saturday at Compton in the big game of the year. Neither team has been defeated to date, and the winner will practically have cinched the Bay League championship. The line-ups:

Compton.		Redondo.
Hardecker	L.E.	Bledsoe
Owen	L.T.	Babcock
Livingston	L.G.	VanEyck
Rodrigues	C.	Jenkins
Reiner	R.G.	Sherra

ERTLE MAKES GOOD SHOWING.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Johnny Ertle of St. Paul, who recently won on a foul from the bantamweight titleholder, "Kid" Williams, made a good impression in his first bout here tonight, outpointing Abe Friedman of New York, who held the New York State amateur bantamweight title last winter. Ertle forced the pace despite the fact that his opponent had the advantage of reach and height.

EASTERN FOOTBALL.

CHICAGO.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 8.—Speed and then more speed, was the cry of Coach Stagg as he began the task of putting the polish on the plays Chicago will employ in their game against the Gophers at Minneapolis on Saturday. The Wizard of the Midway had his men on Stagg field this afternoon and was sending them through the intricate formations which he hopes to spring more against the heavy northern team.

Coach Stagg has a combination of the punishing short backs, and a combination of the speedsters, and he proved this afternoon that all of the players who participated in the Haskell Indian game escaped without injury, save Kuipechil, the substitute quarterback who was on the team. He's out with a dislocated shoulder.

CORNELL.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ITHACA (N. Y.) Nov. 8.—This was the usual Monday holiday in the Cornell football camp though it is only dull save by the glory lingering over the victory of last Saturday. Not a man failed to get his goat, least of all Coach Dobie, who left for Washington and Lee yesterday afternoon. He said (Joe is never quoted) that he was pleased with the way his proteges had come through, but that Cornell has to fight now in over-confidence and holding the opposing teams too cheaply, and the coaches hope to overcome that tendency. Dobie returned to the team reported this evening in good condition, though the star ends, Shelton and Bailey, are both suffering from bad bruises.

YALE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 8.—Plays by Tom Shevlin and Frank Hinkey followed by more than an hour's signal rehearsal comprised today's football programme. Hinkey reviewed the Harvard-Princeton game at which he acted as Yale scout, while Sheffield outlined the plans for Yale's campaign against Princeton this week and pointed out the weak points in the Tiger's defense. The Yale team will play their fourth of consecutive 60-minute games against heavy men Saturday. Hinkey said that Harvard and Princeton have unusually strong backfield men, and that Yale will have to use a shift with its countless variations was used extensively. It will be the backbone of the Yale attack next Saturday.

HARVARD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CAMBRIDGE (Mass.) Nov. 8.—Soldiers' Field was deserted this afternoon so far as varsity football players were concerned. Percy Haughton gave strict orders that none of the players were to report for practice. Saturday should pass the gates and the coaches also took a day off, spending only a short time with the second and third squad candidates. Of the men who played against the Jersey men only Harris, the substitute quarter who was in the game only as a measure of precaution, failed to report. He played the final few minutes, were on the field. The varsity players, however, came through the Princeton game in fine trim. The regulars will turn out for practice again tomorrow for they have a hard week ahead.

PRINCETON.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PRINCETON (N. J.) Nov. 8.—Princeton is not letting up in its work and began today to limber up the team for the game with Yale next Saturday. Rush ordered every man to report at the field for the afternoon practice in spite of the hard work of last Saturday and will keep the men in good shape for the final game. All players are were on hand excepting Gemert and Driggs. Gemert is the only man on the squad who is troubled and Trainer Fitzpatrick announced his injuries minor. The regulars who took part in the Harvard game were excused from scrimmage.

ILLINOIS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

URBANA (Ill.) Nov. 8.—Harold Pogue returned to the Illinois line-up tonight. The great halfback, who has been out of the game entirely since October 16, remained only long enough to make two big gains. The Illini were greatly cheered by his speed, which didn't seem to have suffered and with no bad luck this week the runner will play against Wisconsin.

The Illini line-up, save Capt. Watson and Applegren, scrimmaged well tonight. Watson and Applegren are being rested because of injuries, but the Illini leader at least will return to the game tomorrow. Potter and Graham appeared to the line in place of the regulars.

MICHIGAN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ANN ARBOR (Mich.) Nov. 8.—Benton and Ehrenwein, the former regular varsity end and the latter a substitute varsity halfback, have been eliminated from the Michigan team. This information was forthcoming tonight when Coach Yost posted the list of varsity players who will be taken to Philadelphia for the last game of the Wales schedule on Saturday. Benton is the player who was guilty of an act of insubordination on Saturday when he argued with Yost over his style of play against Cornell. Ehrenwein played with a town team in a game on Sunday against an eleven of Detroit professionals and has thus made himself ineligible for competition with the varsity. This afternoon was chiefly spent in signal practice and in an attempt to remedy some of the numerous individual faults uncovered in Saturday's clash.

COVALESKIE TO GET A TRYOUT.

PORTLAND PITCHER WILL BE WITH THE NAPS NEXT YEAR.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Nov. 8.—Stanley Covaleskie, who has just arrived in Portland from San Francisco, admitted that he had been told by Manager McCredie some little time ago that he would be given a chance to show what he could do in the majors next season.

When questioned closely Covaleskie would not admit anything at first. He was as communicative as the Sphinx, and when told that other men in a position to know had made the prediction that he would go higher up Stanley unbuckled and admitted that while in Los Angeles during the last two weeks of the season Walter McCredie had asked him whether he had any objections to going to the majors. Strange to say, Stanley had not, and then Mac imparted the joyful news that he intended to send him to the Naps.

So?

PEACE COMING SAYS GILMORE.

Fed Meeting may be Very Exciting.

Two Teams may Forfeit Franchises.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 8.—Something more than routine business is billed to come off at Indianapolis tomorrow when the Federal League moguls gather for their annual meeting. Until yesterday the impression prevailed that the club owners would merely assemble, pass the time of day, award the 1915 pennant to Tinker's Whales, and adjourn. With the advent, however, of President James A. Gilmore in Chicago yesterday, a different prospect is in the making.

MYSTERY.

Gilmore went into star chamber session with President Weeghman of the Whales. After this canfab Weeghman voiced the opinion that nothing of a sensational nature would transpire in the Hoosier metropolis.

Gilmore, however, "crossed" the North Side executive with the announcement that the franchises of the Kansas City and Buffalo clubs would be forfeited tomorrow unless backers of these organizations stepped to the front with money due the league.

FORFEIT.

According to Gilmore, neither the Buffeds nor Packers met their obligations during the 1915 campaign, and if settlements are not made tomorrow the league will take over the holdings.

Gilmore put on a silent front when asked if the Kansas City franchise would be turned over to New York, but admitted that the Federals would spring a hot item of news within the next week.

CONFERENCES.

"It is true there have been several peace conferences between magnates of the Federal and National leagues, but nothing of a definite nature has been reached with reference of a consolidation of the two organizations," said Mr. Gilmore.

"The Federals are willing to meet organized baseball half way, but will not concede everything. That is positive. The new organization has mapped out certain policies for 1916, and these will be carried out to the letter in the event the two organizations do not come to an agreement. The new league is set and ready to go the limit and nothing will stop it.

NO REPORT.

"I doubt whether the question will be mentioned. There is nothing to report so far as I know. Organized baseball magnates know the conditions that will end the war. It is a gigantic proposition and cannot be settled in a day; the chances are it will be a month before an agreement will be reached, if at all.

"In the meantime the Federal League is just as active as ever in preparing for its 1916 season. Mr. Sinclair is ready to start work on his new park in New York and it will be ready for the spring opening regardless of statements to the effect that the companies are too busy to make the steel."

MORE RUMORS.

Rumors were afloat today to the effect that the Federal League magnates would meet certain agents of organized baseball at French Lick Springs and West Baden, and that from this conference on Wednesday and Thursday might come the official statement to the effect that an agreement had been reached.

It is said that much depends upon the purchase of the New York Giants by Harry Sinclair. It is expected that if he succeeds in buying the Giants and is ready to make such an announcement public the proposed amalgamation between the National and Federal leagues will be announced as positive.

BERRY DOESN'T WANT TO SELL.

SEAL OWNER APPEARS AND IS GRANTED HIS DESIRE.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 8.—Henry Berry, owner of the San Francisco Baseball Club, today appeared before the State Corporation Commission and asked that his permit to sell $500,000 worth of stock in the club be revoked. The order will be made. Berry stated that by next year he will reapply for another permit, saying that failure to obtain an extension of land to the ball park made the sale of stock inadvisable at this time. A small quantity of stock already has been sold, and Berry states this will be returned if the purchasers so desire.

BASEBALL GOSSIP.

Walter Bbles of the Angels has wilfully and deliberately taken up golf. He is to be seen on the links almost any day in the week.

While in San Francisco at the minor leagues meeting Maier and Patterson will endeavor to get through a deal which will make Honus Mills manager of the Wichita club in the Western League. Gasoline Gus Hetling had been after the job, but it seems that he was unable to make the riffle.

Retrenchment will be one of the main themes at the minor league meeting in San Francisco. Indications are that this will be a serious session and not punctuated by the noise of exploding wine bottles. The minor league magnates, generally speaking, are now enlisted among our poorest citizens, said condition being the result of two lean years preceded by numerous wasteful ones. They will endeavor to devise ways and means for reducing expenses without lowering the class of ball.

Tom Darmody and Frank Dillon left last night for San Francisco to join the happy throng. In case Dillon does not remain with the Angels, it is probable that steps will be taken to place him with some other club at the Coast League meeting. It is known that Powers and Darmody both figure on a change, providing that they can get the man they want.

President Powers believes that the Coast League season should be shortened to end not later than the close of the world series. He will not urge this reform, but would vote for it should it be proposed.

Bert Whaling, secured from Boston by the Tigers, adheres to his determination not to play on the Coast if he can help it. Whaling said right after the deal that he didn't intend to leave the majors just yet. Pittsburgh wants him, and Dreyfuss may buy his release from Vernon. Maier promised to place Whaling with some major league club in case a deal could be arranged.

Barney Oldfield still wants to buy an interest in the Los Angeles club, and Frank Chance would be willing to go in cahoots with him in case the price is satisfactory. They have not yet seen Darmody. "Nobody has spoken to me about selling," said Darmody prior to his departure for the north. "My stock is not on the market, but I would sell it if offered enough. I also presume that Rockefeller would sell the Standard Oil Company if anybody should bid high enough." To associate Oldfield and Chance with the Los Angeles club would be a popular move, and if the latter should buy in he probably would be installed as manager. However, Chance would demand a large, juicy block of stock before he would consider such a move.

McGaffigan, short-stop of the Lincoln club in the Western League, will battle Don Rader for that position on the Vernon club next spring, in case Maier can put through a deal for him. Negotiations have been in progress for some time, and may be completed in San Francisco. McGaffigan was drafted by Chicago, but refused to report, the 25 per cent raise in salary not appealing to him. Hughey Jones, owner of the Lincoln club, speaks highly of McGaffigan's work. He hit .295 last season.

GOES NORTH TO PLAY CHAMPION.

Mrs. Bundy is in Excellent Condition.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA MONICA, Nov. 8.—Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, former national tennis champion, accompanied by her husband, Thomas Bundy and her sister, Miss Florence Sutton, left tonight for San Francisco, where Mrs. Bundy will meet the phenomenal Norwegian player, Miss Molla Bjurstedt.

Mrs. Bundy goes north with the confidence that she will uphold her usual high standard of play. The San Francisco games will be played November 12, 14, 15, and the final game will be played Thanksgiving Day on the Virginia Hotel courts at Long Beach.

Though it is not the custom of Mrs. Bundy to practice for a big match, during the last few weeks she has been playing some hard sets on the Santa Monica courts. Some of the best women players in the Southland have had trials with the former champion. Mrs. Bruce, her sister, and one of the best Southern California court performers, has been giving Mrs. Bundy hard daily workouts.

Mrs. Bruce says that she is well acquainted with the Norwegian's style of playing and where the weakness of such play lies. Mrs. Bruce has conducted a rapid-fire criticism of Mrs. Bundy's plays and any faulty points that were made.

Mrs. Bundy has also played some sets with Mrs. Widdowson and Mrs. Farquhar, Tennis players in Southern California believe that the character of Mrs. Bundy's playing, when one considers that she had no intention of entering championship matches after her marriage, is remarkable.

SIX-DAY BIKE RACE UP NORTH.

FIRST EVENT OF ITS KIND IN FIVE YEARS TO BE HELD.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7.—A six-day bicycle race is to be staged in San Francisco, the first in five years, according to announcement made here tonight. Joe Fogler, professional cyclist of Brooklyn, has completed plans for the race to be held here beginning January 19 and ending January 26.

Fogler is said to have received a sanction for the meet from the National Cycling Association.

Yes, Once More.

RACES AGAIN AT TROPICO.

THREE EVENTS ON PROGRAMME OF ANNUAL AFFAIR.

Motorcycle, Juvenile Car and Fifty-mile Free-for-all Speed Duels to be Held Thanksgiving Day—Fast Drivers to be at Wheels. Cash Prizes for Winners.

The citizens of Tropico are arranging for a big affair on Thanksgiving Day. An automobile race with some of the fastest cars and the best drivers in Southern California is promised. The Trustees of the city have sanctioned the race. The contest will be managed by W. A. Chapman. This is expected to be the biggest event of its kind for some time. It is estimated that 20,000 people will be in attendance. Everything is being done for the comfort and pleasure of the guests.

This is the second anual Tropico road race. The cars will start and finish in the heart of the city and will race through the main streets. The turns will be banked and baled hay will be placed at the most dangerous points. The streets will be roped off and patrolled and every effort made to avoid possibility of accidents.

There will be three events. A motorcycle race as an opener, a juvenile car race, followed by a final fifty mile free-for-all. Cash prizes will be awarded and trophies presented to the winners.

HARNESS MEET IS POSTPONED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.—Today's programme of harness racing at the Panama-Pacific Exposition track was called off because of rain.

By reason of winning the "triple crown" this year Pomwern not only stands out as the best three-year-old on the English turf, but he heads the list of money value also, his earnings amounting to nearly $85,000, Lord Rosebery is third on the list of winning owners on the flat, while Lord Derby is ninth. The horse racing season has closed in England, but continues in Ireland.

ANNA HELD HERE FOR FILM WORK.

Attractive as When She Sang of Misbehaving Eyes.

Unveils a Little of Secret About Prince.

BY GRACE KINGSLEY.

Looking as alluringly pretty as the day she first told us about the trouble she was having with her refractory eyes, Anna Held arrived in the city yesterday afternoon via the Salt Lake, to appear in pictures for the Oliver Morosco Photoplay Company.

Then a taxi full of reporters and Anna Held was bundled up to the Alexandria, where Miss Held posed for some more pictures. One reporter bumped his head cruelly when he attempted the double feat of entering the taxi and bowing. Miss Held impulsively patted the bumped spot and the reporter vowed he'd never cut his hair.

"Did she have a pleasant trip? Oh, oui. And a friend in Chicago had specially shooted some partridges for her, which she ate, one each day, on the train. So lovely they cooked them on the train, with bacon and the—what you call them?—the little paper socks."

Asked concerning that wonderful and mysterious Russian prince, supposed to have followed Miss Held across the water, Miss Held admitted reluctantly to the royal admirer.

"Ah, my God, that is not to speak of. Only a little I tell you. Yes, we are engaged, but Florine isn't his name, not a bit, not at all. He is very great man, and it is hard for him to let me be on the stage. And then suppose don't marry him after all—well, all right, one loses one prince, one gets another—is it not so? I will show you his present, the most wonderful pearls you ever saw."

And she did.

And Pictures, Too.

"Yes, I am sure I shall like the pictures," continued the bewitching Anna. "It is all something so new to me. And always I have wanted to do so some serious work. They won't let me be serious on the stage."—even as she speaks I have a guilty recollection of a frivolous story I wrote once about Miss Held playing "Romeo and Juliet," and singing, "Oh, Won't You Come Out and Play Wiz Me?"—"and now I shall show if I have real dramatic talent."

War Note.

"The war? Ah, that is too terrible to talk about. Everybody in this country should take a trip through Europe. It would be so good for you. You would all come back saying: 'Ah, thank God for peace.'

"Paris is black darkness at night, only one light on each street. And when the Zeppelins raid, it is so dreadful. I was in Paris for eighteen months. A small company of us were given $4 a day each to entertain the wounded soldiers.

"The very saddest sight I saw was the crowd of blind soldiers in a hall where we sang. The expressions on their faces were too pitiful."

Among Those Present.

Miss Held was accompanied by a maid, her Pekinese spaniel, and by Miss Lina Carrara, a talented young woman, who appeared at the Orpheum last season.

The French actress is today selecting a bungalow from among the five which her agents here have chosen as possibilities.

Realism and Reality.

Manager Montrose yesterday stated that it was quite possible Miss Held may appear at the Morosco in a new stage production, following her picture work. Miss Held admits she has a number of new songs, which she would be willing to hear herself sing in public.

By-by, Lizzie.

Elizabeth Burbridge, formerly of the Morosco Photoplay Company, went to Chicago yesterday to accept a six months' engagement with the Essany.

Some Party.

Spreckels Gets Three-a-Day.

The Spreckels Theater in San Diego, one of the most beautiful and best-equipped theaters in the West, was yesterday taken over by the Hippodrome management, and the regular Hippodrome vaudeville will be played in the house, which has sheltered, a host of legitimate stars.

Novel Setting.

There's a brand new big idea in theatrical stage settings used in "On Trial," shortly to come to the Mason.

If you could be present at a rehearsal when they don't turn out the lights, this is what you would see—a court scene all set, and the actors on it going through their lines. When it comes to the point for the dark change, you would see the entire stage swung back to the left on a pivot that holds it fast to the front left-hand side of the stage. And while this scene was being swung back to the left, other stage hands would be swinging into position a second stage, which is held by a pivot to the right-hand front end of the stage, so arranged that under no circumstances could it be swung into the wrong position.

Then there is the costuming. While one stage is being swung back, dressers rush to the actors and start changing their specially-designed clothing, and those who must be in the close of one of the courtroom scenes and also in the opening of one of the cut-back scenes are furnished with new garb as they rush from the receding stage to the oncoming one.

With the Merry-Merry.

Louis B. Jacobs is preparing to open the Empress Theater with musical comedy next Sunday afternoon. "Have You Seen Stella" is the ear-tickling name of the revue with which the house will be lighted up.

The cast will include Rena Vivienne of "Chocolate Soldier" fame, prima donna, Marjorie Lake, a soubrette with an eastern reputation; Mae Semon, ingenue; Bonnie Leonard, Lillie Lewis, Joe Lee, Dave Caston, Lew Virden, Robert McGreer, Paisley Noon and Byron Brown.

There are to be three performances daily.

The house has been renovated and redecorated, and promises to be a very cosy place of entertainment.

Anna Held, the bewitching,

CLUBMEN TO PLAY TIGERS.

The L.A.A.C.-Occidental game has again been definitely decided upon and this time it is to be played on Wednesday. We have received positive assurances from both sides of the argument that the game will be played tomorrow on the Occidental campus and nothing will make them change their minds again.

Capt. Sid Neighbors says that he is going to beat the Tigers. He saw the way Pipal's men played against Whittier and says that if that's the best they can do, he can lick 'em.

In order that the young of our city may profit by the grand example of the L.A.A.C. Sid says that all high school students will be admitted for the small price of two bits per.

Come to Order.

BAUM MEETS DELEGATES AND CALLS FOR ORDER.

Rains Delay Delegates in Sierras for Five Hours, but Convention of Minor Leagues will Open Today. Peaceful Session Expected—Tip O'Neill After Western Presidency.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.—Though storms in the Sierras have caused a five-hour delay to the special train which is bringing a large delegation from the East to the annual convention of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, scheduled to open here tomorrow, a preliminary meeting of the board of arbitration, arranged for this evening, was not postponed.

President Al T. Baum of the Pacific Coast League met the incoming delegates at Sacramento, and the meeting was held while the train completed the journey.

Many delegates are already on the ground, and the consensus of opinion tonight was that the convention would be a peaceable one, despite rumors to the contrary. While it was expected that a strong endeavor would be made by "Tip" O'Neill to retain the presidency of the Western League, W. A. Rourke of Omaha and E. T. Hanlon of Sioux City, Iowa, declared tonight that his fight would be a losing one.

Delegates of the Texas League, one of the strongest of the class B organizations, have planned a sharp contest to obtain more liberal drafting considerations for leagues of that class.

They claim that after leagues of AA and A caliber have finished drafting from the class C and D organizations the class B clubs are forced to take the leavings. This, it is contended, is not fair, inasmuch as the class B organizations are forced to pay the sale draft prices, as do the leagues of higher classification.

The first business session is set for 2 p.m. tomorrow.

thirty-yard pass, Huntington to Mitchell and a goal netted seven more points in the third quarter. Resorting to passes, bucks, toe holds and other devious devices, the Oregonians negotiated three more touchdowns in the final quarter.

EVERYTHING.

Aside from failing to kick one goal, [illegible]'s athletes did not overlook anything as far as could be seen. The main trouble with us seems to be that we took a few years off down this way to monkey with Rugby while the Oregon folk were making a deep study of American football. As a result, their athletes are further advanced in the subtle science of making first downs.

The crowd gradually gathered at a dollar a throw, and as early as 2 o'clock strange noises were to be heard. However, not until 2:45 did the rooting begin on an organized basis. Then the college men and women began to chatter in concert and with concentration of purpose. There was but little rival rooting, hardly anybody being here from Oregon, while it didn't occur to the Oregon team to give its own college yell. As a matter of fact, a football team traveling around the country should carry along its own yells. These could be howled between plays, and would tend to demoralize the opposition.

EXCITED.

Soon the playful folk in the stands began to get into the spirit of the occasion and squirted confetti at those coming in.

At 2:55, the clubhouse disgorged the U.S.C. athletes. Physically, they displayed none of the weakness and feebleness with which they had been depicted. They all appeared to be well-nourished, and fully as large as the blue-clad Oregonians who galloped in from the opposite corner of the lot five minutes later. If there was any discrepancy in weight it was not visible to the naked eye. On the basis of beef there seemed but little to choose between the two teams. Of the two, Oregon seemed to be trained a little closer to the bone.

WATCHING 'EM.

For the first twenty-five minutes of play, Coach Bezdek seemed content with analyzing the U.S.C. play. During this time he was grooming Huntington on the side line. He dissected every play, sotto voice, with his star quarter. Then, a few minutes before the end of the half he sent Huntington into the lie-up. The style of play changed immediately, and Oregon was just beginning to show a trace of its real form when the whistle tooted.

In the second half, Oregon became very businesslike, and crashed up and down the lines until Malarkey, throwing his feet in everybody's face, dove between the Cardinal and Gold posts for the final touchdown.

The Oregon colors are lemon yellow and pale green—rather delicate shades behind which to screen a collection of bone-crushers.

AMATEUR PLAYERS BRING JOY TO SOCIETY FOLK.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

The Amateur Players are positively presenting the best vaudeville show in town this week at the Little Theater. Fortunately for rival houses the last performance takes place this evening, and every seat in the house will fetch $2 for the Children's Hospital.

It was a brilliant social gathering that was present at the Little Theater last evening—a strictly membership affair, and there was not a vacant seat. And when you learn that no less an emotion singer than Constantino, not only sang, but sang twice and enthralled the audience, you will perceive that vaudeville has got into society with both feet. The Little Theater made enough noise for the Temple Auditorium and the great opera star received the sole bouquet to his evident embarrassment.

But first two playlets were presented. The first was a naughty little skit in which a German and an Englishman agree to share an apartment for the sake of an adorable Irish landlady—Mrs. Harry Turner. And just when they have agreed that both are quite decent chaps, the newsboys shout the extras—and it's awful. Courtenay Foote wrote the play and played the Englishman, making him an entirely satisfactory "silly ass." Roy Silent played the German in the gentle sentimental manner.

The second playlet, "The Simple Life," written by Frank Elliott, who cast himself for the other man was tabloid cynicism undiluted. Mrs. Jack Niven, as the wife, was an inimitable minx; Courtenay Foote, as the husband, a sumptuous hypocrite; Miss Gertrude King, as the other woman, without a line to speak, the personification of seductive naughtiness, and Mrs. Walter Leeds, as the maid, almost suggested the superfluity of any husband patronizing any but domestic industries.

And then came the cabaret-vaudeville for which Mrs. Ralph Williams was responsible. They should hasten to secure her as manager-in-chief of the Orpheum circuit. The very scenery was dashing and intense—broad black and white stripes and an unwinking moon that easily accounted for the most outrageous behavior. No one could behave, according to Mrs. Grundy with a moon like that.

ARTISTIC TABLEAUX.

A series of tableaux, beginning with Mrs. Rufus Spalding as "The Eternal Question" proved entirely artistic, the while a garden cafe scene gave vast scope for a large and stylish cast. Mr. Goodwin who played an inebriated gentleman who never forgot his manners, but turned the most alarming somersaults in full-evening dress without even discommoding his tie, was a genius.

The male quartette was harmonious and handsome, and when Blake Smith sang his "You Haunt Me, Don't you Want Me, Honey, I Love, I Love You" song directly into Miss Mildred Landreth's eyes, we felt it was hardly good form to intrude. Miss Landreth herself sang some delicious little coon sonks in a style a professional vaudevillian would enevy.

And the dancing. First Miss Dorothy Williams, an emerald green fairy, with Robert Smith for Pierrot partner, in violent black and white. And then Miss Emmeline Childs, a white and silver fairy, with Earl Fox for dancing partner. These two treated us to an emotional dance, replete with a disturbing love scene that made us all feel a little shy.

MAKES A TEST CASE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VENICE, Nov. 8.—T. H. Schiermeyer, who operates a chuck-a-luck game on the Windward avenue pier, submitted to arrest this afternoon in order to make a test case of it in the Superior Court. Arraignment was held immediately in Justice Rennie's court and the defendant after a plea of not guilty, was released on his own recognizance, to appear for preliminary hearing Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The complaint in the case was issued by Deputy District Attorney Keyes.

YOUNG ATTELL GETS BEATEN ON FOUL.

Nobody Sees Blow Land, not Even Referee, and Fans Shout Disapproval of Verdict—Sunday Nelson Tries to Get Abe to Continue but Latter Leaves Arena.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

DENVER, Nov. 8.—[illegible]kum, Denver's iron man, was disqualified tonight in his bout with Young Abe Attell of Denver, in the eighth round of a scheduled ten-round bout at the N.A.C.

After Attell had all the best of the contest, outfighting, outpointing, outgeneraling his opponent, he suddenly in the eight round claimed foul, which nobody in the building seen, and after a few seconds of [illegible]tation, Referee Georgs awarded the bout to Attell.

Attell jumped around the ring, ling from one corner to the claiming that he was hit [illegible] the crowd was immediately in a roar, shouting and hooting their approval of the action of the referee.

It was the general opinion that Attell should have continued, as it seemed to be as strong when he made the claim of foul as he was at the beginning of the contest. There was another black eye for the fans here. As the fans left the park they yelled for their money back, in the same voice yelled that they would never patronize another show that would be held under the present management.

Yoakum protested against the decision and offered to do everything in his power to have Attell continue the contest, but Attell immediately left the ring and retired to his dressing room.

Running German Bomb Plots to Earth

The chief feature-article in THE LITERARY DIGEST for November 6th deals in the most comprehensive manner with the plots against ammunition exports that have been uncovered in this country since the war began.

This article is strikingly illustrated with special photographs, one of which shows the disquieting possibilities that may lurk behind innocent-looking exteriors. For instance, a suit case next to you in a street car or a quiet house on your street may hide enough explosive to wreck a block. All the ramifications of what appears to be a widespread plot against United States industries are clearly shown.

This number of THE LITERARY DIGEST is particularly rich in other subjects of interest to the great American public, among which may be mentioned;

Week by week THE LITERARY DIGEST is presenting the most satisfying perspective of the world's thought and action. All sides of all subjects under discussion are given wholly without bias or editorial coloring.

German Officials Gage American Public Opinion by It

That it accurately mirrors American public opinion to Europeans, is indicated by the fact that a gentleman just returned from Europe who has had the advantage of intimate relations with high official circles in Germany, state that "THE LITERARY DIGEST is read regularly every week at the German Imperial Headquarters for an impartial expression of American public opinion, because it is known to be wholly uninfluenced by any consideration except to give an accurate and an all-sided reflex of public opinion everywhere." BOY MAY DIE AT PASADENA.

Auto Wrenches His Spine as it Runs Over Him.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, Nov. 9.—Arthur Allen, 7-year-old son of Mrs. Frances Chapman of No. 254 South Euclid avenue, is in the Pasadena Hospital suffering from a wrenched spine, which it is feared will prove fatal, as a result of being run over by an automobile driven by H. A. Nicholson of No. 417 Market street, San Francisco, who is now in Los Angeles at the Stillwell Hotel.

Oblivious to everything else except that he was going on an errand for his mother, and whistling his little heart's happiness, the child darted from behind an automobile and stepped directly in front of the Los Angeles man's machine, at El Dorado drive and South Las Robles avenue. Mr. Nicholson stopped his car at once, and gathering the little fellow tenderly in his arms he rushed him to the Emergency Hospital for treatment. Later he was carried to the Pasadena Hospital.

Although suffering so much pain that he could not give his mother's name for an hour, little Arthur was game and struggled manfully to keep back the tears. He was not unconscious.

The front wheel of the car passed over his body, badly wrenching his back, injuring his hip and inflicting serious internal injuries. Until an X-ray examination was made it was thought his back was broken.

According to witnesses, Nicholson was in no way to blame, as the child ran right in front of his machine and so close that it was impossible to stop the car before the accident. Mrs. Chapman came here only a few days ago to live. She was almost prostrated when taken to the bedside of her little boy.

MYSTERIOUS FIRE.

The third mysterious fire in the last few months was discovered early last night in the Cyclone Dye Works, No. [illegible] Fillman street. The first of these fires was when the Troy Laundry was completely destroyed at a loss of about $60,000. The other was several months ago when the Union Feed & Fuel Company was burned to the ground with several thousand tons of [illegible].

When the last fire was discovered at the dye works, G. L. Nelson, with his family was in Los Angeles, returning there just after the blaze had been extinguished. He told the police that clothing valued at $50 and silverware worth $30 had been stolen from the shop.

Mr. Nelson is certain that the fire was set on fire to cover up the theft as he declared he never used gasoline or any other inflammable about. A night watchman in the shop next door saw a light in Nelson's place at 8 o'clock.

CITY BRIEFS.

Although the names of the backers have not been disclosed, it was reported here yesterday that a new club would soon be organized in the Crown City, the object of which will be to bring about closer relations between visitor and the resident, not as a business project, but purely social. Several sites in the business districts are already under consideration, for the contemplated large quarters.

Nearly 200 Pasadena school teachers left yesterday morning on the San Diego Santa Fe special, where they will remain a week attending the teachers' institute.

BOSS SHOOTS MEXICAN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BARSTOW, Nov. 8.—Salverio Ni[illegible], a Mexican, about 30 years old, employed at the round house was shot in the stomach today by Juan Delgado, section boss, in a dispute over Ni[illegible]'s attention to Delgado's daughter. Nigrito was given emergency treatment by Dr. Mason and started for the County Hospital, but died en route at the summit. Delgado will be sent to the County Jail under a charge of murder. He claims that Nigrito attacked him and his face and head are badly bruised.

MAKE NIGHT HIDEOUS.

GLENDALE, Nov. 8.—Never again will J. R. Smith and Lewis Gotham of No. 1553 Vine street continue their [illegible]ntries int othe "wee sma'" hours of the night. At 2 o'clock this morning the two were arrested on complaints made by the angry neighbors whose repose was rudely interfered with. And on Sunday, too. The pair appeared before the local magistrate this afternoon. One pleaded guilty, the other was found guilty, and after paying fines, both were released.

HORSE KICKS BUGGY TO BITS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

POMONA, Nov. 8.—Robert Handelsmann, who resides at No. 810 East Second street, was perhaps fatally injured this afternoon when his driving horse ran away with him and finished a spectacular dash through Second street by kicking him nearly to death before bystanders could disentangle him from the debris.

The horse kicked the light buggy all to pieces. Handelsmann was caught by the heavy [illegible]ngle-strap and thrown between the horse and the single-tree when the horse started to run. He suffered a deep scalp wound over the top of the head from ear to ear, and his face and breast were kicked black and blue. He is in the Pomona [illegible].

BOY MAY DIE AT PASADENA.

Brave Lad Drives Away Tears at the Hospital.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, Nov. 9.—Arthur Allen, 7-year-old son of Mrs. Frances Chapman, who lives at No. 154 South Euclid avenue, and is in the Pasadena Hospital suffering from a wrenched spine, which it is feared will prove fatal, as a result of being run over by an automobile driven by H. A. Nicholson of No. 417 Bonnie brae street, San Francisco, who is visiting in Los Angeles at the Stillwell hotel.

Oblivious to everything else except that he was going on an errand for his mother, and whistling his little heart's happiness, the child darted from behind an automobile and stepped directly in front of the Los Angeles man's machine, at El Dorado park and South Las Robles avenue. Mr. Nicholson stopped his car at once and gathering the little fellow quickly in his arms he rushed him to the Emergency Hospital for treatment. Later he was carried to the Pasadena Hospital.

Although suffering so much pain that he could not give his mother's name for an hour, little Arthur was brave and struggled manfully to keep back the tears. He was not unconscious.

The front wheel of the car passed over his body, badly wrenching his back, injuring his hip and inflicting other internal injuries. Until an X-ray examination was made it was feared his back was broken.

According to witnesses, Nicholson was in no way to blame, as the child darted in front of his machine and so close that it was impossible to stop his car before the accident. Mrs. Nicholson came here only a few days ago to live. She was almost prostrated when taken to the bedside of the little boy.

MYSTERIOUS FIRE.

The third mysterious fire in the last few months was discovered early last night in the Cyclone Dye Works, No. 1 Fair Oaks street. The first of these fires was when the Troy Laundry was partly destroyed at a loss of $40,000. The other was several months ago when the Union Feed & Fuel Company was burned to the ground with several thousand tons of hay.

As in the last fire was discovered by employees of the works, G. L. Nelson, with his family in Los Angeles, returning to Pasadena after the blaze had been extinguished. He told the police that $50 in money valued at $50 and silverware worth $30 had been stolen from his home.

Chief Nelson is certain that the fires were set on fire to cover up thefts, as he declared he never left gasoline or any other inflammable about. A night watchman in the building next door saw a light in the same place at 8 o'clock.

CITY BRIEFS.

Although the names of the backers of the club have not been disclosed, it was reported here yesterday that a new club would soon be organized in the Crown City, the object of which will be to bring about closer relations between the employer and the resident, not as a business project, but purely social. Clubrooms in the business districts are already under consideration, for the contemplated large quarters.

Forty-two Pasadena school teachers left yesterday morning on the Santa Fe special, where they will remain a week attending the teachers' institute.

TO PURCHASE SALT CLAIM.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

EL CENTRO, Nov. 8.—A report that the Imperial Irrigation District had come to an understanding with the New Liverpool Salt Company, relative to the purchase of its claim against the insolvent California Development Company was verified at the district headquarters this afternoon.

According to one member of the board of directors, Lieut.-Gov. Eshelman, associate attorney of the board, has obtained a thirty-day option to buy the claim, which now has a face value with accrued interest of $700,000, for $600,000, payable in bonds of the district at par.

With the Southern Pacific claims contracted for at $2,152,000 in bonds, the only prior claim outstanding is that of the minority bondholders amounting to $450,000, which must be met in cash. With the indorsement of the district bonds by the State Bond Commission, it is believed provision for meeting this item may be made and the system transferred to the district shortly.

BEACH BEAUTIES PLAN CAMPAIGN.

SUBMARINE ATTACK LAUNCHED AGAINST LOS ANGELES.

Auto Parade in Streets Today to Boost Harbor of Long Beach. Officers Inspect Public Buildings for Safety's Sake—Fleet of Divers to Remain Until April.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONG BEACH, Nov. 8.—An attack will be made upon Los Angeles by Long Beach tomorrow. A submarine manned by beach beauties, thirty feet long, will be used as the principal battery in this attack, with scores of members of the Long Beach Ad Club as privates in the boost army. The Los Angeles Ad Club has promised to help "put Long Beach on the map" and assist with the parade, which will attempt to show Los Angeles how good this city feels over the getting of three submarine contracts.

When the submarine float, with real guns, is escorted to Los Angeles by the automobiles, the parade will move through the business center and stop at The Times office. The line of march will end at Hotel Clark, where Mayor Lisenby and Rev. George P. Taubman will speak for this city before the gathered Ad Club members. "What we see through our periscope —Long Beach 100,000 and a submarine base in 1920" is the title of the speech by the Mayor.

Public Safety Commissioner Williams, aided by Fire Chief Shrewsbury, Police Chief Cole and Health Officer Dr. Taylor, today made a round of inspection of all school buildings, halls, theaters, churches and public buildings to find out whether the laws for the safeguarding of public life and limb were being obeyed.

The visit of the safety commissioner was brought about because of the report that doors to the High School assembly were locked while the students were at study inside, a condition which might lead to a disaster. Mr. Williams notified all the proprietors of theaters, halls, etc., regarding the provisions of the safety laws, and warned them not to violate these laws.

SUBMARINE HOME.

Orders were received here by the commanders of the submarine fleet and monitor Cheyenne to make the Long Beach harbor headquarters until April, 1916. These orders are believed to presage a policy by the naval authorities to make this harbor a base for all the submarines now floating in Southern California, besides those which are building. The boats will go to San Diego on Sunday for a stay of four days, when they will return.

JUMPS ON PILES, NOT INTO WATER.

CONVERT OF AL JENNINGS TRIES TO COMMIT SUICIDE AT OCEAN PARK.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

OCEAN PARK, Nov. 8.—Jane Dawley, who informed the local police that she was known as the "Oklahoma Kid," and was a convert of Al Jennings, the reformed bandit, now an evangelist, made a mistake tonight when she attempted to commit suicide.

She failed because she jumped off the wrong side of the Ocean Park pier, landing on piling and crossbeams of the racing coaster. She bumped about on the beams and landed in a few feet of water.

Policemen who saw the woman as she jumped were quick to get beneath the pier and soon had her on the way to the police station. The woman said she had had a quarrel with her husband in Los Angeles and determined to end her life. She was bruised about the body and received a few lacerations, but was not seriously hurt.

CHARGE OF ASSAULT.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA ANA, Nov. 8.—Charged with assault with a deadly weapon against Ernest Rentz, an employee of the Holly sugar factory, Eugene Davis, constable of Huntington Beach, is on trial today in the Superior Court. When Rentz took the stand this morning he stated that at 5 o'clock in the morning nearly a year ago, when he asked Constable Davis for a paper, the officer told him to go away. Rentz testified that he went to the pier, and, finding the lights still burning, tried to put them out. He said that Constable Davis then came up and began using abusive language to Rentz. Then, according to Rentz, the constable went away, returning with a revolver and another officer. Rentz testified that when he told the second officer that he "would go with him, but not Davis," the latter began to beat him with the revolver, causing wounds that penetrated to the bone.

Teachers Have Lots of Fun at San Diego.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 8.—School teachers thronged the exposition today, flocked to Tia Juana until the sightseeing cars were all sold out, and crowded the lobby of the Grant Hotel, the headquarters, and of other hotels. More than 6000 teachers from Southern California are here now for the Teacher's Institute of Southern California and the twenty-third anual session of the California Teachers Association.

From Los Angeles city and county alone more than 4600 came. Although the teachers are required to attend a session of the association each day of this week the duty has been made easy as visits to the exposition and side trips to Tia Juana, Coronado and other places are counted as sessions.

TRAINS CROWDED.

Every train that came into the city today brought throngs of the pretty teachers—for they all seemed to be pretty—gowned in the latest fashion. At the station local committees of teachers welcomed them and at the Grant as well as at the exposition local committees formed information bureaus to assist the visiting teachers.

Thousands of the visitors attended a reception this afternoon given by the San Diego teachers in the Blue Room of the Southern California Building at the exposition. Many others attended the sessions of the Los Angeles county institute held at the Spreckels theater and at the organ pavilion at the exposition.

At the Spreckels theater, O. M. Plummer, of Portland, adressed a large crowd of Los Angeles teachers on "The School Board Member as an Educational Force." He said he could sum this up in four words: "Always support your superintendent."

FRANCIS TALKS.

Supt. J. H. Francis, of Los Angeles, who presided, gave an impromptu talk. At the organ Dr. Edgar L. Hewitt talked on "Science of man.

This evening, although there were three meetings, the ballroom of the Grant Hotel where William A. Wirt, the prominent educator of Gary, spoke, was packed long before the opening hour. In the lobby of the Grant thousands of teachers gathered and held impromptu receptions. At the First Baptist Church and at the San Diego High School other speakers addressed the teachers.

Each day this week there will be receptions for the teachers in the Blue Room of the Southern California Building at the exposition. Tomorrow the Time to Time Club of Los Angeles will hold a reception in the Blue Room and the woman's board of the exposition will receive the teachers at the woman's headquarters.

CORN TASSLES TICKLE TOES.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

GLENDALE, Nov. 8.—A bed in garden of Indian corn. At No. 232 Jackson street is a wonderful garden. One of the features of the place was a rare growth of Indian corn towering ten and twelve feet in height.

The harvest was but recently gathered and here hidden from the outside world, J. C. Beldin, a well-known business man of the city and his sons have been sleeping all during the summer and fall. In spite of the heavy and welcome rain which visited the section within the last day or two the out-of-door enthusiasts still occupy in their corn concealed bedroom, planning to continue indefinitely its use.

The garden is one of the most interesting in the city and in the portion given over to ornamental plants are many rare plants that, according to Mr. Beldin, are not to be found elsewhere. The place is situated in close proximity to the intermediate school, and from it the school children are gaining enthusiasm and inspiration in their gardening in the school yard.

The lot on which the corn grew has also tomato plants that are from nine to twelve feet high and until taken over and cultivated by the Beldins was covered with unsightly weeds. It is likely that next season it will revert to its original condition, as the owners of the place, who are now residents are clamoring for rent for what was previously an eyesore in the community.

GLENDALE ICE PLANT.

GLENDALE, Nov. 8.—One of the new industries that will greet the opening of 1916 in this city will be the operation of an ice plant that is now in course of construction at a cost of $30,000. The new plant which will be but one of a number of manufacturing establishments that are to be developed here. This morning large quantities of freight and machinery for the building arrived on which the cost for freight is over $2000.

HALTS BIG SALE BY INJUNCTION.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 8.—The hurried filing of an injunction and the issuance of a restraining order halting the sale by Public Administrator H. D. Blakeslee of 3500 acres of potash land at Searles Lake as a part of the estate of Pliney H. Perkins, today, added another chapter to the drawn-out litigation involving the valuable potash claim in the desert. The sale of the property, which is claimed by C. C. Carter, was postponed a week and the claims of Carter will be heard in the Superior Court.

Carter, it is said, is an associate of Henry W. Lee of Oakland, who is the most prominent of the rival claimants of the American Trona Company and other corporations for the possession of the property. It is reported that Lee had a representative here to bid at the sale had the restraining order not been secured.

GOES TO PATTON.

August Bergman, the psychological lover, whose abrupt entry into the home of J. W. Illingsworth on Eighth street recently resulted in his arrest, was committed to the State Hospital for the Insane at Patton today by Judge H. T. Dewhirst.

Bergman maintained throughout the proceedings that he was not insane and that he went to the Illingsworth home because he had received a mental message from Miss Maude Illingsworth, the girl whom he claimed he had traveled the world over to find and claim as his soul mate, because she coincided exactly with the mental picture he conceived of her back in Sweden, his native country, a few years ago.

Physicians reported to the court that Bergman was suffering from a mental malady which made him a dangerous character to be at large.

STEALS MONEY—TRASH.

Stealing Mexican money does not constitute a crime according to the opinion of Sheriff J. L. McMinn, who today returned from investigating the report of a Victoria dairyman that he had had $250 stolen from him by a fellow-countryman. McMinn found that the "money" was Mexican currency and therefore of no value so decided that there was no way to proceed against the alleged robber, who had disappeared.

PAIR OF VAGABONDS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CALEXICO, Nov. 8.—A remarkable pair of vagabonds were picked up by the police here this afternoon in William Santand, a 12-year-old Finnish lad, whose parents live in Douglas, Alaska, and Joe Moles, who in 1902, was sentenced in Ventura county to sixty years imprisonment for murder. The murderer was paroled in 1903, but broke the conditions. The lad is a ward of the San Diego Juvenile Court. The two struck up an acquaintanceship in San Pasqual, San Diego county, three months ago; went to Tia Juana, made the strenuous overland journey across Lower California to Mexicali, and were arrested as they came across the line. The lad declared the convict told him to be honest always.

Firemen's Funds Cut Short by City Trustees.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

ALHAMBRA, Nov. 8.—The G. P. Sullivan "orphans' home" may have to move again if complaints continue to pile up against it. Neighbors in the select part of Alhambra, where the "home" is situated, have complained to the city authorities that the orphans make life miserable for them by their antics and noise.

G. P. Sullivan, who is the father of the "home," moved here recently with his large family from Ramona Park, where residents were up in arms against the orphans, and it is said that the rent of the home was raised so high that Mr. Sullivan was compelled to leave the park. The Gail Borden residence on East Second street was rented by Mr. Sullivan and he and his orphans are installed in it.

The home is composed of twelve boys, all legally adopted by Mr. Sullivan and wife. The age of the orphans ranges from 3 to 15 years. The Sullivan home has been in existence twelve years and in that time hundreds of youngsters have been adopted by the founder.

According to Mr. Sullivan, the object of the home is a purely charitable one and he never expects to receive one cent of money for his work. The cost of maintaining the big home is considerable, and thus far Mr. Sullivan has footed the expense and expects to continue doing so until his adopted children have been educated and are able to go out into the world and battle for themselves.

The twelve children have been picked up from all over the State, and by being adopted by Mr. Sullivan were saved from the State institutions.

Persons residing in the vicinity of the Sullivan home say the orphans are a nuisance in the neighborhood. They say the head of the home does not use the right kind of discipline, and unless a soft petal is put on the noise and doings of the orphans the home must move.

FIREMEN'S PAY.

The City Trustees tomorrow evening will probably settle the fire question for all time. The salary for the volunteer firemen has been on the seesaw for several months and when the Trustees decided to allow the firemen only 50 cents for drill the volunteers refused to go out and they have not drilled for several months. At present the volunteers receive $2 for every fire they are called to, and $1 for every false alarm. Some months the volunteers average a neat sum, while others net them only a few dollars.

The City Trustees propose to give the firemen $6 each month whether they attend one fire or twenty. This new schedule will meet with favor by the volunteers, although they are wondering if drills are to be included and if so they will refuse to go out. The Trustees also propose to cut down the number of volunteers for each of the four departments from nine to five men.

MAIN-STREET HOBOS.

In the future the "Main-street" hobo will receive more than his share of trouble in Alhambra. The Main-street hobo, according to Marshal Parker, causes more trouble than any other species of the tramp. He comes from the cheap saloons along Main street in Los Angeles, begs money from the residents and hikes back to the city for another spree.

The Marshal has warned all residents to report any hobo asking for money, and sixty days will be the minimum when he is apprehended.

SOCIETY GIRL MARRIES.

William W. Allen, one of Alhambra's most promising young men, and Miss Elsie Warren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Warren and a society favorite in the city, were married in the First Christian Church at Pasadena this morning.

The wedding party left Alhambra in autos, and after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Allen left for the north on their honeymoon. Mr. Allen has business interests in Gualala, Cal., and the couple will reside there in the future.

INJURED ON CAR.

Mrs. G. W. Gautier of No. 325 North Fourth street was seriously injured today while alighting from a street car in Los Angeles. As Mrs. Gautier stepped from the car to the street her ankle turned and she was thrown to the pavement. The injured woman was sent to a hospital, where it was found that besides severe bruises she had sustained internal injuries

HUNDRED CAME; THREE REMAIN.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SOLDIERS' HOME, Nov. 8.—Edward Kilday, one of the number of early-day members known as the "Yountville 100," passed away on Friday.

When this branch was instituted in 1889 veterans were comparatively young, and applications for admission were too slow to fill up the four large barracks in readiness at that time, so an invitation to the California State Veterans' Home for 100 of its members resulted in the transfer of that number to this home. With the death of Kilday, but three others survive.

Kilday, who served in Co. C, Second Massachusetts Infantry, was a native of Massachusetts, and aged 78.

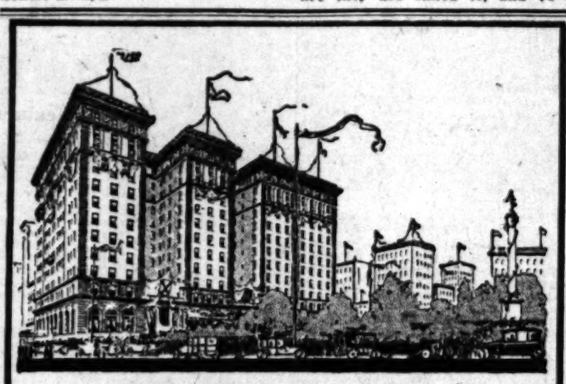
Alson I. Haskins, formerly of Co. B, Fourth Wisconsin Cavalry, a native of New York, admitted from Santa Cruz, Cal., in 1901, died November 4, aged 72.

Edward McElroy, formerly of Co. F, Fifty-first Iowa Infantry (Spanish-American War,) a native of Iowa, admitted from Los Angeles in 1915, died November 4, aged 33.

George Freckman, formerly of Co. G, Sixth United States Calvary (Spanish-American War,) a native of Germany, admitted from Phoenix, Ariz., in 1908, died November 4, aged 50.

Curtis W. Wilbur, formerly of Co. D, Eighteenth Massachusetts Infantry, a native of Massachusetts, admitted from Venice, Cal., in 1915, died November 4, aged 76.

George M. Littlefield, formerly of Co. D, Fifth Maine Infantry, a native of Maine, admitted from Fossil, Wyo., in 1915, died November 7, aged 78.



WITH ITS WONDERFUL DECORations by Albert Herter in the cafe, symbolizing the gifts of the Old World to America; the Lounge, inspired by the Chateau Brissac, in which society assembles daily for afternoon tea; the stately, spacious Rose Room, where dancing is enjoyed every evening; the Italian Room, walled and ceiled with beautifully carved hazel wood and famed for its portal of gleaming twisted pillars surmounted by a golden image; the Colonial Room, in which the fashionable world produces original plays in a completely equipped theatre—with countless original artistic details (such as Arthur Putnam's puma motive) in its many public rooms—with such unique and exclusive service as the Turkish and Roman baths for ladies (12th floor) and for gentlemen (12th floor), supplied with salt water pumped directly from the ocean; the Electric Grill, where table d'hote meals are served at moderate prices—the Hotel St. Francis is one of the most interesting show places in San Francisco, and a place at which interesting people invariably gather.

THE HOTEL ST. FRANCIS, the largest hotel in Western America (over one thousand rooms), faces an entire side of Union Square, "the center of the city's life and color," where the activity of all famous carnivals like the Portola, Native Sons' fiesta, and New Year celebrations are focused, and where military displays on such occasions as the visits to the St. Francis of President Roosevelt, President Taft, Prince Fushimi of Japan, Prince Tsai Hsun of China, Admiral Evans in command of the battleship fleet, and other dignitaries, have provided historic spectacles.

NOTE—While the Hotel St. Francis will never lower its rates beneath the point at which it is possible to provide a service at least equal to that of the best metropolitan hotels in the world, it respectfully invites comparison between its charges and the tariff established by any other hotel of the first rank.

DULLNESS IS ABOUT THE ONLY FEATURE NOTICEABLE.

A Few Gains Marked up at the Start are Wiped Out and Losses Rule at the Closing—Professional Element has the Trading All to Themselves.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Until the closing hour the most conspicuous feature of today's stock market was its relative dullness; trading was altogether professional, with a moderate upward trend after the irregular opening. In the last sixty minutes the list developed sudden weakness, which not only completely obliterated previous early gains, but scored some severe net losses. Chief among these were Canadian Pacific, in the railroad group, and United States Steel among the leading industrials. Canadian fell from its top price of 137¾ to 181¾, closing at 182¾. United States Steel, which early in the day showed a gain of almost a point at 86⅞, fell to 84, and closed a mere fraction higher. The Harrimans, Atchison, Great Northern, New York Central and Erie substituted gains of a point or more by losses of as much. Baldwin Locomotive and Crucible Steel were materially lower, as were Westinghouse and other shares of the same class. Total sales amounted to 825,000 shares. General news of the day embraced reports from Chicago and other important railroad centers, showing an increase of tonnage. Canadian products especially taxing carrying capacity. Bonds were steady during the greater part of the session, but weakened with stocks. Total shares par value, amounted to $5,735,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

LOS ANGELES STOCK EXCHANGE.

Oil Issues Dominate Trading—Home Phone Common Off—Stronger Demand for Investment.

Oil and industrial stocks divided attention on the local board yesterday. Union was a heavy trader at 64.00, and Associated moved up to 53.00. Ten shares of Union Provident brought the stronger figure of 63.00, and among the cheaper securities United States and Maricopa Northern sold in small amounts at better quotations. An unusually heavy demand for Los Angeles Investment featured both sessions, over 2000 shares being transferred at 41½. Home Telephone common was the victim of a selling campaign, and before the close almost 200 shares had been unloaded at 20.00 a share. The first sale in the bank list for some time was recorded when three shares of First National changed hands at the strong price of 600.00. Mining issues were more or less neglected, and only a few shares of Gold Range, Ivanhoe and Lucky Boy were traded in during the day.

A number of individual members of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange gave a dinner to H. L. Carnahan, Commissioner of Corporations, at the Athletic Club last evening.

HEAVY WEIGHT LOWERS WHEAT.

About the Only Influence that Tends to Lift Prices from Their Rut is a Fairly Good Export Demand—The Closing is a Good Cent to Corn Loses a Fraction.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Nearly 7,000,000 bushels increase in the United States visible supply total acted as a weight today on the price of wheat. Largely under the pressure of the market, which was unsettled at the close, showed a net decline of ⅛ to 1¼, with December at 1.04⅛@⅛, and May at 1.04¼. Corn showed 0@⅛, and oats ¼@⅜ to ⅜. Provisions the outcome was an advance of 5 to 25. About the only important influence that tended to lift the wheat market was a notice of good European demand at Omaha for export by way of the Gulf of Mexico. Corn weakened owing to bearish news of the government crop report. A sag in the oats market came chiefly from sympathy with corn. Eastern demand was only fair.

WHEN THE FLAG PASSES.

New York Police Ordered to Stand at Attention, and when not in Uniform Must Raise Hat.

[Cincinnati Times-Star:] The question of encouraging the outward forms of respect for the national flag and the national anthem is just now frequently discussed. There is a general desire on the part of good Americans to tighten up our somewhat slovenly and careless habits in these matters.

An evidence of this is seen in orders just issued to the New York police. Hereafter officers must stand at attention and salute the flag when it passes in the custody of the United States army or of the National Guard. Officers will also observe the same form when the national anthem is played. A policeman not in uniform must raise his hat.

These ordered and official marks of respect to the flag are most appropriate. They create an example which the private citizen should find it not only easy, but desirable to follow. We do not go in much for formalities in this country. But if the police in all American cities would follow the lead of the police of New York, the time might come when we could say of saluting the flag that "everybody's doing it."

FELONY CHARGE IN CIVIL SUIT.

TORN DEED BASIS OF STRANGE ALLEGATIONS OF FRAUD.

Document Fished from Wastebasket, Pieced Together and Used to Secure Another's Property, is Testimony—Court Record to go to the District Attorney.

A story of alleged fraud, involving a felony charge, was threshed out yesterday before Judge Jackson, who ordered findings and a copy of the transcript sent to the District Attorney. The story deals with the suit to quiet title filed by Gen. H. A. Pierce against Anna Kuttner, and won by the former.

Gen. Pierce owned twelve lots at Huntington Beach, and it is these lots, a torn deed, conveyance and reconveyance which make up the elements of the story.

Gen. Pierce testified he had been asked by Ben Getzoff to name a price on the lots. Mr. Getzoff had been associatd with him in several deals. The lots, Gen. Pierce was informed, were intended as a birthday gift to David Getzoff, the 9-year-old son of Ben Getzoff. A price of $800 was named.

Gen. Pierce said he took the deed to Mr. Getzoff's office, only to be informed that the latter could not raise the money, and asked to be let off. Gen. Pierce testified he tore the deed in half and tossed the pieces in the wastepaper basket.

Subsequently Gen. Pierce went on a world tour. Upon his return he went to pay his taxes on the Huntington Beach lots and was amazed to discover they had been conveyed from David Getzoff, the son, to his father, and by the latter and his wife to Pauline Dornberger, wife of Fred Dornberger, and by the latter to Mrs. Kuttner.

Suit was brought against Mrs. Kuttner, who was shown to have been an innocent party. But it was discovered, the evidence appears, that the deed had been fished out of the wastepaper basket, pasted together and recorded. The evidence also showed that Mr. Dornberger had subscribed as a witness when the deed from David Getzoff to his father had been executed before Minnie B. Lamson, a notary public.

The evidence also showed that the lots were sold to Mrs. Kuttner for $800, the consideration being $400 which Mr. Dornberger had borrowed from her and $400 cash. It also developed that Mr. Dornberger had earned $800 commission from Mr. Getzoff in a sale of property. Finding no other way to get his money, he decided to take the Huntington Beach lots when Mr. Getzoff, as alleged, offered them to him.

With these facts before him, Judge Jackson read to Mr. Dornberger, when he was called to the stand, section 1324 of the Penal Code and informed him that he could decline to answer questions put to him covering these alleged fraudulent transactions.

"No," replied Mr. Dornberger. "I want to repeat the whole truth."

Later he asked the court to exonerate him as Mrs. Kuttner had been exonerated. The court told him the only way he could exonerate himself was by showing he was not a party to a fraud, by prosecuting Mr. Getzoff for a felony.

FAT ALIMONY.
HALF OF SUM ASKED.

The offer of Ezra T. Stimson to pay his wife, Annie C. Stimson, $1500 a month pending the termination of Mrs. Stimson's divorce suit, was made the basis of a court order yesterday. Mrs. Stimson asked for $3000 a month, and produced a note book in which she had jotted down her household expenses as a basis for this demand.

The expenses averaged $939 a month for this year, but last year they ran to a total of $40,000. The care of three automobiles and other expenses were not included.

Yesterday Mr. Stimson was in court and testified as to his various holdings. At previous hearings his attorneys stated that he was out of town. He made a clear witness. On the order of the court, a statement of the holdings and the probable income had been prepared by Attorneys Lawler, Allen & Weyl. The value of the securities in a safe deposit box at the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank is $946,000. Property, which was not included in this list, has a value of $425,000. The securities in the safe deposit box will remain there until the divorce suit is disposed of.

Mr. Stimson stated the Stimson Mill Company and the Inner Harbor Company, with both of which he is connected, are in process of liquidation. No more timber will be bought after the present supply is used up. He stated that it cost approximately $40,000 to run the Stimson home in 1914. His estimated income for this year is about $25,000.

Mrs. Stimson, he said, owned the home, four and one-half acres at Beverly and stock in a Mexican oil company.

Judge Monroe will not try the divorce suit, as he retires from the divorce bench to another department January 1. Judge Wood will preside in the divorce court. The trial of the suit promises to be sensational. Mrs. Stimson names as the alleged disturbing element in their domestic happiness Miss Virginia Gay, an attractive young woman. The alleged peregrinations of Mr. Stimson and Miss Gay will probably be related by Mrs. Stimson, as an eyewitness of their meetings.

If Mrs. Stimson obtains a decree, she will receive more than one-half the property, if it is community; if it is found to be Mr. Stimson's separate property, she will receive a lump sum sufficient to support her in the style to which she has been accustomed.

Mrs. Stimson said of her husband yesterday that he was very kind, having always placed money to her credit in the bank. The court instructed Mr. Stimson to pay taxes on the Stimson place and on other property belonging to his wife.

DOUBLE ALIMONY.
ATTORNEYS TO PAY IT.

A divorce action and a civil suit mark the declining years of Charles F. Gilbert. In the latter suit he seeks to recover property valued at $200,000 and deeded to his wife, and in the former suit he alleges a trip of Mrs. Gilbert to Seattle that continued three weeks.

Mrs. Gilbert appeared in the alimony court yesterday on an order to show cause why she should not be enjoined from disposing of any property, pending the divorce suit. An injunction was issued and a double alimony order made. Attorneys Cattern & Cattern and D. A. Jacobs, counsel for Mr. Gilbert, and Attorney Charles Scholtz, representing Mrs. Gilbert, were instructed by the court to handle the income and to pay Mr. Gilbert $200 a month and Mrs. Gilbert $100 a month until the divorce action is disposed of. Because of paralysis Mr. Gilbert was not in court.

Mrs. Gilbert having admitted she went to Vernon with Miss Mabel M. Koonts, one of her maids, because Miss Koonts wanted "color" for a scenario her brother was writing, Judge Monroe told Mrs. Gilbert that if she again went to Vernon in her automobile, the car would be taken from her and stored.

Mrs. Gilbert was formerly Mrs. Lillian M. A. Mason. She occupied one of Mr. Gilbert's apartment-houses in Seattle, and she said she became acquainted with him when she took delicacies to him to eat while he was ill.

They married in San Francisco, she says, in 1907. In 1909 in Los Angeles, Mrs. Gilbert says, her husband told her that the marriage was not legal, as he had not obtained a license. At that time he was a paralytic, and she engaged a Methodist minister and asked at the County Clerk's office for a license. The deputy refused to issue the license until he had seen and talked to the prospective groom. He called at the home, No. 1107 West Forty-first place, and the conference being satisfactory, he issued the license and the Gilberts were rewed.

Mr. Gilbert now says the wedding was without his consent. He is 71; Mrs. Gilbert 46. He complains that his wife obtained all his property by threats and misrepresentations; that she is extravagant and has not provided for him.

AFTER AN ANSWER
IN STORM DRAIN TROUBLE.

Chairman Handley of the Board of Public Works must appear before Judge Taft Monday morning to answer a question, one of many propounded by Attorney Ingle Carpenter in the Madison-Virgil storm drain controversy, and all of which Mr. Handley declined to answer on the advice of the City Attorney. Mr. Carpenter wanted an answer to all the questions, but particularly as to the methods used by the Board of Public Works in assessing property for the storm drain improvement. Judge York confined the order to show cause to just one question, framing it "the process" used by the board and not the "method."

The questions were asked when Attorney Carpenter sought to take the depositions of the members of the board in the suit of Sylvia Grossman against the city of Los Angeles. Mrs. Grossman owns twenty acres west of Vermont avenue and below Griffith Park, and she is one of a number of property owners who object to the assessment on the grounds that the land is not properly assessable; that the assessment is illegal and that the land is not benefitted by the storm drain.

NO ALIMONY
THOUGH SHE IS MONEYLESS.

On the ground she had deserted her husband, Judge Monroe yesterday refused to grant Mrs. Willie M. Smith temporary alimony, although her visible cash assets amount to only $1.10. The case came before the court on the divorce suit filed by Dr. Harvey Smith. The alleged desertion, he charges, appears to have been the result of his decision to move from South Pasadena to Los Angeles in order to be closer to his practice in the Story Building.

Mrs. Smith testified yesterday that she objected to giving up her home, though she denied she had refused to cope with her husband to this city.

Dr. Smith said the dispute led to his wife going on a trip to her people in Illinois. She left this city September 3, returning three weeks later. He said she telephoned him September 28 that she did not intend to return to him and he said she has continued to live apart ever since.

HUSBAND GONE
AFTER SUICIDE FAKE.

G. E. Moyer should have been in the alimony court yesterday, but he wasn't. S. W. Odell, counsel for Mrs. Mayme Moyer, who filed suit for divorce, said he could not find him, and John Munro, attorney for Mr. Moyer, said he did not know where he was.

"Has he paid you attorney's fees?" Judge Monroe asked Mr. Munro.

"Well, it is up to you to find him," retorted the court. "I will issue a bench warrant and mark the case off calendar."

Mr. Moyer had been ordered to pay his wife $30 a month, pending the trial of the divorce suit. Mrs. Moyer says he drew his wages on the first of this month, and disappeared. She also stated that when things did not go right, he did a fake suicide act.

"At the beach," she said, "he took sugar tablets, thinking I would believe they were poison, but I dosed him with mustard. He came around all right."

UNUSUAL DEFENSE
BY ALLEGED HIGHWAYMAN.

Frank Holquin, a full-blooded Navajo Indian, jointly charged with Andreo Rubio in the hold-up of Victor Imaizumi, the night of August 5, developed a rather novel defense before Judge Craig yesterday. While being questioned by Deputy District Attorney Shannon, he asserted that he had merely met Rubio and was not implicated in the crime in any way. He stated he had left his home at the behest of his wife, to get a nipple for a nursing bottle, and when he stepped into the alley of Commercial street, near San Pedro, he saw lying on the ground a revolver and pistol, which he picked up, and just a moment afterwards handed to Officer Whaples, who captured the two men as they were leaving the alley. The case was continued until today.

DENIES CHARGES.
MAKES ACCUSATIONS.

John Wesley Anderson, a real estate broker, has filed through Attorney R. W. Richardson an answer to the divorce suit recently brought by Melissa Ann Anderson, and a cross-complaint. He makes a general denial of his wife's charges, and in turn alleges a man recently divorced here is infatuated with her.

Mrs. Anderson filed suit some time ago through Attorney Leo Youngworth, making charges involving the name of Mrs. Helen Tarryberry, who has also filed an answer in Mrs. Anderson's suit, setting up a general denial of the allegations.

COURT PARAGRAPHS.
PROCEEDINGS IN BRIEF.

MUST PAY ALIMONY. "If you can hire detectives, you can pay your wife alimony," Judge Monroe informed F. Bauer, a chef at a local cafe. "How much did you pay to the detectives?" He replied $168, which seemed to be all the money he had. There appeared to be another man in the case, according to Mr. Bauer, but the court ordered him to pay his wife $5 a week for the support of their daughter, 8 years old, while she is with her mother.

INCORPORATIONS. Peralta Hills Water Company, incorporators E. N. Grant, George A. Hart and E. C. Denio, capital stock $600, subscribed $300.

ARSON TRIAL.—Salvadore Turco, whose business partner, Joe Barbera, was found guilty of having started the incendiary blaze which wiped out the little clothing store at No. 2161 East Ninth street, on August 10, appeared before Judge Houser yesterday on the same charge. He claimed that he was out of the city at the time of the fire and in no way connected with it. Turco was arrested in San Diego by Detective Bean, two days after the fire. Deputy District Attorney Keetch is handling the prosecution and expects to bring the trial to a close today.

NAMES OF LEAGUE MEMBERS SECRET.

SO ATTORNEY ACTING IN ITS BEHALF IS IGNORED BY SUPERVISORS.

Just who constitute the Law Enforcement League will remain a mystery, according to Attorney Dean, who yesterday afternoon refused to divulge names of members. Chairman Pridham of the Board of Supervisors asked that this be done before the board issue subpoenas for persons that Attorney Dean wants present this afternoon in the hearing of charges brought against Capt. Hunter, chief detective for the District Attorney's office.

"Such names are unnecessary and would entirely destroy the functions of the league," said Attorney Dean.

"I believe these charges of sufficient importance to demand such action and am doing this in my own name if the standing of the league is brought into question," he argued.

"Under such conditions, I think we should refuse to issue the subpoenas," said Mr. Pridham, which opinion was the unanimous one of the board.

The league, through Attorney Dean, has brought against Capt. Hunter charges of delinquency in duty, particularly in enforcing liquor ordinances in the county. The latter stated yesterday evening that he had not even been notified of the hearing up to that time and that he was not worrying over the outcome.

READS "THE MOB."

John Galsworthy's famous political drama, "The Mob," was read yesterday afternoon at Cumnock Hall by Miss Katherine Jewell Everts, one of the most popular public readers in the country, who has many friends in this city. The Misses Helen A. Brooks and Martha Weaver gave a dinner in honor of Miss Everts Friday evening in "The House in the Garden," Cumnock School.

OFFER TO BUY POWER BONDS.

NEW YORK BANKERS WANT MORE SECURITIES.

Councilman Conwell Suggests Calling for Competitive Bids with View to Disposing of Certificates at a Premium Over Fixed Minimum of Par and Interest.

The Council Finance Committee was notified yesterday that the Chase National Bank of New York is ready to buy another series of 1914 power bonds, amounting to about $1,500,000. In addition to this offer, another bond dealer conferred with acting Mayor Betkouski relative to a possible purchase of a block of the bonds. These tentative offers will likely be considered by the Finance Committee today.

In the meantime, Councilman Conwell said yesterday that he will urge the Council to hold the remainder of the power bond issue for competitive bids with a view to selling them at a premium over the par and interest minimum price at which they must be held.

"The interest in the Los Angeles power bond issue is remarkable at the present time and the demand for these securities is such that I believe the city is warranted in at least attempting to get some compensative bidding for the remainder of the issue," said Councilman Conwell yesterday. "It is true that with the money market in its present condition we cannot expect any big premium, but it seems to me that conditions justify an attempt such as resulted two years ago in the city's receiving about $3000 premium on one lot of bonds."

NO MONOPOLY.
ORDINANCE HELD UP.

The old fight in the Council for an ordinance to put hotel runners out of business developed several new angles before the Public Welfare Committee yesterday, when representatives of the railroads, the big hotels, the small hotels and the taxicab drivers presented their grievances. The result was that the ordinance previously drawn by the City Attorney, will be held by the committee for another week's consideration. The ordinance proposes to prohibit soliciting for the transfer of baggage or passengers on trains within the city limits or within a specified distance from a passenger station, but it proposed to except such concerns as may procure permission from the railroads. Representatives of the smaller hotels and taxicab drivers insisted that this would give a monopoly on the business to one transfer company and one taxicab company and that the taxicab company would favor certain hotels. The Public Welfare Committee will endeavor to redraft the ordinance so that it will do away with the practice of "kidnaping" inoffensive travelers at the station entrance and still prevent a monopoly for any transfer, taxicab or hotel company.

CASH IS LOW.
TAX PAYMENTS NEEDED.

The Finance Committee yesterday recommended that the petition of the Los Angeles Realty Board asking that the date of delinquency for tax payments be postponed until January be filed. "The condition of the city's finances do not warrant granting the petition at the present time," the committee report says.

An appropriation of $400 for municipal Christmas trees at the various playgrounds is recommended by the Finance Committee. This will allow about $40 for each tree.

City Hall Notes.

Chairman Roberts of the Public Utilities Committee said yesterday that he will introduce a resolution in the Council to begin action before the State Railroad Commission seeking establishment of a 5-cent fare for the Bairdstown district. This action will be taken in response to a petition filed with the Council several weeks ago by the Northeast Los Angeles Improvement Association.

Protests against the opening of Enterprise street from Mateo street to Santa Fe avenue were granted by the Council yesterday and the City Attorney was instructed to prepare an ordinance abandoning proceedings. Residents of the neighborhood who appeared before the Council said that their signatures to the petition for opening the street were forged and others stated that the purpose of the petition had been misrepresented to them.

Councilman Langdon's report on the methods of various "suit clubs" and lottery schemes for selling merchandise was filed with the Council yesterday and the City Prosecutor and City Attorney were asked to see that the business is discontinued immediately.

OVER BOLT OF CLOTH.

Neither defendant or plaintiff appeared at all anxious to possess a huge bolt of blue uniform cloth that was the main exhibit in the case of Alexander Brick & Co., against William Wrege, a tailor. The matter came up in Justice Hinshaw's court yesterday afternoon, the wholesale cloth dealers trying to collect for the goods, which they claim Wrege had accepted, while the latter insisted that the company had not sent him the material he had ordered and that after he had sent it back they substituted the cloth in court for what he had refused. Justice Hinshaw took the case under consideration for decision.

NEW SALARY SCHEDULE.

County Counsel Hill, who has been preparing a county employees' salary ordinance, will be ready to submit it in a few days to the Board of Supervisors, according to an announcement made yesterday afternoon by the County Efficiency Bureau. The new schedule is expected to place all employees on a more equitable basis.

Jury is Complete

lenge, and Frank Hash, Alhambra.

Juror E. W. Lawrence, who was sworn in last week, asked to be excused because of the condition of his business affairs, but the defense objected to this and the court refused to excuse him.

After the court had entered upon the record his ruling for requiring an alternate juror to be selected, the examination for the thirteenth man proceeded.

FOR THIRTEENTH JUROR.

The talesmen examined and excused in the attempt to secure the thirteenth man were: A. L. Cooper, Monrovia; C. McLemore, No. 3034 Dalton avenue; F. H. Hunter, Duarte; J. Clayton, Whittier; C. L. Compton, Dimas, and W. F. Brooks, No. 1 Metcalf street.

Immediately after the thirteenth juror is secured, which probably will be this forenoon, Counsel Neff will begin the presentation of the defense's statement of the case. It is estimated that this will require probably a week and a half. It will be a complete recital of the State's theory of the case, and because of the alleged diabolic conspiracy it will doubtless go into many of the ramifications. It is probable that the taking of testimony will begin Thursday morning.

WILL HELP GAUGE RAIN.

The Federal government will cooperate with County Flood Control Engineer Reagan in the measurement of rainfall throughout the county, according to announcement made by F. H. Fowler of the Federal Weather Bureau to the Board of Supervisors. There had been some previous question as to the possibility of securing prompt co-operation. Two or three stations for rain gauging have already been established on the east side of the mountains of the county.

The Supervisors insisted that the north side of the range should be carefully observed, in order that the flow of water in the Little and Big Bear creeks, the Castaic, Santa Clara and several other streams in the western part of the county can be accurately estimated.

TURKS ARE SCARCE
[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAWTELLE, Nov. 8.—The scarcity of Turkish laborers in the vicinity of Jerusalem, according to F. Brown, who just returned from that country. Mr. Brown was employed by the Standard Oil Company in the development of new oil properties in that country, sixty miles from Jerusalem. He said that the entrance of Turkey in the great war created a completion in the supply of laborers and were practically all Turks. He has just returned from New York.

Best Treatment for Catarrh S.S.S. Removes the Cause

Specialists in Catarrh troubles have agreed that it is an infection of the blood. The laboratories of the S. S. S. Co., at Atlanta, have proven it. Once you get your blood free from impurities—cleansed of the Catarrhal poisons, which it is now a prey to because of its unhealthy state—then you will be relieved of Catarrh—the dripping in the throat, hawking and spitting, raw sores in the nostrils, and the disagreeable bad breath. It was cause, in the first place, because your impoverished blood was easily infected. Possibly a slight cold or contact with someone who had a cold. But the point is—don't suffer with Catarrh—it is not necessary. The remedy S. S. S., discovered over fifty years ago, tested, true and tried, is always obtainable at any drug store. It has proven its value in thousands of cases. It will do so in your case. Get S. S. S. at once and begin treatment. If yours is a long standing case, be sure to write the S. S. S. Co., Atlanta, Ga., for free expert medical advice. They will tell you how this purely vegetable blood tonic cleanses the impurities from the blood by literally washing it clean. They will prove to you that thousands of sufferers from Catarrh, after consistent treatment with S. S. S., have been freed from the trouble and all its disagreeable features and restored to perfect health and vigor. Don't delay the treatment. Take S. S. S. at once.
